COAL NEGOTIATIONS IN "DELICATE SHAPE"

Housing Plan Snagged; RFC Refuses Loan

Wyatt's Effort To Launch Assembly-Line Industry Receives Setback

EXPEDITER THREATENS TO SERVE DIRECTIVE

Court Battle Looms Over Disposal Of U. S.-Owned Plant In Chicago

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt went to the mat with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation tonight in a struggle over the granting of $54,000,000 loans to launch an assembly-line housing industry.

RFC refused to grant a $32,000,000 credit to the Lustron Corporation of Chicago as well as smaller loans to other prefabricators despite Wyatt's recommendation that the money be made available.

In a late day conference with the RFC board of directors, Wyatt threatened to serve a directive on the loan agency, forcing compliance through the extraordinary powers vested in him by the Emergency Housing (Patman) Act.

Wyatt Issues Statement

That information came from other officials. Wyatt issued only this brief statement after the session:

"The matter of directives was discussed with the RFC board as well as loans. Other discussions will be held in the next few days."

The fate of Wyatt's whole effort to develop mass production of steel and aluminum houses apparently hinged on the outcome for virtually all the firms entering the new field want federal financing.

Meantime Wyatt announced that three new "premium payment" subsidy plans would go into effect this month providing federal funds for extra output of galvanized sheet steel, carbon sheet steel, and some mill-work items needed in the housing drive.

Court Contest Looms

It appeared that other efforts of the housing chief to help the Lustron Corporation—which he regards as the best bet for an early start in assembly-line housing—will soon be contested in court.

Preston Tucker, president of the Tucker Corporation, told reporters tonight that his lawyers "definitely" would file injunction action by Monday night to prevent the government from turning over to Lustron the big government-owned Chrysler-Dodge plant in Chicago, on which Tucker holds a lease. Tucker wants to make cars in it.

He said he believed Wyatt had been "misled"; that Lustron needed a fabricating plant instead of a machining plant like the former tank-turret factory; and that Lustron "couldn't get into production for two years" in such quarters.

Small Nations Ask Voice In German Treaty Talks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg formally asked the Big Four nations today to be included "from beginning to end" in discussions on a peace treaty for Germany.

Ambassadors Baron Silvercruys, of Belgium; Alexander Loudon, of the Netherlands, and Minister Huges Le Gallais, of Luxembourg, presented virtually identical notes containing this request to Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson at the State Department.

After the visit, Loudon told reporters the three governments were presenting similar notes today in London, Moscow and Paris.

U. N. Break With Spain Demanded By Poland

Resolution Would Bar Franco's Government From Any Organization Connected With U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Poland demanded tonight that the United Nations break off diplomatic relations with Generalissimo Franco and bar his government from any organization connected with the United Nations.

Poland's Foreign Minister, Wincenty Rzymowski, chief of his country's delegation to the United Nations Assembly, filed a double-barrelled resolution with the United Nations little more than 24 hours before the deadline for bringing up matters for the agenda.

His action came at the end of a day filled with committee meetings which was marked by the United States balking at paying half of the administrative costs of the United Nations for 1947.

Russia Assessed Six Per Cent

Poland filed a complaint against Franco Spain last April but the United Nations Security Council, after a long wrangle, failed to act.

The United States lost no time today taking up the matter of administrative expenses for 1947.

Soviet Russia was assessed six per cent for that period and Great Britain 10.50 per cent in the proposed budget.

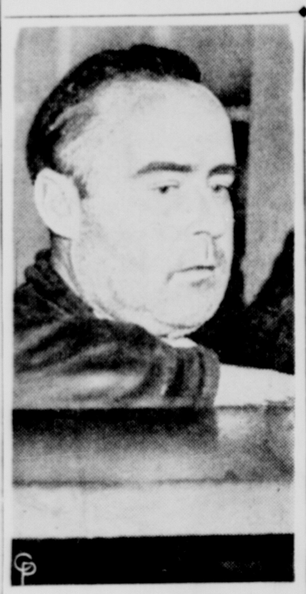

United States Sen. Arthur V. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the United States member of the United Nations Administrative - Budgetary Committee, made a strong statement to the committee rejecting the figure set by United Nations experts.

He said his delegation would recommend to the United States Congress that this nation pay 33 per cent for 1947 on a temporary basis but that the United States felt a top limit of 25 per cent should be agreed upon for any one country after the world's economy has recovered from war.

Permanent Site Wangle

While the committee phase of the work of the United Nations Assembly began this morning at the Lake Success interim headquarters the United States delegation stepped into the permanent site wrangle in the United Nations for the first time with a suggesion that the Assembly consider the offered New York City site and the San Francisco Bay area as well as the Westchester County, N. Y., section.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, issued a statement saying that both New York and San Francisco had offered sites for the permanent home of the United Nations both free of charge, and that he believed these offers merited consideration. This opened the gate for a battle in the Assembly between New York and San Francisco.

Clark Cautions Against Ballot Box "Stuffing"

Truman Home To Vote; Partisans Whip Up Pre-Election Oratory

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman made four non-speaking appearances in his home state of Missouri yesterday as partisans whipped up pre-election oratory and Attorney General Clark warned against ballot box "stuffing."

The President arrived by train at Independence, Mo., where he will vote Tuesday. He was met by the Mayor and relatives. He made rear platform appearances and shook hands with greeters at Jefferson City, St. Louis and Sedalia.

He not only declined to make any speeches, but passed up a party rally last night in Independence for which Speaker Rayburn was the orator.

Clark Cites Federal Law

Clark's warning came in a statement asserting the federal law "clearly establishes" the right of every qualified person to vote Tuesday and to have the ballot "counted honestly as cast."

Clark's office said the statement was issued in response to many inquiries, particularly as to whether ballot box stuffing and failure to count votes would violate federal election status. Clark said they would.

Other political developments:

Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, Senate Democratic leader, said in a speech for a Mutual broadcast that his party "presents a forthright plan of positive action" and the Republicans "have nothing to offer." He declared that "the nation could say goodbye to any bi-partisan foreign policy" if the GOP gains control of Congress.

Famous Lawyer To Defend Sally

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1 (AP)—Sally Rand engaged the famous criminal lawyer, Jerry Giesler, today to defend her in a municipal court jury trial November 13 against police allegations that her costume covered very little, indeed, of Sally.

She appeared briefly before Judge Kenneth A. White on the charge of giving an "obscene, indecent, immoral, impure exhibition which tended to corrupt the morals of youths and others."

Said exhibition was her feather-and-bubble dance, familiar to bald-head rows of the nation since the Chicago World's Fair of 1933, in a Broadway theater here last night.

Sgt. W. H. Madden, of the vice squad, asserted: "All she was wearing was a very small triangle patch."

Sally said today: "It's the same dance I've been doing since 1942; the same dance I did in San Francisco." She was acquitted there recently of indecent exposure.

She and Howard R. Williams, theater manager, charged under the same municipal code, pleaded innocent and were at liberty under bail pending the trial.

TWO BOYS CONVICTED OF DOUBLE SLAYING

YUBA CITY, Calif., Nov. 1. (AP)—Two young high school boys were convicted today of the ambush murders of the parents of one of them.

Next Monday the two boys, Billy Anderson, 16, and Nathern James, 15, will hear Superior Court Judge Arthur Coats pronounce the mandatory sentences of life imprisonment.

"Guilty of murder in the first degree" was the verdict of a jury of five women and seven men who had listened for four and one-half days to details of the killings September 8 of Billy's father and stepmother Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson. The verdict was the same on each of two counts.

The only motive ascribed for the killings was Billy's desire to run away from home and his testimony that his father whipped him. He got Nathern to help him, one firing a rifle and the other a shotgun.

Molotov Says He And Stalin In Agreement

Soviet Minister Denies Speech Conflicted With Chief's Statement

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — Vyacheslav M. Molotov declared tonight that the opinion expressed by some Americans that there were disagreements between his address to the United Nations Assembly Tuesday and Prime Minister Stalin's statement of last Monday "does not correspond to the facts."

"It is not difficult to see this after careful study of the texts in question," Molotov told the Associated Press.

Declines To Answer Questions

Molotov declined to answer the questions on the ground that they touched subjects being discussed at the General Assembly and its committees, "where I myself and other Soviet representatives will have an opportunity to speak about them."

The questions were prefaced by the following:

"His excellency, V. M. Molotov,

"Minister of Foreign Affairs of the USSR:

"Recent statements of leaders of the USSR have left some confusion in the minds of Americans as to the real direction and purposes of Soviet policy. This is especially true as regards certain passages from Premier Stalin's replies of October 28 to an American newsman's questions and your own speech of October 29 to the United Nations Assembly; to some Americans there does not seem to be complete agreement on some points."

In his two-paragraph answer tonight, written in Russian and initialed "VM", Molotov told the Associated Press that:

Molotov's Answer

"Your remark that 'there is no complete agreement' between the answers of the head of the Soviet government J. V. Stalin, October 28, and my speech at the General Assembly October 29 does not correspond to the facts. It is not difficult to see this after careful study of the texts in question.

"Regarding the question which you submitted, they touch those subjects which at the present time are being discussed at the General Assembly and its committees, where I myself and other Soviet representatives will have an opportunity to speak about them. This permits me to consider myself free from the necessity to give special answers to these questions at present.

Pacific Seamen Get Wage Boosts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—In a move aimed at ending the month-long Pacific shipping strike, the Maritime Commission authorized its agents on the West coast to pay the wage boosts recently negotiated on the East coast for ship officers.

A. J. Williams, Maritime Commission secretary, told a reporter the commission expected the agents would carry out the "authorization," which he said was similar in form to instructions issued frequently to general agents and consistently carried out.

Compliance would free about half the West coast ships now tied up, those which are federally-operated and government-owned. They probably could not move out of ports, however until the CIO longshoremen's strike also in progress for some time, is settled. But the stevedore dispute is reported near settlement.

The Maritime Commission said it acted "in the interest of conformity in general agent operations on all coasts."

TOKYO ROSE FREED—Ikuko Togura, 30, 1941 UCLA graduate arrested in Japan a year ago as "Tokyo Rose," who broadcast from Tokyo during the war, is shown being escorted from Sugamo prison, Tokyo, by an unidentified guard after being freed because Los Angeles federal authorities said there were at least a dozen "Tokyo Roses" and they wouldn't narrow the field to one.

Jews Taken Off Almost-Sinking Immigrant Ship

1,279 Transferred To Deportation Vessels Despite Screams

JERUSALEM, Nov. 1 (AP) — Despite screams of protest and some physical resistance 1,279 Jewish refugees were transferred at Haifa today from the almost foundering immigrant ship San Dimitrio to the British deportation vessels bound for detention camps on Cyprus. The ships were on their way tonight, an official announcement said.

In a new tactic against the deportation policy of the British, one Palestine Jew succeeded in obtaining a writ of habeas corpus in the Palestine Supreme Court for his brother, one of the immigrants aboard the ship. The court ordered a hearing expected to test the legality of sending uncertificated immigrants to Cyprus.

Jewish Leaders Ordered Freed

(In London an authoritative government source said the British Colonial Office had instructed the Palestine administration to release about 700 Jews, including top Jewish Agency leaders, from the Latrun detention camp, where they had been held since the British raids of last June.)

The only major violence reported in the Holy Land today was an attack on two office clerks in Tel Aviv by three masked gunmen who escaped with satchels containing nearly $12,000.

Five British soldiers have been killed in the past three days, including two killed last night when their truck hit a road mine near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Jews March On Barricades

21 Persons Perish When French Plane Crashes Into Hill

LIMOGES, France, Nov. 1 — (AP) —Eighteen passengers and three crewmen of a Paris-Casablanca plane were killed today when it crashed in the mountainous region near here.

Air officials said the French transport plane crashed just before noon in the hills above the village of St. Leger La Montagne, 25 miles from here. There were no survivors.

The plane, a German-built Junkers, radioed the Limoges airport just before the crash that ice was forming on its wings.

Although no official reason for the crash was given, officials of the Lomoges airport said they believed the plane, owned by the Languedoc-Rouissillon Air Lines, descended to a warmer altitude in an effort to thaw the ice and crashed into the side of a hill.

The rescue squad said the plane had exploded upon crashing.

OPA Decontrols Scores Of Items

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The OPA freed scores of additional items ranging from churns to matches from price ceilings today but delayed issuance of its master decontrol list.

The agency originally had planned to complete its major decontrol program today. Officials said the necessity for consulting other government branches on various phases of it, however, will hold it up for another week or more.

The miscellaneous items decontrolled today made a six-page list. The OPA explained that the ceilings were removed "because their supply is in approximate balance with demand or because they are unimportant in business or living costs."

Included were matches, both paper and wooden; most machinery and equipment used on dairy farms; bodies and equipment parts for buses; several types of engines; a few lumber, paper, metal and chemical products, and bones of all types used for meal and mash.

Also freed were notions sold at retail counters and used to mend or repair garments, such as collars, cuffs and neckbands for shirts, and a few textile items such as sleeve protectors, knitted arm warmers and dust caps.

In addition to churns the new decontrol list includes milking machines, cream and milk separators, ice-refrigerated milk coolers and metal milk cans. Other farm equipment released includes hand-operated sprayers and dusters.

It's Fathers Who Pay

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 1—(AP)—It took four boys only an hour last night to smear 50 windows of school No. 8 with four gallons of purloined green paint as a Halloween prank but it took their fathers—rounded up by police—three hours to clean the mess with turpentine.

Radio Engineers Told "Electronic Brain" Developed

Lord Mountbatten Says Device Has Limited Reasoning Powers

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten told a meeting of British radio engineers last night about the development of an "electronic brain" which he said has limited reasoning and memory powers and portends "a revolution of the mind."

Lord Mountbatten, himself a radio specialist, said in his talks to the 21st annual dinner of the British Institute of Radio Engineers that he was indebted to Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the United States office of Scientific Research and Development, for his information. Mountbatten is president of the institute.

"The electronic brain," he said, "will extend enormously the scope of the human brain, not only in essence but also in distance x x x

Facing "New Revolution"

"It seems that we are really facing a new revolution, not an industrial one but a revolution of the mind."

"The electronic brain," he added, "will receive information about the situation of machinery under its control, and will provide information and the action necessary to keep the machine in general conformity with the overall directions given to it by man."

He said it "could even be made to play a rather mediocre game of chess."

Libraries and other means of obtaining knowledge, he continued, will be outmoded by a memory machine that "will store up such a fantastic amount of information that it would take hundreds of years to fill it if the user inserted

Government, Union Resume Talks Monday

42 Mines Made Idle As 5,700 Quit Work Because Of "Unrest"

SHOWDOWN ON OPENING CONTRACT POSTPONED

Lewis, Krug Absent From Meeting; Operators Rap Administration

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Negotiations on John L. Lewis' demands for higher coal mine pay recessed tonight in "delicate shape" and the government reported 5,700 miners had quit work because of "unrest."

When government and United Mine Workers negotiators wound up four hours of talk and quit until Monday, an Interior Department official told reporters:

"The situation is in such a delicate shape that they will not say anything."

The Solid Fuels Administration said 42 mines were made idle by 5,700 men staying away from work in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. It cited "unrest."

This government agency said 21 West Virginia mines closed down because of what it termed a misunderstanding, through radio broadcasts, of the status of the government-UMW working contract.

Some of the miners were reported to have explained their walkout with their traditional phrase "no contract, no work," but Lewis has stated that the existing contract remains in effect during the negotiations.

From Indiana and Ohio, too, came reports of a mine here and there closing down.

First reports of what took place at today's meeting indicated that the union had done all the talking, with Capt. Collisson and his men listening intently.

Behind the heavy, leather covered swinging doors of the sound-proof conference room where the union and government representatives sat most of the day, the miners' officers and lawyers presented data relative to higher living costs but made no specific wage demands.

The expected showdown on reopening of the contract—on which Krug and Collisson differ with Lewis—was postponed until another day, apparently because Lewis and Krug were absent.

Coal mine owners, meanwhile, angrily criticized those in the government who, they said, had knuckled under to Lewis in dealing with his demands.

Those attending today's opening negotiations here, which thus far have staved off the threat of a general pre-election walkout, would not even specify what Lewis is asking for his 400,000 soft coal miners.

West Virginia Mines Closed

At Williamson, W. Va., Secretary J. J. Ardigo, of the Williamson Operators Association, reported a walkout that shut down 15 mines, employing about 4,000 men. Ardigo said the traditional union cry of no-contract-

General Wage Level Increase Is Predicted

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—E. H. Van Delden, director of industrial relations for the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, Toledo, Ohio, predicted today that the general wage level would raise "another notch" within the next six months.

This period, he told an industrial relations seminar of the Radio Manufacturers Association, will be "the most troublesome in the history of collective bargaining" because of anticipated wage demands.

Crowd Delays Arrival Of British Royal Family At Film Premiere

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—A crush of fans that matched the most enthusiastic of Hollywood displays delayed for 15 minutes tonight the arrival of the royal family at its first officially sanctioned film premiere.

At least 10 persons suffered fractured arms or legs and more than 100 were given first aid treatment.

Despite efforts of mounted police riding three abreast and several deep, the regal entourage was stalled in a surging throng which had been building up throughout the day around the Empire Theater in Leicester Square.

Through a path that was slowly cleared for them, the King, Queen and two Princesses were escorted to their especially - constructed and flower-decked box in the dress circle, but not before the police had backed their horses to the steps of the theater itself to keep the passage clear.

Others participating in the occasion, the first showing of the British picture, "A Matter of Life and Death," and "command performances" on the stage by internationally-known stage and screen stars, were less fortunate in their entrances.

Ray Milland and Joan Bennett, two of the Hollywood representatives, were held up more than half an hour.

One of the features of the program was the showing of bits of early films, Marie Dressler, Mabel Norman and Charlie Chaplin in comedies of a generation ago, Al Jolson in "Sonny Boy" and Bessie Love in "Broadway Melody."

"I think it was marvelous," Queen Elizabeth said at a reception after the show.

The King agreed, but added, "I thought we might be casualties ourselves on the way here. Our car was almost on two wheels instead of four at times."

"Pistol-Packin' Parsons"

Ministers Would Organize Posse

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 1 (AP)—Irate demands for the right to form a "posse of pistol-packing parsons" today were hurled at city council by 11 Protestant ministers in an attempt to stem what they considered a threatening Jefferson county crime wave.

Several city and county law enforcement officials, including Mayor George W. Floto and Sheriff Robert D. Bates, declined comment after the Steubenville Ministerial Association filed a letter with council demanding that they be permitted to pack guns and select 20 World War II veterans to aid in "cleaning out the underworld."

In the third slaying in the county in 10 days, Mrs. Phyllis Savage, a 17-year-old expectant mother, today was charged with delinquency in probate court in connection with the fatal shooting of her ex-sailor husband, Homer, 19.

Probate Judge Emmett M. Morrow ordered Mrs. Savage's case turned over to the Ohio Board of Juvenile Research for a "complete investigation."

The pastors did not mention any specific crime but merely cited general conditions in the county.

Pastoral indignation against what was termed the "present so-called enforcement officials" was expressed in the statement signed by Rev. Robert K. Russell, ministerial association president, and 10 members of the group.

"We believe," asserted the pastors' letter to council, "that you are as anxious to clean out the racketeers as we are, but it is evident that the Mayor, the Safety Director and the Chief of Police are either unable—or afraid—to do anything about the situation."

Major Parties Roll Out Biggest Guns As State Campaign Nears End

[By The Associated Press]

What may turn out to be the closest Free State election in many years caused the Democrats and Republicans to roll out their biggest guns today for the climactic three days remaining before the November 5 Maryland general election.

Both parties were concentrating on the Baltimore metropolitan area, where more than one-half of the state's 830,000-odd voting eligibles are massed.

The Democrats will make their last journey to the counties tonight when the state-wide ticket is to appear at a major rally in Ellicott City, Howard county. The Republican mainstays are remaining in Baltimore for a series of meetings.

Leaders of each party have expressed confidence their men would be elected.

The concensus is that the outcome of the top races—those between Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, and William Preston Lane, Jr., Democrat, for governor, and between Republican D. John Markey and Democrat Herbert R. O'Conor for the Senate—is somewhat uncertain.

The whole campaign has been one of many types of uncertainty, for that matter.

Lane emerged from a tough, three-corner primary as a strong winner, with a record of having conducted a very astute campaign—but with rumors that there was strong dissatisfaction among potent Democratic factions over his triumph.

There was talk of possible ticket "cutting," especially in Baltimore, but party leaders in the city were quick to announce public support of the Hagerstown newspaper publisher and national Democratic committeeman.

McKeldin had no troube at all in the primary, but that campaign showed that many old-line party

Next Monday the two boys, Billy Anderson, 16, and Nathern James, 15, will hear Superior Court Judge Arthur Coats pronounce the mandatory sentences of life imprisonment.

"Guilty of murder in the first degree" was the verdict of a jury of five women and seven men who had listened for four and one-half days to details of the killings September 8 of Billy's father and stepmother Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson. The verdict was the same on each of two counts.

The only motive ascribed for the killings was Billy's desire to run away from home and his testimony that his father whipped him. He got Nathern to help him one firing a rifle and the other a shotgun.

Molotov Says He And Stalin In Agreement

Soviet Minister Denies Speech Conflicted With Chief's Statement

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — Vyacheslav M. Molotov declared tonight that the opinion expressed by some Americans that there were disagreements between his address to the United Nations Assembly Tuesday and Prime Minister Stalin's statement of last Monday "does not correspond to the facts."

"It is not difficult to see this after careful study of the texts in question," Molotov told the Associated Press.

Declines To Answer Questions

Molotov declined to answer the questions on the ground that they touched subjects being discussed at the General Assembly and its committees, "where I myself and other Soviet representatives will have an opportunity to speak about them."

The questions were prefaced by the following:

"His excellency, V. M. Molotov,

"Minister of Foreign Affairs of the USSR:

"Recent statements of leaders of the USSR have left some confusion in the minds of Americans as to the real direction and purposes of Soviet policy. This is especially true as regards certain passages from Premier Stalin's replies of October 28 to an American newsman's questions and your own speech of October 29 to the United Nations Assembly; to some Americans there does not seem to be complete agreement on some points."

In his two-paragraph answer tonight, written in Russian and initialed "VM", Molotov told the Associated Press that:

Molotov's Answer

"Your remark that 'there is no complete agreement' between the answers of the head of the Soviet government J. V. Stalin, October 28, and my speech at the General Assembly October 29 does not correspond to the facts. It is not difficult to see this after careful study of the texts in question.

"Regarding the question which you submitted, they touch those subjects which at the present time are being discussed at the General Assembly and its committees, where I myself and other Soviet representatives will have an opportunity to speak about them. This permits me to consider myself free from the necessity to give special answers to these questions at present.

Pacific Seamen Get Wage Boosts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—In a move aimed at ending the month-long Pacific shipping strike, the Maritime Commission authorized its agents on the West coast to pay the wage boosts recently negotiated on the East coast for ship officers.

A. J. Williams, Maritime Commission secretary, told a reporter the commission expected the agents would carry out the "authorization," which he said was similar in form to instructions issued frequently to general agents and consistently carried out.

Compliance would free about half the West coast ships now tied up, those which are federally-operated and government-owned. They probably could not move out of ports, however until the CIO longshoremen's strike also in progress for some time, is settled. But the stevedore dispute is reported near settlement.

The Maritime Commission said it acted "in the interest of conformity in general agent operations on all coasts."

TOKYO ROSE FREED—Ikuko Togura, 30, 1941 UCLA graduate arrested in Japan a year ago as "Tokyo Rose," who broadcast from Tokyo during the war, is shown being escorted from Sugamo prison, Tokyo, by an unidentified guard after being freed because Los Angeles federal authorities said there were at least a dozen "Tokyo Roses" and they wouldn't narrow the field to one.

Jews Taken Off Almost-Sinking Immigrant Ship

1,279 Transferred To Deportation Vessels Despite Screams

JERUSALEM, Nov. 1 (AP) — Despite screams of protest and some physical resistance 1,279 Jewish refugees were transferred at Haifa today from the almost foundering immigrant ship San Dimitrio to the British deportation vessels bound for detention camps on Cyprus. The ships were on their way tonight, an official announcement said.

In a new tactic against the deportation policy of the British, one Palestine Jew succeeded in obtaining a writ of habeas corpus in the Palestine Supreme Court for his brother, one of the immigrants aboard the ship. The court ordered a hearing expected to test the legality of sending uncertificated immigrants to Cyprus.

Jewish Leaders Ordered Freed

(In London an authoritative government source said the British Colonial Office had instructed the Palestine administration to release about 700 Jews, including top Jewish Agency leaders, from the Latrun detention camp, where they had been held since the British raids of last June.)

The only major violence reported in the Holy Land today was an attack on two office clerks in Tel Aviv by three masked gunmen who escaped with satchels containing nearly $12,000.

Five British soldiers have been killed in the past three days, including two killed last night when their truck hit a road mine near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Jews March On Barricades

Preceding the transfer of the immigrations from the San Dimitrio, 2,000 Jews left a mass meeting in Haifa and marched on barricades thrown up in the port area by British troops. Signs on the barricades

21 Persons Perish When French Plane Crashes Into Hill

LIMOGES, France, Nov. 1 — (AP) —Eighteen passengers and three crewmen of a Paris-Casablanca plane were killed today when it crashed in the mountainous region near here.

Air officials said the French transport plane crashed just before noon in the hills above the village of St. Leger La Montagne, 25 miles from here. There were no survivors.

The plane, a German-built Junkers, radioed the Limoges airport just before the crash that ice was forming on its wings.

Although no official reason for the crash was given, officials of the Lomoges airport said they believed the plane, owned by the Languedoc-Rouissillon Air Lines, descended to a warmer altitude in an effort to thaw the ice and crashed into the side of a hill.

The rescue squad said the plane had exploded upon crashing.

OPA Decontrols Scores Of Items

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The OPA freed scores of additional items ranging from churns to matches from price ceilings today but delayed issuance of its master decontrol list.

The agency originally had planned to complete its major decontrol program today. Officials said the necessity for consulting other government branches on various phases of it, however, will hold it up for another week or more.

The miscellaneous items decontrolled today made a six-page list. The OPA explained that the ceilings were removed "because their supply is in approximate balance with demand or because they are unimportant in business or living costs."

Included were matches, both paper and wooden; most machinery and equipment used on dairy farms; bodies and equipment parts for buses; several types of engines; a few lumber, paper, metal and chemical products, and bones of all types used for meal and mash.

Also freed were notions sold at retail counters and used to mend or repair garments, such as collars, cuffs and neckbands for shirts, and a few textile items such as sleeve protectors, knitted arm warmers and dust caps.

In addition to churns the new decontrol list includes milking machines, cream and milk separators, ice-refrigerated milk coolers and metal milk cans. Other farm equipment released includes hand-operated sprayers and dusters.

It's Fathers Who Pay

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 1—(AP)—It took four boys only an hour last night to smear 50 windows of school No. 8 with four gallons of purloined green paint as a Halloween prank but it took their fathers—rounded up by police—three hours to clean the mess with turpentine.

Radio Engineers Told "Electronic Brain" Developed

Lord Mountbatten Says Device Has Limited Reasoning Powers

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten told a meeting of British radio engineers last night about the development of an "electronic brain" which he said has limited reasoning and memory powers and portends "a revolution of the mind."

Lord Mountbatten, himself a radio specialist, said in his talks to the 21st annual dinner of the British Institute of Radio Engineers that he was indebted to Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the United States office of Scientific Research and Development, for his information. Mountbatten is president of the institute.

"The electronic brain," he said, "will extend enormously the scope of the human brain, not only in essence but also in distance x x x

Facing "New Revolution"

"It seems that we are really facing a new revolution, not an industrial one but a revolution of the mind."

"The electronic brain," he added, "will receive information about the situation of machinery under its control, and will provide information and the action necessary to keep the machine in general conformity with the overall directions given to it by man."

He said it "could even be made to play a rather mediocre game of chess."

Libraries and other means of obtaining knowledge, he continued, will be outmoded by a memory machine that "will store up such a fantastic amount of information that it would take hundreds of years to fill it if the user inserted

42 Mines Made Idle As 5,700 Quit Work Because Of "Unrest"

SHOWDOWN ON OPENING CONTRACT POSTPONED

Lewis, Krug Absent From Meeting; Operators Rap Administration

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Negotiations on John L. Lewis' demands for higher coal mine pay recessed tonight in "delicate shape" and the government reported 5,700 miners had quit work because of "unrest."

When government and United Mine Workers negotiators wound up four hours of talk and quit until Monday, an Interior Department official told reporters:

"The situation is in such a delicate shape that they will not say anything."

The Solid Fuels Administration said 42 mines were made idle by 5,700 men staying away from work in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. It cited "unrest."

This government agency said 21 West Virginia mines closed down because of what it termed a misunderstanding, through radio broadcasts, of the status of the government-UMW working contract.

Some of the miners were reported to have explained their walkout with their traditional phrase "no contract, no work," but Lewis has stated that the existing contract remains in effect during the negotiations.

From Indiana and Ohio, too, came reports of a mine here and there closing down.

First reports of what took place at today's meeting indicated that the union had done all the talking, with Capt. Collisson and his men listening intently.

Behind the heavy, leather covered swinging doors of the sound-proof conference room where the union and government representatives sat most of the day, the miners' officers and lawyers presented data relative to higher living costs but made no specific wage demands.

The expected showdown on reopening of the contract—on which Krug and Collisson differ with Lewis—was postponed until another day, apparently because Lewis and Krug were absent.

Coal mine owners, meanwhile, angrily criticized those in the government who, they said, had knuckled under to Lewis in dealing with his demands.

Those attending today's opening negotiations here, which thus far have staved off the threat of a general pre-election walkout, would not even specify what Lewis is asking for his 400,000 soft coal miners.

West Virginia Mines Closed

At Williamson, W. Va., Secretary J. J. Ardigo, of the Williamson Operators Association, reported a walkout that shut down 15 mines, employing about 4,000 men. Ardigo said the traditional union cry of no-contract-

General Wage Level Increase Is Predicted

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—E. H. Van Delden, director of industrial relations for the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, Toledo, Ohio, predicted today that the general wage level would raise "another notch" within the next six months.

This period, he told an industrial relations seminar of the Radio Manufacturers Association, will be "the most troublesome in the history of collective bargaining" because of anticipated wage demands.

Crowd Delays Arrival Of British Royal Family At Film Premiere

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—A crush of fans that matched the most enthusiastic of Hollywood displays delayed for 15 minutes tonight the arrival of the royal family at its first officially sanctioned film premiere.

At least 10 persons suffered fractured arms or legs and more than 100 were given first aid treatment.

Despite efforts of mounted police riding three abreast and several deep, the regal entourage was stalled in a surging throng which had been building up throughout the day around the Empire Theater in Leicester Square.

Through a path that was slowly cleared for them, the King, Queen and two Princesses were escorted to their especially - constructed and flower-decked box in the dress circle, but not before the police had backed their horses to the steps of the theater itself to keep the passage clear.

Others participating in the occasion, the first showing of the British picture, "A Matter of Life and Death," and "command performances" on the stage by internationally-known stage and screen stars, were less fortunate in their entrances.

Ray Milland and Joan Bennett, two of the Hollywood representatives, were held up more than half an hour.

One of the features of the program was the showing of bits of early films, Marie Dressler, Mabel Norman and Charlie Chaplin in comedies of a generation ago, Al Jolson in "Sonny Boy" and Bessie Love in "Broadway Melody."

"I think it was marvelous," Queen Elizabeth said at a reception after the show.

The King agreed, but added, "I thought we might be casualties ourselves on the way here. Our car was almost on two wheels instead of four at times."

"Pistol-Packin' Parsons"

Ministers Would Organize Posse

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 1 (AP)—Irate demands for the right to form a "posse of pistol-packing parsons" today were hurled at city council by 11 Protestant ministers in an attempt to stem what they considered a threatening Jefferson county crime wave.

Several city and county law enforcement officials, including Mayor George W. Floto and Sheriff Robert D. Bates, declined comment after the Steubenville Ministerial Association filed a letter with council demanding that they be permitted to pack guns and select 20 World War II veterans to aid in "cleaning out the underworld."

In the third slaying in the county in 10 days, Mrs. Phyllis Savage, a 17-year-old expectant mother, today was charged with delinquency in probate court in connection with the fatal shooting of her ex-sailor husband, Homer, 19.

Probate Judge Emmett M. Morrow ordered Mrs. Savage's case turned over to the Ohio Board of Juvenile Research for a "complete investigation."

The pastors did not mention any specific crime but merely cited general conditions in the county.

Pastoral indignation against what was termed the "present so-called enforcement officials" was expressed in the statement signed by Rev Robert K. Russell, ministerial association president, and 10 members of the group.

"We believe," asserted the pastors' letter to council, "that you are as anxious to clean out the racketeers as we are, but it is evident that the Mayor, the Safety Director and the Chief of Police are either unable —or afraid—to do anything about the situation."

Major Parties Roll Out Biggest Guns As State Campaign Nears End

[By The Associated Press]

What may turn out to be the closest Free State election in many years caused the Democrats and Republicans to roll out their biggest guns today for the climactic three days remaining before the November 5 Maryland general election.

Both parties were concentrating on the Baltimore metropolitan area, where more than one-half of the state's 830,000-odd voting eligibles are massed.

The Democrats will make their last journey to the counties tonight when the state-wide ticket is to appear at a major rally in Ellicott City, Howard county. The Republican mainstays are remaining in Baltimore for a series of meetings.

Leaders of each party have expressed confidence their men would be elected.

The concensus is that the outcome of the top races—those between Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, and William Preston Lane, Jr., Democrat, for governor, and between Republican D. John Markey and Democrat Herbert R. O'Conor for the Senate—is somewhat uncertain.

The whole campaign has been one of many types of uncertainty, for that matter.

Lane emerged from a tough three-corner primary as a strong winner, with a record of having conducted a very astute campaign—but with rumors that there was strong dissatisfaction among potent Democratic factions over his triumph.

There was talk of possible ticket "cutting," especially in Baltimore, but party leaders in the city were quick to announce public support of the Hagerstown newspaper publisher and national Democratic committeeman.

McKeldin had no troube at all in the primary, but that campaign showed that many old-line party

Deceptive Financing Will Not Balance U. S. Budget

Believe it or not, the public debt was reduced by a cool $2,000,000,000 with the dawn of November. On the first of this month, $3,778,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness fell due, and the Treasury replaced them by only $1,778,000,000 in new certificates.

But there is no occasion for jubilance and for rushing to the conclusion that the government has rolled up a little surplus of $2,000,000,000. Not at all. The amount was drawn out of the balance which the Treasury keeps in its general fund. Although the public debt decreased by $2,000,000,000, so did the treasury's working balance. All that is saved is the interest.

As a matter of fact, the government has had a slight deficit so far during this fiscal year. A surplus for the year was shown for some days during September, but that was a month of heavy income tax payments for the quarter-year.

The general fund in the Treasury now has a cash balance of slightly over $8,000,000,000. That should be subtracted from the gross public debt of $264,000,000,000, to bring it down to a net of $256,000,000,000. The limit now fixed by law is $275,000,000,000.

The maximum debt rolled up as a result of World War I was a little more than $26,000,000,000. This was cut by approximately one-third by the time of the depression of 1929. Now some authorities believe that the present debt will never be reduced very much, and that the United States will carry it indefinitely, as Great Britain did with her World War I debt. In that case, interest payments on the debt alone would approximate the total cost of the federal government in 1939.

All of this reminds us that after a period of off again, on again backing and filling, the Truman administration has thrown in the sponge in the effort to balance the budget. The left wingers always have opposed all moves to this end.

It seems that the political philosophy of spend and spend, elect and elect has taken too thorough a hold. Democratic leaders, appraised by their followers of the national wave of public resentment against them, have become panic-stricken and are reverting to the theory that the only way to appease the wild populace is to hand out more bread and circuses.

There is only one method to balance the federal budget, and that is by closing out the bureaus responsible for the spending and sloughing off a million and a half government employes. Employers are begging for more help to enable them to increase production. Uprooting these employes from the payroll would be a kindness to them. It would have the result of transferring them to private enterprise, which offers far more opportunities than are to be found on the government payroll.

And higher production by private enterprise would have an infinitely greater stabilizing influence than has been exerted by bureaucratic edicts handed out by Washington. The only tangible result of these has been to add to the national mess. The nation faces the alternative of increasing production and thus increasing the purchasing power of the dollar or of continuing government interference and thus toying with a dangerous economic situation.

It will be easy to balance the budget, pay off the public debt and initiate an era of real prosperity by canceling the war powers and winding up the spending agencies with their hundreds of thousands of employes. The nation must take this step and the longer it is deferred, the harder it will be for every citizen. But the vacillating Truman will not take it. The nation's only hope is in a Republican congress.

It won't be necessary for Stalin to sit up all night to get the bad news from the United States on November 5. Because of the difference in time zones, election returns will be getting hot when he's eating breakfast.

Eyes On California In Tuesday's Election

New York's majority for Dewey and Ohio's for Bricker, both of which it is conceded will be sizeable, will be watched no more closely than the election returns from California. Should the Republicans in 1948 be averse to breaking their tradition not to renominate a loser, sending the Dewey presidential star into an eclipse, Governor Warren of California will be very much in the running.

Warren's feat in romping off with the Democratic as well as the Republican nominations in the primary amazed the nation. Not in the memory of living voters has a man in a great state eliminated all competition for the governorship in the primary. His prestige will be further improved by the success of the Republican ticket in California. The main fight is to elect Knowland to the United States Senate.

The Democrats installed James Roosevelt as state chairman after Warren's feat in capturing the Democratic nomination for governor. He has been putting in all his time in an attempt to elect the Democratic nominee, Will Rogers, Jr., to the Senate. Warren has been campaigning for Knowland. A few weeks ago it appeared that Rogers, an extreme left winger like Jim Roosevelt, had a chance. But the Wallace episode and Moscow's endorsement of PAC candidates —Rogers is one—wrought havoc in the Rogers campaign.

Republican sentiment in California has made overwhelming gains in line with those in other states. The GOP now is expected to elect Knowland and to gain two to four seats in the California delegation in the House.

BEDWETTING AS A BEHAVIOR PROBLEM

NOTHING is more exasperating to parents than lack of success in teaching their offspring bladder control. As a rule, by the end of a year and a half, the youngster begins to sleep thru the night without wetting the bed. Some need a longer period—up to 36 months.

The small percentage who are unable to regulate the process after this time often create an embarrassing problem. Enuresis is most common in children but the experiences of our medical officers in the last war showed that a larger number of adults are victims than we suspected.

Many physical and mental factors are to blame and the longer the situation continues, the more complex it becomes. A sympathetic and rational plan will be of greater value than ridicule and punishment. Such measures are tried too often and after they become an old story the sufferer develops an indifferent attitude toward the whole affair.

In many instances a disorder in the kidneys or bladder is the basis of trouble. Sometimes a birth defect is present or irritation from infection or uncleanliness. Now and then the youngster is malnourished or has not been given sufficient training. The little one may be drinking too much after 5 p. m. and occasionally the liquids contain substances which stimulate the kidneys. The tot often plays too hard before retiring and goes into a comalike sleep from which the urge to void will not waken him.

More frequently the cause is deep-seated and related to the personality development of the youngster. Many are unhappy or dejected and have a feeling of inferiority. They may be sensitive to teasing or subject to temper tantrums. Others just lack the will to try to do better and a few are feebleminded. In some instances, the parents are to blame.

Recently Crandall told of the method which he used to help boys in a military academy to overcome the defect. It worked in all but two of 15 difficult cases. Fluids were forbidden after the evening meal but the lads were encouraged to eat three or four salty crackers or popcorn before retiring in an attempt to force retention of fluid in the tissues. Raw apples, canned fish, candy, ice cream, pepper, and other condiments, coffee, tea, cocoa, and cola drinks were out of bounds. The beverages were omitted because of their stimulating effect but the only reason why the foods were denied was to deprive the youngster of some of his pleasures.

In order to aid in establishing bladder control, each patient was told to pinch his arm or leg every time he needed to void during the day; then to wait several minutes, or as long as he could, before going to the bathroom. In order to wake up by himself at 11:30 at night, a variation of Coue's repetitious strain, "Every day in every way I am getting better and better" was tried. The chap had to repeat in a singsong whisper before falling to sleep: "I am going to wake up at — o'clock."

Roughhousing before bedtime was not permitted. In addition, sleeping in a cold room with heavy bedcovers was avoided. It was felt that the child should asume responsibility for his inconvenient habit; hence he was asked to launder his soiled clothing.

ODOROUS PERSPIRATION

Mrs. W. writes: My two children, 19 and 21, are clean about their persons but their feet have a very bad odor. Perspiration is excessive. What can they do?

REPLY

There is considerable disagreement on whether this unpleasant condition is due to the fact that human beings now wear shoes and hose. Some believe that a microorganism contained in perspiration is responsible. Various preparations are on the market to reduce the amount of sweat. In a few cases, X-ray treatment, given by an expert, may be necessary.

AS OLD AS THE HILLS

T. R. writes: How old are vitamins?

REPLY

I would guess that prehistoric man consumed his vitamins even tho he didn't realize it. They have always been there, but it was not until late in the 19th century that scientists discovered their presence. The word itself was coined in 1912 by Casimir Funk.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Let's Take a Careful Look At Some Of The Republican Candidates; Democrats Have Been Spotlighted a Long Time; How Wealthy Families Influence Elections

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. — One healthy thing about a democracy is that it puts its public servants under intense public scrutiny. If the investigating committees of Congress and the newspapermen of Washington are on their toes, they can usually ferret out the things that are bad about a Congressman, while the good things shine out on their own like a beacon light.

Thus the shocking war-contract operations of Mississippi's Senator Bilbo, the amazing war lobbying of Kentucky's Congressman May, the cotton speculation of Senator Elmer Thomas' family—all Democrats—are now well known.

But one of democracy's difficulties is that an electorate frequently does not have time to scrutinize a new candidate before he is swept into office.

Last week, for instance, this column called attention to the fact that GOP candidate Fred Danner of Akron, Ohio, now seeking to draw pay from the Federal Government as a Congressman, had not thought enough of his Federal Government to pay it taxes during 1939, 1940 and 1941.

However, this column was remiss. It was not able at that time to dig up all the facts. Here are some more:

Despite Mr. Danner's three-year rebellion against paying his own taxes, he was quite eager to print income tax blanks for other people to pay theirs. His printing office has just about finished printing $2,334,000 worth of income tax blanks for the Federal Government.

Mr. Danner also was able to get another nice contract from the Treasury Department despite his hesitation about paying it taxes. Last year he printed a million and a half illustrated war-bond promotion books which the Treasury sent out to school children in order to educate them about their Government, its bonds and its finances.

Thus while loath to pay taxes, candidate Danner was not loath to profit from money raised through other people's taxes.

Did Danner Cover Up?

And here are some further interesting facts about the Ohio candidate for Congress which the average voter hasn't time to investigate. When Danner ran in the GOP primaries, he listed Dorothy Keck as contributing $200. That is a sizable gift—especially since Miss Keck at that time was unemployed and had even gone to Uncle Sam to get $17 a week unemployment compensation.

Danner also listed John Lebedoff as giving him $500—another sizable contribution, especially since his family appeared so hard up that Mrs. Lebedoff at that time was drawing $19 a week unemployment compensation. Furthermore neither Lebedoff nor his wife, though supposedly so strong for Danner that they gave him $500, took the trouble to vote for him.

Danner also listed $250 from M. G. Pazder, $250 from Art Burns, and $250 from Fred J. Johnson. Again these are sizable contributions. Yet these three men who allegedly gave $750 between them didn't care enough about Danner to go out and vote for him.

Danner also listed a $250 gift from Ted Furdyn. It seems strange, however, that Mr. Furdyn should give this much money to a Republican, when the records show he voted the Democratic ticket.

These facts naturally raise the question as to whether the above people really contributed the money Danner said they did, or were they just "cover-ups."

NOTE—Personally, this columnist has nothing against Mr. Danner, merely reports the above as an illustration of how Congressional candidates need to be scrutinized in every district—before Election Day, not afterward. If this column had the time to investigate each candidate and state, it would gladly do so. Unfortunately, it can't. Unfortunately also, some local newspapers which could dig out the facts, don't.

Wealth vs. Labor

Some people have asked why I have focused attention on the large amounts of cash thrown into election districts by GOP leader, Joe Pew, the big Pennsylvania oil man. Isn't the money spent by PAC, they ask, just as bad?

The answer is: 1. It was tremendous amounts of cash spent by the Mellons, the Pews, the Rockefellers, et al, which finally inspired labor unions to get into political campaigns themselves. Labor didn't originate the idea. 2. While large amounts of money in any campaign are bad it's only fair to show what both sides are doing.

In regard to this, few people have the time and money to check on large personal campaign contributions. To go over the long list of names filed in various state campaigns and with the Clerk of the House of Representatives takes days of stenographic work. It's also a difficult job to trace the relatives and in-laws of all the families who contribute. The individual voter simply cannot do it.

The last time this column did it, however (1940), the results were amazing. The duPont family was shown to be contributing the grand total of $186,780 to the Republican party. The Hatch Act, of course, makes it illegal for one individual to contribute more than $5,000 to one political group. But violation of the law was avoided, first, by getting all the aunts and uncles and the cousins of the duPonts to contribute; second, by contributing to different state campaigns.

The powerful Pennsylvania Pew family, which operates Sun Oil, the Sun Ship Company, the Pathfinder, The Farm Journal and various other trade publications, donated the huge total of $108,525; the Alfred P. Sloan family of General Motors put up $36,000; the wealthy Widener family of Philadelphia gave $24,750; the Queeny family of St. Louis, which operates Monsanto Chemical, dug up $42,375; while the Pitcairn family of Pennsylvania which manufactures auto-giros, sweetened the Republican kitty with $29,114.71.

All in all, about ten powerful Republican families tossed in about $1,000,000. And you can take your pick as to whether it's healthier to have ten families dominate one party or to have $1 contributions from about 20,000,000 families in organized labor dominate the other.

NOTE—Donations by PAC are openly recorded, not camouflaged under a maze of relatives and in-laws.

Big Money In South Dakota

Congressman Karl Mundt, South Dakota Republican, was speaking before an AVC group in Huron, S.D., which quizzed him about GOP money sent into South Dakota all the way from Pennsylvania and Delaware by the Pew and duPont families. Mundt was asked specifically about references to Pew and duPont contributions previously reported in this column.

"Sometimes Drew Pearson tells the truth," the Congressman told the veterans, "and sometimes he doesn't tell the truth. President Roosevelt called him a chronic liar, but I don't think he is quite that bad."

Regardless of this column's veracity, however, the records of South Dakota contributions are not subject to debate. They are a matter of official record in the files of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in which Congressman Mundt sits. As previously reported in this column, these files show that in 1942 the duPponts, Mellons, Pews, Col. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, Ira Copley of the Copley Press, Max E. Jarman of the General Shoe Company, contributed a total of $53,700 to Senator Bushfield's re-election in South Dakota.

Decentralization Of Power Becomes Strong U. S. Trend

By MARK SULLIVAN

Two conspicuous events are strong evidence of a trend in the United States which bears on the world. One, taking place at Washington, is abandonment of most of the activities of the Office of Price Administration, to be followed by abandonment of more, and to be followed also by retreat from government controls generally, including control over wages.

The other event took place within the United Nations. It was abandonment (for the present certainly) by a U. N. appendage, its Food and Agricultural Organization, of a monumental plan for control of agriculture on a worldwide basis.

About FAO, although there has been much discussion in high places, the public has grasped little. Had it gone on to fruition it would ultimately have affected every American farmer. The plan was for control, by an international organization, of supplies of food crops and prices of them. It was spoken of by a member of FAO, who ultimately opposed the plan, as "International Organization Joseph", meaning that FAO would imitate and expand on a world basis the plan of the Biblical Joseph about stabilizing food. Another phrase sometimes used about the FAO plan was "Ever Normal World Granary." That was an adaptation of a phrase used about the early attempt of Mr. Henry A. Wallace, when Secretary of Agriculture, to control agriculture in the United States.

Wallace Plan Recalled

Mr. Wallace's plan, as it advanced and encountered difficulties, entailed extraordinary steps, including on one occasion destroying young pigs and mother pigs in order to raise the price of pork, calling on cotton raisers to plow under one row out of every four; limiting the acerage wheat raisers could plant and sell, and putting upon them a penalty of about half the value of the wheat if they tried to sell more than the government had fixed as their quotas.

Recollection of America's experience with an attempt to control agriculture within a single nation may have been the reason the American delegate to FAO dissented from the plan on a world wide basis. The reason given for our dissent included a statement of the difficulties inherent in practical operation of such a plan. Our dissent ended the plan for the time being.

Dissent from centralization of power has become recently a strong trend in the United States. The tendency is toward reduction of the power of government, on any level, over the individual; and, where power is left in government, decentralization of it toward smaller units of government, close to the people.

Since the beginning of the Roosevelt Administration in 1933, there had been two prevailing characteristics. One was, an immence increase in the authority of government over the citizen; the other a large transfer of powers and functions of government from the states, in which they formerly were, to the Federal government at Washington.

Congress-Truman Cleavage

Resistance to the former trend toward centralization of power at Washington was a large cause of the cleavage between Congress and President Truman. Mr. Truman sent to Congress measures calling for still greater extension, and Congress refused to enact them. Congress went further, it took away from the Federal government powers which the Federal government had taken over from the states.

Before the war, public employment agencies were carried on by the states. With the beginning of the war this function was taken from the states and was operated by the Federal government, as the United States Employment Service. President Truman recommended that operation by the Federal government be continued to a future dates which he named. Congress wanted a quicker return to the

Bald Untruths And Misleading Statements Laid To Democrats

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Some question is arising concerning the sincerity of the Truman administration in maintaining a nonpartisan foreign policy.

The question is whether the administration, although professing to seek the cooperation of the Republican party, i snot actually engaged in undermining that self-same cooperation.

The administration controls the Democratic National Committee. The national chairman is a member of the cabinet of President Truman. Yet in a radio address Chairman Robert E. Hannegan uses the following language:

"Do you know Mr. and Mrs. America that a vote for the Republican candidate in your state is also a vote for Taft of Ohio? That it is a vote to supplant Alben Barkley as the Senate majority leader? And when you vote for Taft, do you know what you are voting for?

"If you r son fought for the defeat of Hitler in the late war, then you should know that Taft said: 'I believe we could have a negotiated peace with a Hitler dominant on the continent.'

"If you believe world cooperation is our only hope of avoiding World War III, then you should know that Taft voted against American participation in the United Nations"

Last Bald Untruth

The last statement is a bald untruth and quibble. Senator Taft did not vote against American participation in the United Nations. He voted for it. He, along with other members of the Senate, opposed using armed forces without the consent of Congress but the Democratic national chairman does not make that point or mention the Democrats who took that view.

The broad accusation that "a vote for the Republican candidate in your state is also a vote for Taft" is also a misleading statement. The assumption that Taft will be chosen leade rof the Senate is by no means agreed to by those who know the situation in the Senate. Certainly neither the majority nor the minority leader controls the votes of individual senators on foreign policy. It is a manifest twisting of the trut hto say, that in every state where Republican candidates for senator are running, a vote for them is a vote for Taft or an affirmation of the views Taft has expressed about Germany or anything else. It is unfair to men like Col. Lodge, Republican nominee in Massachusetts, who just took off his uniform and unfair to Senator H. Alexander Smith, Republican in New Jersey, whose record in world cooperation in the Senate has been unexampled. It is unfair with respect to many other Republican nominees as well.

But the attack by the Democratic national chairman is only part of the display of bad faith which the administration is showing toward the Republican party, whose cooperation its makes so much of when it addresses foreign nations. It will be recalled, for instance, that Henry Wallace was dismissed from the Cabinet by Perisdent Truman for attackin gthe bi-partisan foreign policy of the administration. It will be recalled also that the country was advised that the President sided with Secretary Byrnes and Senators Vandenberg, Republican, and Connally, Democrat, in their handling of foreign policy matters. Yet former Secretary Wallace is out making speeches with the blessing of the Democratic National Committee. In one of his western speeches this week, Mr. Wallace said:

"I refuse to think that Secretary Byrnes and the State Department would have gone so far in risking war fith Russia if they had not been needled into it by Senator Vandenberg and the military."

Classes Truman Prevaricator

This is an indirect way of calling President Truman a prevaricator, for Mr. Truman has asserted that the United States is not engaged in any such role in our relations with Russia and that the foregin policy of the United States is made by him and Secretary Byrnes. Why does the Democratic National Committee continue to sponsor speeches by former Secretary Wallace unless it wishes to benefit from his attacks on the Republican Party in those states where left-wing support is being sought by the administration?

Mr. Hannegan denounces Communistic support at the same time the Democratic National Committee is evidently not adverse to gathering votes through the Wallace speeches among the Communistic elements in America to whom those speeches make persuasive appeal.

The congressional campaign does not reflect credit on the leaders of the Democratic party. The blunders being made will only lead to bad feeling when Congress reconvenes and may conceivably hurt the bi-partisan cooperation which is so essential to the success of America's policies in world affairs.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

For the interesting if true department: President Truman not only will make several Cabinet changes after election (despite recent stories to the contrary), but will toss out some of those "advisers", who've been steering him up one-way streets. After which, he will concentrate on trying to be the country's best President, regardless of 1948 politics. On Tuesday of this week, Joseph Stalin was on some mystery mission outside the borders of the Soviet Union—probably inspecting Russian occupation forces in "liberated" countries . . . If the present anti-Democratic trend continues Hank Wallace will settle for running for Senator instead of President or Vice President in '48 . . . The Department of Justice investigation of a New York political candidate stymied until after election.

Uncle Sam pondering the possibility of bringing "moral turpitude" charges against a recent and attractive overseas visitor . . . Some 25 high-ranking jobs in Washington to be filled after election, mostly by lame-duck Congressmen . . . New headlines brewing on the clash between Homer Rainey, defeated Texas gubernatorial candidate, and the Elliott Roosevelt radio interest . . Elliott, incidentally, supposed to be taking off for Russia tomorrow.

The CIO-P.A.C. setup to bust wide open next month . . . Reds fomenting an uprising against Premier Salazar of Portugal . . . Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Within the brain of us all is an invisible nest, in which dreams are hatched. The literature of the world is the result of dreams, born and nourished to full maturity. Every advance in science, every development from pioneering, in fact every forward step in civilization, where the world has benefitted, has been the result of some dream—enacted, and made a permanent contribution to all that has gone before.

Lord Northcliffe, the great English publisher, at the height of his fame walked by the conservative London Times, and determined then and there that he would sometime own that world-famous newspaper. It was but a dream—but it came true!

Edison had a great nest of dreams, that hatched an almost endless number of worth-while and useful inventions that have been a blessing to all mankind. That small "horseless" buggy that Henry Ford drove about a few blocks of Detroit streets was a dream that expanded until he created an empire that has astounded the world. And his brain has forever been a nesting place for dreams that have come true.

They called Fulton, Westinghouse, the Wrights, and Bell all dreamers. But all their dreams matured beyond all speculation at the time. The fact is that this world owes all its great benefits to dreamers. Dreamers who think, experiment, and who never give up. They called Lindbergh's trip to Paris a "stunt." But today no one refers to daily air trips to all parts of the world as stunts. And air travel is but in its infancy. A letter came to my desk from Honolulu in three days by air, this week. Postmarked the third day in New York City!

Things being dreamed out in plastic are going to revolutionize the manufacture of thousands of articles. A year or so ago I viewed an automobile alomst exclusively made from plastic material. The dream nest in scores of minds is now filled with unborn possibilities, yet to be revealed, which will amaze us all.

The future engineers of the world are now playing with their blocks and toys—building nests from which dreams are to be born later on.

Never discount the talk of a dreamer. Never sell him short. Henry Ford had no money with which to gain the services of lawyers and others, essential to his early plans for the building of a plant for the production of his dream child of an automobile—so he gave them stock — later making them all millionaires and buying back their stock!

Take care of that dream nest of yours. Let no one despoil it with sneers or signs of discouragement. Nurture that nest. It's God-given. Surround it with an unconquerable courage.

From the dream nests of many minds has come this world organization of the UN. May it prove to be the one "best hope of earth" — and, in the words of the writer John Galsworthy, "a bugle call, carrying Peace o'er valleys and cold hills for ever!"

Deceptive Financing Will Not Balance U. S. Budget

Believe it or not, the public debt was reduced by a cool $2,000,000,000 with the dawn of November. On the first of this month, $3,778,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness fell due, and the Treasury replaced them by only $1,778,000,000 in new certificates.

But there is no occasion for jubilance and for rushing to the conclusion that the government has rolled up a little surplus of $2,000,000,000. Not at all. The amount was drawn out of the balance which the Treasury keeps in its general fund. Although the public debt decreased by $2,000,000,000, so did the treasury's working balance. All that is saved is the interest.

As a matter of fact, the government has had a slight deficit so far during this fiscal year. A surplus for the year was shown for some days during September, but that was a month of heavy income tax payments for the quarter-year.

The general fund in the Treasury now has a cash balance of slightly over $8,000,000,000. That should be subtracted from the gross public debt of $264,000,000,000, to bring it down to a net of $256,000,000,000. The limit now fixed by law is $275,000,000,000.

The maximum debt rolled up as a result of World War I was a little more than $26,000,000,000. This was cut by approximately one-third by the time of the depression of 1929. Now some authorities believe that the present debt will never be reduced very much, and that the United States will carry it indefinitely, as Great Britain did with her World War I debt. In that case, interest payments on the debt alone would approximate the total cost of the federal government in 1939.

All of this reminds us that after a period of off again, on again backing and filling, the Truman administration has thrown in the sponge in the effort to balance the budget. The left wingers always have opposed all moves to this end.

It seems that the political philosophy of spend and spend, elect and elect has taken too thorough a hold. Democratic leaders, appraised by their followers of the national wave of public resentment against them, have become panic-stricken and are reverting to the theory that the only way to appease the wild populace is to hand out more bread and circuses.

There is only one method to balance the federal budget, and that is by closing out the bureaus responsible for the spending and sloughing off a million and a half government employes. Employers are begging for more help to enable them to increase production. Uprooting these employes from the payroll would be a kindness to them. It would have the result of transferring them to private enterprise, which offers far more opportunities than are to be found on the government payroll.

And higher production by private enterprise would have an infinitely greater stabilizing influence than has been exerted by bureaucratic edicts handed out by Washington. The only tangible result of these has been to add to the national mess. The nation faces the alternative of increasing production and thus increasing the purchasing power of the dollar or of continuing government interference and thus toying with a dangerous economic situation.

It will be easy to balance the budget, pay off the public debt and initiate an era of real prosperity by canceling the war powers and winding up the spending agencies with their hundreds of thousands of employes. The nation must take this step and the longer it is deferred, the harder it will be for every citizen. But the vacillating Truman will not take it. The nation's only hope is in a Republican congress.

It won't be necessary for Stalin to sit up all night to get the bad news from the United States on November 5. Because of the difference in time zones, election returns will be getting hot when he's eating breakfast.

Eyes On California In Tuesday's Election

New York's majority for Dewey and Ohio's for Bricker, both of which it is conceded will be sizeable, will be watched no more closely than the election returns from California. Should the Republicans in 1948 be averse to breaking their tradition not to renominate a loser, sending the Dewey presidential star into an eclipse, Governor Warren of California will be very much in the running.

Warren's feat in romping off with the Democratic as well as the Republican nominations in the primary amazed the nation. Not in the memory of living voters has a man in a great state eliminated all competition for the governorship in the primary. His prestige will be further improved by the success of the Republican ticket in California. The main fight is to elect Knowland to the United States Senate.

The Democrats installed James Roosevelt as state chairman after Warren's feat in capturing the Democratic nomination for governor. He has been putting in all his time in an attempt to elect the Democratic nominee, Will Rogers, Jr., to the Senate. Warren has been campaigning for Knowland. A few weeks ago it appeared that Rogers, an extreme left winger like Jim Roosevelt, had a chance. But the Wallace episode and Moscow's endorsement of PAC candidates —Rogers is one—wrought havoc in the Rogers campaign.

Republican sentiment in California has made overwhelming gains in line with those in other states. The GOP now is expected to elect Knowland and to gain two to four seats in the California delegation in the House.

BEDWETTING AS A BEHAVIOR PROBLEM

NOTHING is more exasperating to parents than lack of success in teaching their offspring bladder control. As a rule, by the end of a year and a half, the youngster begins to sleep thru the night without wetting the bed. Some need a longer period—up to 36 months.

The small percentage who are unable to regulate the process after this time often create an embarrassing problem. Enuresis is most common in children but the experiences of our medical officers in the last war showed that a larger number of adults are victims than we suspected.

Many physical and mental factors are to blame and the longer the situation continues, the more complex it becomes. A sympathetic and rational plan will be of greater value than ridicule and punishment. Such measures are tried too often and after they become an old story the sufferer develops an indifferent attitude toward the whole affair.

In many instances a disorder in the kidneys or bladder is the basis of trouble. Sometimes a birth defect is present or irritation from infection or uncleanliness. Now and then the youngster is malnourished or has not been given sufficient training. The little one may be drinking too much after 5 p. m. and occasionally the liquids contain substances which stimulate the kidneys. The tot often plays too hard before retiring and goes into a comalike sleep from which the urge to void will not waken him.

More frequently the cause is deep-seated and related to the personality development of the youngster. Many are unhappy or dejected and have a feeling of inferiority. They may be sensitive to teasing or subject to temper tantrums. Others just lack the will to try to do better and a few are feebleminded. In some instances, the parents are to blame.

Recently Crandall told of the method which he used to help boys in a military academy to overcome the defect. It worked in all but two of 15 difficult cases. Fluids were forbidden after the evening meal but the lads were encouraged to eat three or four salty crackers or popcorn before retiring in an attempt to force retention of fluid in the tissues. Raw apples, canned fish, candy, ice cream, pepper, and other condiments, coffee, tea, cocoa, and cola drinks were out of bounds. The beverages were omitted because of their stimulating effect but the only reason why the foods were denied was to deprive the youngster of some of his pleasures.

In order to aid in establishing bladder control, each patient was told to pinch his arm or leg every time he needed to void during the day; then to wait several minutes, or as long as he could, before going to the bathroom. In order to wake up by himself at 11:30 at night, a variation of Coue's repetitious strain, "Every day in every way I am getting better and better" was tried. The chap had to repeat in a singsong whisper before falling to sleep: "I am going to wake up at — o'clock."

Roughhousing before bedtime was not permitted. In addition, sleeping in a cold room with heavy bedcovers was avoided. It was felt that the child should asume responsibility for his inconvenient habit; hence he was asked to launder his soiled clothing.

ODOROUS PERSPIRATION

Mrs. W. writes: My two children, 19 and 21, are clean about their persons but their feet have a very bad odor. Perspiration is excessive. What can they do?

REPLY

There is considerable disagreement on whether this unpleasant condition is due to the fact that human beings now wear shoes and hose. Some believe that a microorganism contained in perspiration is responsible. Various preparations are on the market to reduce the amount of sweat. In a few cases, X-ray treatment, given by an expert, may be necessary.

AS OLD AS THE HILLS

REPLY

I would guess that prehistoric man consumed his vitamins even tho he didn't realize it. They have always been there, but it was not until late in the 19th century that scientists discovered their presence. The word itself was coined in 1912 by Casimir Funk.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Let's Take a Careful Look At Some Of The Republican Candidates; Democrats Have Been Spotlighted a Long Time; How Wealthy Families Influence Elections

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. — One healthy thing about a democracy is that it puts its public servants under intense public scrutiny. If the investigating committees of Congress and the newspapermen of Washington are on their toes, they can usually ferret out the things that are bad about a Congressman, while the good things shine out on their own like a beacon light.

Thus the shocking war-contract operations of Mississippi's Senator Bilbo, the amazing war lobbying of Kentucky's Congressman May, the cotton speculation of Senator Elmer Thomas' family—all Democrats—are now well known.

But one of democracy's difficulties is that an electorate frequently does not have time to scrutinize a new candidate before he is swept into office.

Last week, for instance, this column called attention to the fact that GOP candidate Fred Danner of Akron, Ohio, now seeking to draw pay from the Federal Government as a Congressman, had not thought enough of his Federal Government to pay it taxes during 1939, 1940 and 1941.

However, this column was remiss. It was not able at that time to dig up all the facts. Here are some more:

Despite Mr. Danner's three-year rebellion against paying his own taxes, he was quite eager to print income tax blanks for other people to pay theirs. His printing office has just about finished printing $2,334,000 worth of income tax blanks for the Federal Government.

Mr. Danner also was able to get another nice contract from the Treasury Department despite his hesitation about paying it taxes. Last year he printed a million and a half illustrated war-bond promotion books which the Treasury sent out to school children in order to educate them about their Government, its bonds and its finances.

Thus while loath to pay taxes, candidate Danner was not loath to profit from money raised through other people's taxes.

Did Danner Cover Up?

And here are some further interesting facts about the Ohio candidate for Congress which the average voter hasn't time to investigate. When Danner ran in the GOP primaries, he listed Dorothy Keck as contributing $200. That is a sizable gift—especially since Miss Keck at that time was unemployed and had even gone to Uncle Sam to get $17 a week unemployment compensation.

Danner also listed John Lebedoff as giving him $500—another sizable contribution, especially since his family appeared so hard up that Mrs. Lebedoff at that time was drawing $19 a week unemployment compensation. Furthermore neither Lebedoff nor his wife, though supposedly so strong for Danner that they gave him $500, took the trouble to vote for him.

Danner also listed $250 from M. G. Pazder, $250 from Art Burns, and $250 from Fred J. Johnson. Again these are sizable contributions. Yet these three men who allegedly gave $750 between them didn't care enough about Danner to go out and vote for him.

Danner also listed a $250 gift from Ted Furdyn. It seems strange, however, that Mr. Furdyn should give this much money to a Republican, when the records show he voted the Democratic ticket.

These facts naturally raise the question as to whether the above people really contributed the money Danner said they did, or were they just "cover-ups."

NOTE—Personally, this columnist has nothing against Mr. Danner, merely reports the above as an illustration of how Congressional candidates need to be scrutinized in every district—before Election Day, not afterward. If this column had the time to investigate each candidate and state, it would gladly do so. Unfortunately, it can't. Unfortunately also, some local newspapers which could dig out the facts, don't.

Wealth vs. Labor

Some people have asked why I have focused attention on the large amounts of cash thrown into election districts by GOP leader, Joe Pew, the big Pennsylvania oil man. Isn't the money spent by PAC, they ask, just as bad?

The answer is: 1. It was tremendous amounts of cash spent by the Mellons, the Pews, the Rockefellers, et al, which finally inspired labor unions to get into political campaigns themselves. Labor didn't originate the idea. 2. While large amounts of money in any campaign are bad it's only fair to show what both sides are doing.

In regard to this, few people have the time and money to check on large personal campaign contributions. To go over the long list of names filed in various state campaigns and with the Clerk of the House of Representatives takes days of stenographic work. It's also a difficult job to trace the relatives and in-laws of all the families who contribute. The individual voter simply cannot do it.

The last time this column did it, however (1940), the results were amazing. The duPont family was shown to be contributing the grand total of $186,780 to the Republican party. The Hatch Act, of course, makes it illegal for one individual to contribute more than $5,000 to one political group. But violation of the law was avoided, first, by getting all the aunts and uncles and the cousins of the duPonts to contribute; second, by contributing to different state campaigns.

The powerful Pennsylvania Pew family, which operates Sun Oil, the Sun Ship Company, the Pathfinder, The Farm Journal and various other trade publications, donated the huge total of $108,525; the Alfred P. Sloan family of General Motors put up $36,000; the wealthy Widener family of Philadelphia gave $24,750; the Queeny family of St. Louis, which operates Monsanto Chemical, dug up $42,375; while the Pitcairn family of Pennsylvania which manufactures auto-giros, sweetened the Republican kitty with $29,114.71.

All in all, about ten powerful Republican families tossed in about $1,000,000. And you can take your pick as to whether it's healthier to have ten families dominate one party or to have $1 contributions from about 20,000,000 families in organized labor dominate the other.

NOTE—Donations by PAC are openly recorded, not camouflaged under a maze of relatives and in-laws.

Big Money In South Dakota

Congressman Karl Mundt, South Dakota Republican, was speaking before an AVC group in Huron, S.D., which quizzed him about GOP money sent into South Dakota all the way from Pennsylvania and Delaware by the Pew and duPont families. Mundt was asked specifically about references to Pew and duPont contributions previously reported in this column.

"Sometimes Drew Pearson tells the truth," the Congressman told the veterans, "and sometimes he doesn't tell the truth. President Roosevelt called him a chronic liar, but I don't think he is quite that bad."

Regardless of this column's veracity, however, the records of South Dakota contributions are not subject to debate. They are a matter of official record in the files of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in which Congressman Mundt sits. As previously reported in this column, these files show that in 1942 the duPponts, Mellons, Pews, Col. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, Ira Copley of the Copley Press, Max E. Jarman of the General Shoe Company, contributed a total of $53,700 to Senator Bushfield's re-election in South Dakota.

Decentralization Of Power Becomes Strong U. S. Trend

By MARK SULLIVAN

Two conspicuous events are strong evidence of a trend in the United States which bears on the world. One, taking place at Washington, is abandonment of most of the activities of the Office of Price Administration, to be followed by abandonment of more, and to be followed also by retreat from government controls generally, including control over wages.

The other event took place within the United Nations. It was abandonment (for the present certainly) by a U. N. appendage, its Food and Agricultural Organization, of a monumental plan for control of agriculture on a worldwide basis.

About FAO, although there has been much discussion in high places, the public has grasped little. Had it gone on to fruition it would ultimately have affected every American farmer. The plan was for control, by an international organization, of supplies of food crops and prices of them. It was spoken of by a member of FAO, who ultimately opposed the plan, as "International Organization Joseph", meaning that FAO would imitate and expand on a world basis the plan of the Biblical Joseph about stabilizing food. Another phrase sometimes used about the FAO plan was "Ever Normal World Granary." That was an adaptation of a phrase used about the early attempt of Mr. Henry A. Wallace, when Secretary of Agriculture, to control agriculture in the United States.

Wallace Plan Recalled

Mr. Wallace's plan, as it advanced and encountered difficulties, entailed extraordinary steps, including on one occasion destroying young pigs and mother pigs in order to raise the price of pork, calling on cotton raisers to plow under one row out of every four; limiting the acreage wheat raisers could plant and sell, and putting upon them a penalty of about half the value of the wheat if they tried to sell more than the government had fixed as their quotas.

Recollection of America's experience with an attempt to control agriculture within a single nation may have been the reason the American delegate to FAO dissented from the plan on a world wide basis. The reason given for our dissent included a statement of the difficulties inherent in practical operation of such a plan. Our dissent ended the plan for the time being.

Dissent from centralization of power has become recently a strong trend in the United States. The tendency is toward reduction of the power of government, on any level, over the individual; and, where power is left in government, decentralization of it toward smaller units of government, close to the people.

Since the beginning of the Roosevelt Administration in 1933, there had been two prevailing characteristics. One was, an immence increase in the authority of government over the citizen; the other a large transfer of powers and functions of government from the states, in which they formerly were, to the Federal government at Washington.

Congress-Truman Cleavage

Resistance to the former trend toward centralization of power at Washington was a large cause of the cleavage between Congress and President Truman. Mr. Truman sent to Congress measures calling for still greater extension, and Congress refused to enact them. Congress went further, it took away from the Federal government powers which the Federal government had taken over from the states.

Before the war, public employment agencies were carried on by the states. With the beginning of the war this function was taken from the states and was operated by the Federal government, as the United States Employment Service. President Truman recommended that operation by the Federal government be continued to a future dates which he named. Congress wanted a quicker return to the

Bald Untruths And Misleading Statements Laid To Democrats

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Some question is arising concerning the sincerity of the Truman administration in maintaining a nonpartisan foreign policy.

The question is whether the administration, although professing to seek the cooperation of the Republican party, i snot actually engaged in undermining that self-same cooperation.

The administration controls the Democratic National Committee. The national chairman is a member of the cabinet of President Truman. Yet in a radio address Chairman Robert E. Hannegan uses the following language:

"Do you know Mr. and Mrs. America that a vote for the Republican candidate in your state is also a vote for Taft of Ohio? That it is a vote to supplant Alben Barkley as the Senate majority leader? And when you vote for Taft, do you know what you are voting for?

"If you r son fought for the defeat of Hitler in the late war, then you should know that Taft said: 'I believe we could have a negotiated peace with a Hitler dominant on the continent.'

"If you believe world cooperation is our only hope of avoiding World War III, then you should know that Taft voted against American participation in the United Nations"

Last Bald Untruth

The last statement is a bald untruth and quibble. Senator Taft did not vote against American participation in the United Nations. He voted for it. He, along with other members of the Senate, opposed using armed forces without the consent of Congress but the Democratic national chairman does not make that point or mention the Democrats who took that view.

The broad accusation that "a vote for the Republican candidate in your state is also a vote for Taft" is also a misleading statement. The assumption that Taft will be chosen leade rof the Senate is by no means agreed to by those who know the situation in the Senate. Certainly neither the majority nor the minority leader controls the votes of individual senators on foreign policy. It is a manifest twisting of the trut hto say, that in every state where Republican candidates for senator are running, a vote for them is a vote for Taft or an affirmation of the views Taft has expressed about Germany or anything else. It is unfair to men like Col. Lodge, Republican nominee in Massachusetts, who just took off his uniform and unfair to Senator H. Alexander Smith, Republican in New Jersey, whose record in world cooperation in the Senate has been unexampled. It is unfair with respect to many other Republican nominees as well.

But the attack by the Democratic national chairman is only part of the display of bad faith which the administration is showing toward the Republican party, whose cooperation its makes so much of when it addresses foreign nations. It will be recalled, for instance, that Henry Wallace was dismissed from the Cabinet by Perisdent Truman for attackin gthe bi-partisan foreign policy of the administration. It will be recalled also that the country was advised that the President sided with Secretary Byrnes and Senators Vandenberg, Republican, and Connally, Democrat, in their handling of foreign policy matters. Yet former Secretary Wallace is out making speeches with the blessing of the Democratic National Committee. In one of his western speeches this week, Mr. Wallace said:

"I refuse to think that Secretary Byrnes and the State Department would have gone so far in risking war fith Russia if they had not been needled into it by Senator Vandenberg and the military."

Classes Truman Prevaricator

This is an indirect way of calling President Truman a prevaricator, for Mr. Truman has asserted that the United States is not engaged in any such role in our relations with Russia and that the foregin policy of the United States is made by him and Secretary Byrnes. Why does the Democratic National Committee continue to sponsor speeches by former Secretary Wallace unless it wishes to benefit from his attacks on the Republican Party in those states where left-wing support is being sought by the administration?

Mr. Hannegan denounces Communistic support at the same time the Democratic National Committee is evidently not adverse to gathering votes through the Wallace speeches among the Communistic elements in America to whom those speeches make persuasive appeal.

The congressional campaign does not reflect credit on the leaders of the Democratic party. The blunders being made will only lead to bad feeling when Congress reconvenes and may conceivably hurt the bi-partisan cooperation which is so essential to the success of America's policies in world affairs.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

For the interesting if true department: President Truman not only will make several Cabinet changes after election (despite recent stories to the contrary), but will toss out some of those "advisers", who've been steering him up one-way streets. After which, he will concentrate on trying to be the country's best President, regardless of 1948 politics. On Tuesday of this week, Joseph Stalin was on some mystery mission outside the borders of the Soviet Union—probably inspecting Russian occupation forces in "liberated" countries . . . If the present anti-Democratic trend continues Hank Wallace will settle for running for Senator instead of President or Vice President in '48 . . . The Department of Justice investigation of a New York political candidate stymied until after election.

Uncle Sam pondering the possibility of bringing "moral turpitude" charges against a recent and attractive overseas visitor . . . A "Hucksters" type of book soon coming out on a State Department career man, naming names, etc. . . . Federal Communications Commission to start a mild uproar by recommending cut rates for political talks . . . Kenneth Royall, Undersecretary of War, resigning to practice law in Raleigh, N. C. . . . Some 25 high-ranking jobs in Washington to be filled after election, mostly by lame-duck Congressmen . . . New headlines brewing on the clash between Homer Rainey, defeated Texas gubernatorial candidate, and the Elliott Roosevelt radio interest . . . Elliott, incidentally, supposed to be taking off for Russia tomorrow.

The CIO-P.A.C. setup to bust wide open next month . . . Reds fomenting an uprising against Premier Salazar of Portugal . . . That United Press story on a magazine's tale of a Soviet city called "Atomgrad" said to be the brain child of an ex-magazine editor who enjoys practical jokes . . . A civil war, now going on in one of the nation's largest booking agencies, to result in mass resignations . . . Add oddities: A paid advertisement in the N. Y. Times reads: "Creator: Our client was the founding executive editor of the national CIO-P.A.C. He created, devised, and executed the original P.A.C. public-media concepts. Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Within the brain of us all is an invisible nest, in which dreams are hatched. The literature of the world is the result of dreams, born and nourished to full maturity. Every advance in science, every development from pioneering, in fact every forward step in civilization, where the world has benefitted, has been the result of some dream—enacted, and made a permanent contribution to all that has gone before.

Lord Northcliffe, the great English publisher, at the height of his fame walked by the conservative London Times, and determined then and there that he would sometime own that world-famous newspaper. It was but a dream—but it came true!

Edison had a great nest of dreams, that hatched an almost endless number of worth-while and useful inventions that have been a blessing to all mankind. That small "horseless" buggy that Henry Ford drove about a few blocks of Detroit streets was a dream that expanded until he created an empire that has astounded the world. And his brain has forever been a nesting place for dreams that have come true.

They called Fulton, Westinghouse, the Wrights, and Bell all dreamers. But all their dreams matured beyond all speculation at the time. The fact is that this world owes all its great benefits to dreamers. Dreamers who think, experiment, and who never give up. They called Lindbergh's trip to Paris a "stunt." But today no one refers to daily air trips to all parts of the world as stunts. And air travel is but in its infancy. A letter came to my desk from Honolulu in three days by air, this week. Postmarked the third day in New York City!

Things being dreamed out in plastic are going to revolutionize the manufacture of thousands of articles. A year or so ago I viewed an automobile alomst exclusively made from plastic material. The dream nest in scores of minds is now filled with unborn possibilities, yet to be revealed, which will amaze us all.

The future engineers of the world are now playing with their blocks and toys—building nests from which dreams are to be born later on.

Never discount the talk of a dreamer. Never sell him short. Henry Ford had no money with which to gain the services of lawyers and others, essential to his early plans for the building of a plant for the production of his dream child of an automobile—so he gave them stock — later making them all millionaires and buying back their stock!

Take care of that dream nest of yours. Let no one despoil it with sneers or signs of discouragement. Nurture that nest. It's God-given. Surround it with an unconquerable courage.

From the dream nests of many minds has come this world organization of the UN. May it prove to be the one "best hope of earth" — and, in the words of the writer John Galsworthy, "a bugle call, carrying Peace o'er valleys and cold hills for ever!"

Charles Sperling Placed Under Bond Until January Term

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 1—Charles Sperling, resident of Cabin Run district near Keyser, who was indicted at this term of court for malicious threats against Claude Rice, Keyser, West Virginia game protector, appeared in court at 10:30 a. m. today and was released under $500 bond for his appearance on the first day of January 1947 term of court.

Council for Sperling took exception to the form of the indictment against his client and asked that it be set aside. Judge Ernest See granted the request, but held Sperling under bond to answer any indictment that may be brought by a grand jury at a subsequent date.

The charge against Sperling was that of threatening to shoot the game protector. While patrolling the hunting grounds on Knobley mountain Rice met Sperling who at the point of his gun forced him to leave the woods. Rice immediately made complaint and the indictment by the grand jury was returned. The indictment was set aside because the specific allegations did not agree with the facts as they were generally understood.

Shannon Paroled

The case of John Cletus Shannon, a returned veteran, for the theft of a Ford car from Samuel O. Bosley in August 1946, was called for trial. However, before a jury was empaneled, and after a consultation between state and defense counsel, Shannon entered a plea of guilty.

Judge See placed his sentence at from one to 10 years in the penitentiary, and placed the defendant under a four-year parole. He is also required to pay the costs of his case by the first day of the next term of court and also pay to Samuel O. Bosley for damages to his car, the sum of $300 to be paid in monthly installments of $15, the first to be paid by November 30, 1946.

Johnson Case Dropped

Constable Charles Johnson, who was indicted at this term of court along with his sons Paul and Charles, for malicious assault upon Leonard Kimble, leaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery.

It was explained to the court by Emory Tyler, counsel for Johnson, that the alleged assault occurred when Johnson attempted to arrest Kimble who while in an intoxicated condition was disturbing the peace. Kimble resisted arrest and force was necessary to subdue him, he said.

In making the arrest Johnson had called upon one of his sons to assist him, and the other son had no part in the arrest at all, he claimed. Also while Johnson was making the arrest Kimble fell over a bread box in the store of Webster Utta where the arrest was made, and cut his head.

Tyler further stated that the only offense that could be charged was that of using unwarranted and unnecessary force in subduing the offender. With that explanation and with the agreement of Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, the court stated such a plea would be accepted, though no order was entered.

In discussing his plea Johnson had agreed to pay damages to Kimble for injuries received. H. R. Athey, attorney for Kimble, explained that a settlement between his client and Johnson would be made outside of court.

Brantner Case

Charles P. Brantner was indicted at this term of court for the theft of a sum of money from Clement Reed. Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, stated to the court that Reed no longer desired to appear against Brantner, and without his testimony he would not be able to try the case. Brantner and Reed were ordered to appear in court before the case is disposed of.

Personals

Mrs. Iona Jackson of Keyser, Mrs. Martha McDowell, Bismark, and Mrs. Kathleen Duckworth, Westernport, have been admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital.

Joe Hodgson, Charleston, is spending several days with friends in Keyser. He will return to Charleston after the election.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard McFarland came up from Baltimore to spend the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McFarland, and her sister Mrs. John H. Dean.

REGULAR MEETING CHANGED

The next regular meeting of Local No. 26, URCLPWA will be held Sunday, November 3rd at 2:30 p. m. in the local union hall, 12 S. Mechanic Street.

The meeting date was changed to make it possible for all members to attend.

This meeting is important for the following reasons:

1. Nominations will be opened at this meeting for all local union offices for the coming year.

Hamrick School Raises Money For Lunch Room

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, Oct. 31—Earl Corcoran, principal of the Hamrick grade school stated that $205 was netted on the large social held in the school there this week, which will be used toward erecting a dining room for the students of that school.

The 150 students eating at the hot lunch program have only a narrow hall in which to eat. Mr. Corcoran in co-operation with the fathers in the towns of Hambleton and Hendricks will excavate the basement and cement a large floor which will be 30 feet wide and 80 feet long.

The school will also be aided by the members of the Hambleton-Hendricks English club and the Parent-Teacher association. During the social more than 20 cakes were sold and given away by winners in the cake walks.

Approximately 600 attended from the two towns. H. Clay Long, farmer of Blackman's Flats donated more than 20 bushels of apples which were used to make fresh cider for the evening's entertainment. Moving pictures, cake walks, bingo, fish ponds, fortune telling and other entertainment was furnished to help raise the large proceeds realized on that evening.

Pfc. Dumire To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest O. Williams, Holegate, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred Rose, to Pfc. Robert Lee Dumire, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dumire, St. George.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Holegate High School and is at present employed as a stenographer for the United States Department of Agriculture, Farm Security Administration in Indianapolis, Ind.

Pfc. Dumire attended Parsons High School and has been with the U. S. Army for the past 18 months. Upon his release in November he will enroll in a mechanical school in Indianapolis, Ind. He is at present stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

No date for the wedding has been set.

2 Births Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fansler, Hendricks, announce the birth of a son weighing seven pounds and eight ounces in the Tucker County Hospital on October 18. This is their first child and has been named Phillip Floyd. The mother is the former Dovie Goodin of Hendricks and the father is employed by the Davis Coal and Coke Company as a telephone linesman. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mitchell, Hambleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kyle Bland, Thomas, announce the birth of a son on October 25 in an Elkins hospital. He weighed six pounds. This is their first child and has been named Charles Kyle, Jr. The mother is the former Margaret Louise Sines, Pierce, and the father is employed by the Davis Coal and Coke Company.

Miss Ray Married

The marriage of Miss Effie Ray, daughter of William Helmick, Clover Run, to Harry Long, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Long of Hershey, Pa., has been announced.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Helmick in Parsons, on Friday October 25 with Rev. Blair Burr, pastor of the United Brethren church, Parsons, officiating.

The bride wore a blue street length dress with white accessories. Mrs. Long attended school in Romney Va., and Mr. Long attended school in Philadelphia.

English Club Meets

The Parsons English club met in the club rooms of the Community Building on Friday night with Mrs. P. W. Smith, Mrs. Grover Hamrick, Mrs. Vernon E. Rightmire as hostesses. The program included a talk on the "Public Management" by Mrs. Frank Robinson and a reading by Mrs. P. W. Smith on "Control of Atomic Bomb." A vocal solo "The Slumber Boat" was sung by Miss Madonna Barr and a piano solo "Minuet by Mozart" was played by Miss Elizabeth Bennett to conclude the program, which was conducted by Mrs. H. U. Freeman.

During the business session the members voted to donate $20 toward the cost of the new Methodist Church at Montrose. Mrs. Beulah Nestor, Parsons, was welcomed into the club as a new member.

The social hour was conducted by Mrs. B. N. VanNoy.

states, and the disagreement led to a veto by Mr. Truman. In the end it was decided that the function should go back to the states November 15th, and this is about to take place. In the same spirit, Congress refused to enact a proposal of President Truman which Congress regarded as an intrusion of the Federal government on the states' management of unemployment insurance.

The tendency toward preserving the authority of the states, as against that of the Federal government, was illustrated last month by refusal of the Supreme Court to take jurisdiction over a case involving the method of voting in Georgia, units voting by counties.

The corresponding tendency, toward eliminating authority of the Federal government over the individual, is illustrated daily by the ending of price controls.

This strong American tendency toward immunity of the individual, and toward decentralization of government, will have to be taken account of.

Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox had 31 assists in the recent World Series to set a new 7-game series mark.

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 1—Charles Sperling, resident of Cabin Run district near Keyser, who was indicted at this term of court for malicious threats against Claude Rice, Keyser, West Virginia game protector, appeared in court at 10:30 a. m. today and was released under $500 bond for his appearance on the first day of January 1947 term of court.

Council for Sperling took exception to the form of the indictment against his client and asked that it be set aside. Judge Ernest See granted the request, but held Sperling under bond to answer any indictment that may be brought by a grand jury at a subsequent date.

The charge against Sperling was that of threatening to shoot the game protector. While patrolling the hunting grounds on Knobley mountain Rice met Sperling who at the point of his gun forced him to leave the woods. Rice immediately made complaint and the indictment by the grand jury was returned. The indictment was set aside because the specific allegations did not agree with the facts as they were generally understood.

Shannon Paroled

The case of John Cletus Shannon, a returned veteran, for the theft of a Ford car from Samuel O. Bosley in August 1946, was called for trial. However, before a jury was empaneled, and after a consultation between state and defense counsel, Shannon entered a plea of guilty.

Judge See placed his sentence at from one to 10 years in the penitentiary, and placed the defendant under a four-year parole. He is also required to pay the costs of his case by the first day of the next term of court and also pay to Samuel O. Bosley for damages to his car, the sum of $300 to be paid in monthly installments of $15, the first to be paid by November 30, 1946.

Johnson Case Dropped

Constable Charles Johnson, who was indicted at this term of court along with his sons Paul and Charles, for malicious assault upon Leonard Kimble, leaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery.

It was explained to the court by Emory Tyled, counsel for Johnson, that the alleged assault occurred when Johnson attempted to arrest Kimble who while in an intoxicated condition was disturbing the peace. Kimble resisted arrest and force was necessary to subdue him, he said.

In making the arrest Johnson had called upon one of his sons to assist him, and the other son had no part in the arrest at all, he claimed. Also while Johnson was making the arrest Kimble fell over a bread box in the store of Webster Utta where the arrest was made, and cut his head.

Tyler further stated that the only offense that could be charged was that of using unwarranted and unnecessary force in subduing the offender. With that explanation and with the agreement of Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, the court stated such a plea would be accepted, though no order was entered.

In discussing his plea Johnson had agreed to pay damages to Kimble for injuries received. H. R. Athey, attorney for Kimble, explained that a settlement between his client and Johnson would be made outside of court.

Brantner Case

Charles P. Brantner was indicted at this term of court for the theft of a sum of money from Clement Reed. Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, stated to the court that Reed no longer desired to appear against Brantner, and without his testimony he would not be able to try the case. Brantner and Reed were ordered to appear in court before the case is disposed of.

Personals

Mrs. Iona Jackson of Keyser, Mrs. Martha McDowell, Bismark, and Mrs. Kathleen Duckworth, Westernport, have been admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital.

Joe Hodgson, Charleston, is spending several days with friends in Keyser. He will return to Charleston after the election.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard McFarland came up from Baltimore to spend the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McFarland, and her sister Mrs. John H. Dean.

Joseph F. Watkins, Jr., To Wed Miss LeOra Eggleston

Ceremony To Be Performed At 12:30 Today In Emmanuel Church

Miss LeOra Irene Eggleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan F. Eggleston, 829 Braddock Road, will become the bride of Joseph Franklin Watkins, Jr., son of Mrs. Joseph F. Watkins, 123 Race street, and the late Mr. Watkins, today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 12:30 o'clock, in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, with Rev. David C. Watson officiating. Mrs. William Oswald will play a program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Frederick H. Canfield, Jr., New York, will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, and Karl Bachman will serve as Mr. Watkins' best man. Frederick Steiding, Lloyd Buchanan, Mortimer C. Schaidt, Jr., and Earl Gower will be the ushers.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, has chosen the traditional white satin for her wedding gown, with it she will wear a finger tip length veil and carry a prayer book, with gardenia marker.

Her matron of honor's gown is of gold bengaline, and her headdress will be a matching net Juliette cap, she will have matching accessories and her flowers will carry out the same bronze and yellow color scheme.

Mrs. Eggleston has chosen a soldier blue dress with beaded bodice, for her daughter's wedding, with it she will wear a grape and fuchsia colored hat and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Watkins' costume will be of teal blue and her corsage of shattered pink carnations and delphinium.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central High School, Springfield, Mass., and Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School, New York City. She was employed as secretary to J. E. Bludworth for five years at the local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, and served in the same capacity at the Texas plant, for approximately one year.

Mr. Watkins is a graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue High School and prior to World War II, he was employed for one and one half years on an engineering project in Persia. He is a veteran of 30 months army duty, serving two years in the European and Pacific theaters with the 1053rd Engineers. Since his discharge Mr. Watkins is associated with the Queen City Glass Company, LaVale.

Mr. and Mrs. Eggleston will entertain the families and intimate friends, at an informal reception, in honor of their daughter and her bridal party, at the Cumberland Country Club, following the ceremony. The all white color scheme will be carried out in the floral arrangements and the tiered wedding cake.

Upon their return from a southern wedding trip Mr. Watkins and his bride will be at home to their friends at 123 Race street, after December 1.

Carolyn Hale Is Entertained On 9th Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hale entertained in honor of their daughter, Carolyn, in celebration of her ninth birthday, last night at their home, Franklin street.

A green and white color scheme was carried out in the shower of streamers suspended from the chandelier to the refreshment table, the crepe paper covers over the lights and the streamers from the gifts hidden in a fish pond. It was also repeated in the decorations of the two birthday cakes, and the basket favors.

Truth and Consequence, fortunes in rhyme and other party games featured the entertainment.

R.W.S.C. Marks 10th Anniversary

A resume of the history of the Rural Women's Short Course during the ten years of it's existence, given by Mrs. Irene B. MacDonald and a silver color scheme in the decorations marked the tenth anniversary of the club at the dinner meeting held Thursday night at the Central YMCA. Covers were laid for 90 members.

The programs, napkin rings and place cards were hand painted silver to represent the tin anniversary of the club and decorated with sprays of bittersweet. They were made by Miss Mary Brengle. Green candles and sprays of bittersweet decorated the tables and an arrangement of chrysanthemums centered the head table.

The RWSC Club was organized May 2, 1936 with 27 members, Mrs. MacDonald reported. Its first officers were Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Robert Wilson, vice president and Mrs. W. L. Maddocks secretary-treasurer. Other officers included Mrs. Joseph A. Wheeler, Mrs Clarence Ort, Mrs Walter Smith, 1938-1939; Mrs. Robert W. Young, Mrs. John J. Tipton, Mrs. Willis Royce Hodges, Sr., 1940-1941; Mrs. Edward Lewis, Mrs. Edward Kilroy, Mrs. J. William Loar, Mrs. Lena Robinette and Mrs Harry J. Barton, 1942-1943; Mrs. Kilroy, Mrs. Loar, Mrs. William B. Lee, Mrs. Russell Hymes and Mrs. Barton, 1944-1945

Four year certificates have been received by 159 women; and 32 women have received pins for attending 8 years. Bertha Miller, Oldtown has a perfect attendance record.

RWSC Club presidents, who have held state office were Mrs. MacDonald, treasurer, 1938-1939; Mrs. Arthur Phillips, treasurer, 1942-1943; Mrs. Maddocks, president, 1940-1941; Mrs. Young, treasurer, 1946-1947.

Joseph F. Watkins, Jr., To Wed Miss LeOra Eggleston

Miss LeOra Irene Eggleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan F. Eggleston, 829 Braddock Road, will become the bride of Joseph Franklin Watkins, Jr., son of Mrs. Joseph P. Watkins, 123 Race street, and the late Mr. Watkins, today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 12:30 o'clock, in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, with Rev. David C. Watson officiating. Mrs. William Oswald will play a program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Frederick H. Canfield, Jr., New York, will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, and Karl Bachman will serve as Mr. Watkins' best man. Frederick Steiding, Lloyd Buchanan, Mortimer C. Schaidt, Jr., and Earl Gower will be the ushers.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, has chosen the traditional white satin for her wedding gown, with it she will wear a finger tip length veil and carry a prayer book, with gardenia marker.

Her matron of honor's gown is of gold bengaline, and her headdress will be a matching net Juliette cap, she will have matching accessories and her flowers will carry out the same bronze and yellow color scheme.

Mrs. Eggleston has chosen a soldier blue dress with beaded bodice, for her daughter's wedding, with it she will wear a grape and fuchsia colored hat and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Watkins' costume will be of teal blue and her corsage of shattered pink carnations and delphinium.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central High School, Springfield, Mass., and Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School, New York City. She was employed as secretary to J. E. Bludworth for five years at the local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, and served in the same capacity at the Texas plant, for approximately one year.

Mr. Watkins is a graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue High School and prior to World War II, he was employed for one and one half years on an engineering project in Persia. He is a veteran of 30 months army duty, serving two years in the European and Pacific theaters with the 1053rd Engineers. Since his discharge Mr. Watkins is associated with the Queen City Glass Company, LaVale.

Mr. and Mrs. Eggleston will entertain the families and intimate friends, at an informal reception, in honor of their daughter and her bridal party, at the Cumberland Country Club, following the ceremony. The all white color scheme will be carried out in the floral arrangements and the tiered wedding cake.

Upon their return from a southern wedding trip Mr. Watkins and his bride will be at home to their friends at 123 Race street, after December 1.

Carolyn Hale Is Entertained On 9th Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hale entertained in honor of their daughter, Carolyn, in celebration of her ninth birthday, last night at their home, Franklin street.

A green and white color scheme was carried out in the shower of streamers suspended from the chandelier to the refreshment table, the crepe paper covers over the lights and the streamers from the gifts hidden in a fish pond. It was also repeated in the decorations of the two birthday cakes, and the basket favors.

Truth and Consequence, fortunes in rhyme and other party games featured the entertainment.

R.W.S.C. Marks 10th Anniversary

A resume of the history of the Rural Women's Short Course during the ten years of it's existence, given by Mrs. Irene B. MacDonald and a silver color scheme in the decorations marked the tenth anniversary of the club at the dinner meeting held Thursday night at the Central YMCA. Covers were laid for 90 members.

The programs, napkin rings and place cards were hand painted silver to represent the tin anniversary of the club and decorated with sprays of bittersweet. They were made by Miss Mary Brengle. Green candles and sprays of bittersweet decorated the tables and an arrangement of chrysanthemums centered the head table.

The RWSC Club was organized May 2, 1936 with 27 members, Mrs. MacDonald reported. Its first officers were Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Robert Wilson, vice president and Mrs. W. L. Maddocks secretary-treasurer. Other officers included Mrs. Joseph A. Wheeler, Mrs Clarence Ort, Mrs Walter Smith, 1938-1939; Mrs. Robert W. Young, Mrs. John J. Tipton, Mrs. Willis Royce Hodges, Sr., 1940-1941; Mrs. Edward Lewis, Mrs. Edward Kilroy, Mrs. J. William Loar, Mrs. Lena Robinette and Mrs Harry J. Barton, 1942-1943; Mrs. Kilroy, Mrs. Loar, Mrs. William B. Lee, Mrs. Russell Hymes and Mrs. Barton, 1944-1945

Four year certificates have been received by 159 women; and 32 women have received pins for attending 8 years. Bertha Miller, Oldtown has a perfect attendance record.

RWSC Club presidents, who have held state office were Mrs. MacDonald, treasurer, 1938-1939; Mrs. Arthur Phillips, treasurer, 1942-1943; Mrs. Maddocks, president, 1940-1941; Mrs. Young, treasurer, 1946-1947.

Mrs. MacDonald also listed prominent speakers at College Park, as did Miss Anne Sloan, who was the principal speaker, and told of the benefits derived from attending the course.

Mrs. Maddocks presided; and the program opened with Mrs. Wheeler singing, "The Lord's Prayer," with Mrs. Richard Trevaskis at the piano; Mrs. Young gave a reading, "The House Of Lighted Lamps;" and Mrs. Barton led the group singing with Mrs. G. R. Golladay at the piano.

Mrs. B. C. Robinette president of the county council, presented the pins to the 16 graduates of 1946.

The business session will be held in April.

Scout's Own To End Girl Scout Week Tomorrow At 3

Although the Girl Scouts have had different kinds of services at the end of Girl Scout week during the past two years, the "Scout's Own" program at 3, tomorrow, at West Side School will be the first service in which no adult, except the adult speaker, will take part.

The master of ceremonies will be the intermediate scout, Luella Heineman of Girl Scout Troop 2, Mary Puderbaugh, a senior scout, will read a special prayer and eight brownies from Troop 32 will dramatize an East Indian legend, "The Weeping Weaver Woman."

Miss Jean Cory, College Park, will be the guest speaker. A student at the University of Maryland, senior Girl Scout, and troop leader at College Park, Miss Cory went to England last summer with the International Group, on a Juliette Low scholarship. The group took its own food and equipment and camped with the English Girl Guides. Her talk will deal with her experiences in England.

Opening with the group singing of the "Hym of Scouting," the program will include the welcome by Luella Heineman; a color ceremony with Margaret Spioch, Frances Yearger and Grace Nagle forming the color guard; thep ledge of allegiance, the Brownie Promise, Girl Scout Promise, and Girl Scout Laws repeated in unison; an international prayer, by Mary Puderbaugh and the group singing of "America the Beautiful," "Girl Scouts Together," "Now the Day Is Over," and the recessional "Hail To the Scouts," by the entire group led by the Choral Group, under the direction of Miss Mary Robb.

Taps will be given by the Choral Group and echoed by all the scouts. The program was planned by Miss Mary Shriver and Mrs. Patrick Hogan, Public Relations committee, assisted by Mrs. A. M. Spioch and Mrs. A. N. Correll.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1—When Kay St. Germaine went to court to divorce Jack Carson, she just wouldn't call him cruel, nor any of the uncomplimentary phrases necessary to obtain a decree. So after the judge dismissed the case for lack of proper evidence, all the Carson's friends were hopeful they would reconcile. So far nothing has happened even though Jack's friends say he isn't as happy over his freedom as he expected to be.

Meanwhile, he and Dennis Morgan continue on as a movie team, a goofy, inseparable pair—good friends both on and off the screen—with Janis Paige and Martha Vickers as their movie girl friends. Today I was told that "Two Guys From Texas" is one of this quartet's next movies. It's a sequel, actually, to "Two Guys From Milwaukee" and takes the four from the home of schnaps to the deep south. Again David Butler will direct and Alex Gottlieb will produce, and strictly (cq) between us, the "Milwaukee" epic is doing all right—at least, that's what Jack Warner says—that's what the man says.

Just talked with Arthur Freed who is leaving for New York Saturday. He's going to confer with Oscar Hammerstein II, about making a picture based on the biography of Oscar's grandfather, the first Oscar Hammerstein. What a wealth of material about this fabulous character who, at the turn of the century, built the Manhattan Opera House to buck the Metropolitan, bought Covent Gardens in London, built the Victoria Theater, and went broke. Oscar the first also discovered a lot of important people, among them the Dolly Sisters. This ought to be really a good musical.

Both Claude Rains and Arch Oboler were leary about having "Strange Holiday" open at the Mayan Theater as its first attraction. It's been a legitimate theater for many years, Arch told me, "at the time we made the film we felt it was very good, but that was in the first year of the war, and since that time both Claude and I have improved, especially Claude, who has become one of the top actors. As for the reports that I am going to sue because PRC showed it—that's untrue, because I am a mild man. "Strange Holiday," although only an hour long, holds up extremely well, maybe because it is so short. No, I won't get on my soapbox and start to harangue against the overlong films—I have talked enough about that already.

New York, here he comes! Larry Parks, who played Al Jolson in "The Jolson Story," is flying to the big town to make a public appearance at Radio City Music Hall when "Jolson" is playing and to give the New York scribes the chance to interview him. For the first time in history of man Harry Cohn is interrupting a picture to let Larry fly east. He'll only stay from Saturday to Wednesday. While there he'll have a chance to see his wife Betty Garrett, who is in "Call Me Mister" and to let the newspaper scribes who have been curious about this boy who stepped out from the nowhere into the limelight, get a look-see. Larry is such a nice boy that everyone in Hollywood is happy for his success.

Chatter in Hollywood: Ava Gardner who was crazy about Artie Shaw, and would have stuck it out with that temperamental baby if he had given her half a chance, continues to have music in her life. She's been out four nights in a row with Jerry Wald, the band leader, a musician Artie particularly dislikes because it's said Jerry imitates Shaw's style on the clarinet. Far be it from me to hint that's the reason Ava's stepping out with him. Torch toting or not, Ava's career has never been brighter. She is one of the girls tested for Jinny in "Cass Timberlake" in case it can't be arranged for Vivien Leigh. It's a big assignment, but the Gardner girl killed 'em in "The Killers."

The official New York greeter and best dressed man on everyone's list, Grover A. Whalen, arrives in Hollywood November 19. Grover sends me a wire asking me to select the 10 film actresses who in my opinion symbolize the modern incarnation of the nine famous muses of Greek mythology, plus a tenth modern muse who best represents the glamor of Hollywood. Going into my mythology, that means Urania—muse of astronomy, Caliope—muse of eloquence and heroic poetry, Erato—muse of love, Euterpe—muse of music, Melpomene—muse of tragedy, Polinymnia—muse of sacred song, Terpsichore—muse of dance, Thalia—muse of comedy and pastoral, and Clio—muse of history. P. S. Haven't had time to do this casting. Any ideas?

Pardon me. I said yesterday that Sir Alexander Korda is going to made "Middle Window," possibly with David Niven. Sorry I listened to someone who apparently didn't know what he is talking about. Whitney Bolton owns the rights to "Middle Window." Whitney, who is now at the Samuel Goldwyn Studio, says he isn't adverse to selling the rights to Elizabeth Goudge's book, providing he gets his price. So if Sir Alex wants the Goudge novel—well, all he has to do is buy it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The nursery Eleanor Parker and Bert Friedlob were planning will not be occupied immediately. Eleanor, who expected a baby lost it . . . The mother of Steve Crane passed away in Crawfordsvill, Indiana, over a week ago. Steve went east and is remaining to settle her estate . . . Rosalind Russell who was so good on my program Sunday—we have had letters and telephone calls galore—is leaving for Palm Springs Saturday for a month's vacation. Freddie Brisson will accompany her . . . Ann Miller, who is expecting the stork next month, hasn't had a chance to wear one of the five maternity gowns Adrian designed for her, because she has been working at Columbia . . . Never saw a cuter twosome than Barbara Writing and Lon Mc Callister at the Beverly Tropics . . . Sam Coslow is paging Ann Dvorak and her favorite boy friend for a sequence in "Copacabana," Anita Colby and Clark Gable having dinner for two, interrupted by this columnist who wanted information. Oh, not about Clark and Anita, but about who'll play opposite Clark in "The Hucksters." He still doesn't know, and I promised not to tell what femme star he would like to have . . . Andre De Toth, Veronica Lake's director husband, has been bitten by the stage bug and will produce a play on Broadway . . . Lady Yule, one of England's richest women, is here. She has financed any number of British pictures . . Many of Marie Dressler's old friends remember the titled English noblewoman who visited Marie years ago. . . . Cliff Lewis, popular veteran press agent, will spin the praises for John Ford's Argosy Film Company . . . Vic Orsatti and Marilyn Maxwell at a table for two at Ciro's . . . Mrs. Bing Crosby's baby shower for Mrs. Alan Ladd also celebrated Sue's birthday. Such a lot of pretty baby things in both pink and blue, although blue predominates because everyone knows the Ladds are hoping for a boy. Betty Hutton, who expects a baby herself in two weeks, gave expert opinion on the gifts, as did Dorothy Lamour and Gloria Dehaven and Ginny Simms, all new mothers, Marlene Dietrich, Mildred Lloyd, Mrs. Henry Ginsberg, Estelle Taylor, and many of Dixie and Sue's friends were there. Dixie looks so wonderful these days. That's all today.

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 — When Kay St. Germaine went to court to divorce Jack Carson, she just wouldn't call him cruel, nor any of the uncomplimentary phrases necessary to obtain a decree. So after the judge dismissed the case for lack of proper evidence, all the Carson's friends were hopeful they would reconcile. So far nothing has happened even though Jack's friends say he isn't as happy over his freedom as he expected to be.

Meanwhile, he and Dennis Morgan continue on as a movie team, a goofy, inseparable pair—good friends both on and off the screen—with Janis Paige and Martha Vickers as their movie girl friends. Today I was told that "Two Guys From Texas" is one of this quartet's next movies. It's a sequel, actually, to "Two Guys From Milwaukee" and takes the four from the home of schnaps to the deep south. Again David Butler will direct and Alex Gottlieb will produce, and strictly (cq) between us, the "Milwaukee" epic is doing all right—at least, that's what Jack Warner says—that's what the man says.

Just talked with Arthur Freed who is leaving for New York Saturday. He's going to confer with Oscar Hammerstein II, about making a picture based on the biography of Oscar's grandfather, the first Oscar Hammerstein. What a wealth of material about this fabulous character who, at the turn of the century, built the Manhattan Opera House to buck the Metropolitan, bought Covent Gardens in London, built the Victoria Theater, and went broke. Oscar the first also discovered a lot of important people, among them the Dolly Sisters. This ought to be really a good musical.

Both Claude Rains and Arch Oboler were leary about having "Strange Holiday" open at the Mayan Theater as its first attraction. It's been a legitimate theater for many years, Arch told me, "at the time we made the film we felt it was very good, but that was in the first year of the war, and since that time both Claude and I have improved, especially Claude, who has become one of the top actors. As for the reports that I am going to sue because PRC showed it—that's untrue, because I am a mild man. "Strange Holiday," although only an hour long, holds up extremely well, maybe because it is so short. No, I won't get on my soapbox and start to harangue against the over-long films—I have talked enough about that already.

New York, here he comes! Larry Parks, who played Al Jolson in "The Jolson Story," is flying to the big town to make a public appearance at Radio City Music Hall when "Jolson" is playing and to give the New York scribes the chance to interview him. For the first time in history of man Harry Cohn is interrupting a picture to let Larry fly east. He'll only stay from Saturday to Wednesday. While there he'll have a chance to see his wife Betty Garrett, who is in "Call Me Mister" and to let the newspaper scribes who have been curious about this boy who stepped out from the nowhere into the limelight, get a look-see. Larry is such a nice boy that everyone in Hollywood is happy for his success.

Chatter in Hollywood: Ava Gardner who was crazy about Artie Shaw, and would have stuck it out with that temperamental baby if he had given her half a chance, continues to have music in her life. She's been out four nights in a row with Jerry Wald, the band leader, a musician Artie particularly dislikes because it's said Jerry imitates Shaw's style on the clarinet. Far be it from me to hint that's the reason Ava's stepping out with him. Torch toting or not, Ava's career has never been brighter. She is one of the girls tested for Jinny in "Cass Timberlake" in case it can't be arranged for Vivien Leigh. It's a big assignment, but the Gardner girl killed 'em in "The Killers."

The official New York greeter and best dressed man on everyone's list, Grover A. Whalen, arrives in Hollywood November 19. Grover sends me a wire asking me to select the 10 film actresses who in my opinion symbolize the modern incarnation of the nine famous muses of Greek mythology, plus a tenth modern muse who best represents the glamor of Hollywood. Stock Market Starts November With Substantial Rallying Push

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Buying of rails and industrials today enabled the stock market to start November with another substantial rallying push despite the handicap of considerable profit cashing on Thursday's bulge.

Prices swung higher in the forenoon as cotton futures jumped the day's limit of $10 a bale. There was a subsequent letdown as the staple conceded part of its advantage. Prices and activity picked up again in the final hour when cotton rebounded. Transfers totalled 1,670,000 shares compared with 1,690,000 the day before.

Wide jumpers on relatively few sales included Coca-Cola, up 11 points at 147; International Business Machines six at 215, Dow Chemical six at 166, Allied Chemical six at 162, du Pont 5½ at 177½, Eastman Kodak four at 212, Union Pacific three at 128 and United States Gypsum three at 107.

American Telephone hit a new 1946 low in the morning but met support and ended with a net gain of 1¾ at 167½. Bethlehem Steel opened a bit late on a 1,500-share block, off 2¾, and finished with a net loss of 1½ at 96.

Ahead were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, North American, American Water Works, International Nickel, Standard Oil (NJ) (on another $1 extra disbursement), Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway Greater Northern and New York Central.

Among forward Curb leaners were American Central Manufacurers, Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Heyden Chemical, Textron, Catalin and Barium Steel. Turnover here was 440,000 versus 360,000 yesterday.

Rail loans advanced one to more than three points in the fastest trading since mid-October in the bond market.

Turnover of $7,380,000 compared with $6,630,000 Thursday.

United States governments in the distant maturities improved again in the over-the-counter market. The Victory Loan December 2⅛s of '67-'72 gained 2-32 at 102 24-32 bid, and the same issue sold in the exchange at 102 27-32 for a gain of 14-32 over the previous sale.

Suicides Dropped During War Years

LONDON, (AP)—A "curious phenomenon of the first World War"—a fall in the number of suicides—was repeated in the 1939-1945 conflict, according to a summary of the Registrar-General's Statistical Review of England and Wales for 1942, published here.

From a pre-1939 average of about 5,000 suicide deaths annually, a figure of 3,416 was recorded in 1942.

There was a general improvement in mortality statistics in 1942, the total number of deaths registered being 480,137 compared with 535,130 in 1941 and 581,537 in 1940; the corresponding civilian death rates per 1,000 population being 12.3, 13.5 and 14.4 respectively, the summary states.

Measures to safeguard the health of children and expectant mothers showed results in lower infant and maternal mortality figures. The infant mortality rate fell in 1942 to 51 deaths of children under one year of age per 1,000 live births, compared with 60 for 1941. Maternal mortality, excluding abortion, rate of 2.02 deaths per 1,000 was the lowest ever recorded.

The early war years showed a marked rise in deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. In 1939 deaths ascribed to this cause numbered 21,523, rising to 23,470 in 1940 and 23,539 in 1941. In 1942, however the figure of 20,730 was the lowest ever recorded.

TWUA Delays Report On Rayon Wage Meeting

Officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, who returned yesterday from a TWUA rayon industry wage conference in Philadelphia did not reveal details of the program saying a statement would be issued by the national office in a few days.

In a Boston wage conference last weekend the TWUA set 15 cents as the increase to be asked for workers in 125 northern cotton and rayon weaving mills, according to Joseph J. Barley, union business manager who attended in the interest of employes of the General Textile Mill's Lonaconing plant.

UNRRA Mission Gives Yugoslavia Clean Slate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — A special UNRRA mission to Yugoslavia has reported "no evidence of widespread abuse or discrimination on political or other grounds" in the distribution of international relief supplies by Marshal Tito's government.

Just back from a personal investigation, the mission gave the Balkan country an almost 100 per cent clean bill of health in handling UNRRA aid. It termed many of numerous complaints "frivolous" and said that others were "without foundation."

"Boys In Gray" Talk Of Modern Warfare

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—When the "Boys in Gray"—the few of them that are left—gather around these days, their talk is more likely to center around machine guns and mortars than minnie-balls and muskets.

That's the dope from 98-year-old Gen. Henry T. Dowling at Atlanta, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, who recently returned from the organization's 56th annual reunion.

"We talked over old times some," he said, "but we talked mostly about this last war. That old war is done and we don't study about that much now. I had just as soon not fight it over again."

The 56th reunion voted to have another next year in Chattanooga.

Eskimo Calls Football A Sissy Game

BLOOMFIELD, N. J. — (AP) — American football is a sissy game, says Roy Ahmaogak, 48-year-old Eskimo from Point Barrow, Alaska, who is now a student at Bloomfield College and Seminary.

"In Alaska we play ayuktaktuat," he said, "and the only rule in the game is against homicide."

Ayuktaktuat is played with a deerskin ball stuffed with reindeer hair, Roy explained. Each team may include as many as 30 men, women and children, with ages ranging from seven to 70. The sides lines up in the center of a field about 200 yards long and the object is to get the ball to the other end of the field—no holds barred. There is no audience, except the blind and the crippled.

More than 2,000,000 acres in France were planted to potatoes this year.

Wyoming adopted its state seal Feb. 8, 1893.

Stock Market Starts November With Substantial Rallying Push

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Buying of rails and industrials today enabled the stock market to start November with another substantial rallying push despite the handicap of considerable profit cashing on Thursday's bulge.

Prices swung higher in the forenoon as cotton futures jumped the day's limit of $10 a bale. There was a subsequent letdown as the staple conceded part of its advantage. Prices and activity picked up again in the final hour when cotton rebounded. Transfers totalled 1,670,000 shares compared with 1,690,000 the day before.

Wide jumpers on relatively few sales included Coca-Cola, up 11 points at 147; International Business Machines six at 215, Dow Chemical six at 166, Allied Chemical six at 162, du Pont 5½ at 177½, Eastman Kodak four at 212, Union Pacific three at 128 and United States Gypsum three at 107.

American Telephone hit a new 1946 low in the morning but met support and ended with a net gain of 1¾ at 167½. Bethlehem Steel opened a bit late on a 1,500-share block, off 2¼, and finished with a net loss of 1½ at 96.

Ahead were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, North American, American Water Works, International Nickel, Standard Oil (NJ) (on another $1 extra disbursement), Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway Greater Northern and New York Central.

Among forward Curb leaners were American Central Manufacurers, Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Heyden Chemical, Textron, Catalin and Barium Steel. Turnover here was 440,000 versus 360,000 yesterday.

Rail loans advanced one to more than three points in the fastest trading since mid-October in the bond market.

Turnover of $7,380,000 compared with $6,630,000 Thursday.

United States governments in the distant maturities improved again in the over-the-counter market. The Victory Loan December 2⅛s of '67-'72 gained 2-32 at 102 24-32 bid, and the same issue sold in the exchange at 102 27-32 for a gain of 14-32 over the previous sale.

Chiang's Forces Reinforce Effort To Seize Chefoo

Isolation Of Communist-Held Southern Manchuria Is Tightened

PEIPING, Nov. 1 (AP) — Government forces today tightened the isolation of Communist-held Southern Manchuria and reinforced their effort to seize Chefoo from the Reds as the civil war intensified in other areas.

Pro-government dispatches said forward elements of Gen. Tu Li-Ming's Manchurian army had entered Pulantien, on the railroad 33 miles north of Dairen, the free port occupied by the Russians after Japan surrendered.

The vanguard at Pulantien were part of Tu's western column, which has been rolling southward on the Mukden-Dairen railroad. This force previously had been reported at Hiungyao, about 60 miles north of Pulantien.

This column, and another advancing down the eastern seaboard of the Liatung peninsula, steadily were isolating that Communist-held area of Southern Manchuria. Informed forces said several days ago the two forces had thrown a line across the peninsula.

Government sources have made it clear that Tu's armies have no intention of entering Dairen but will set up a safety zone outside the Russian occupation area.

Pro-government dispatches said the Nationalist attack on Chefoo, the Communists' supply base for Manchuria, had been stepped up with the landing of reinforcements.

In another phase of the attack on the Shantung peninsula, on which Chefoo is situated, government forces were reported to have reached the suburbs of Yuhsien, one of the larger ports on the coast southwest of Chefoo. This move, and the earlier reports that several north coast ports had been seized, indicated the Nationalists were completing their encirclement of Chefoo.

YMCA Sunday Programs To Reopen Tomorrow

A Sunday afternoon program for boys will be conducted at Central YMCA for the third successive year, according to Robert L. Sisson, general secretary.

The program, to be held from 2 to 4 p. m., will start again tomorrow. The only requirement for attendance is that a boy must bring a statement showing that he attended Sunday school. Gym work, swimming and a movie will be included on tomorrow's schedule.

Charles U. Wiebel, one of the organizers and an adviser, will greet the boys tomorrow. Other advisers and instructors are Carl Ritchie, Eugene Hopkins, C. Van Roby and Sisson.

The general secretary explained that 37 churches are co-operating and that attendance approached 1/9 last year.

A. Doub, Cumberland, was educated at Episcopal High School and Princeton University, and received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Johns Hopkins University and his Law Degree from the University of Maryland Law School. He was admitted to the bar in 1926 and since then, with the exception of his period of service in the Navy he has practiced law in Baltimore. He is a member of the law firm of Marshall, All, Carey and Doub.

Served In Navy

Doub is a member of the Character Committee appointed by the Maryland Court of Appeals to pass on applicants for the Maryland Bar and is a member of the American Bar Association, the Maryland Bar Association and the Baltimore Bar Association. He is a former attorney for the Western Maryland Railway Company. A lieutenant commander in the United States Naval Reserve, Doub served for three years with the Pacific Fleet as air combat intelligence officer for Carrier Air Group Six.

Hall Hammond, Democratic nominee for attorney general, was born May 18, 1902 in Baltimore. He attended Gilman School, Jefferson School and was graduated from Baltimore City College in 1919. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1923 and of the University of Maryland Law School in 1925.

He has practiced law in Baltimore for many years and is now serving as deputy attorney general of Maryland. He is vice president of the South Baltimore General Hospital, a trustee and counsel for Aged Women's and Men's Home in Baltimore.

The candidates for State Comptroller are Alex T. Grier, Republican, of Wicomico County, and James J. Lacy, Democrat, of Baltimore. Grier is a business man and active member of the engineering firm of R. D. Grier Sons of Salisbury. He has had a broad business experience and was a fighter of note in the air corps in the First World War in France and in the second in China, leaving the service as a lieutenant-colonel.

Lacy was born in Baltimore and is now president of one of Baltimore's most successful business enterprises. He is an outstanding leader in the city's civic and charitable affairs. He is director of numerous business and financial institutions and a former member of Baltimore Board of Fire Commissioners.

Sen. LaFollette (Prog-Wis) told a reporter he will take no part in the campaign in its closing days. He was defeated, running as a Republican in the primary by Joseph R. McCarthy. The latter is being supported by Sen. Wiley (R-Wis). McCarthy's Democratic opponent is Howard J. McMurray, former representative.

A Chicago Civil Committee announced at least 6,000 trained watchers will be at city polling places Tuesday to insure an honest election.

Markey Reports He Spent $7,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Maryland Senatorial Candidate D. John Markey reports he spent nearly $7,000 in his campaign against Democratic Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor up until a week ago.

Reports on file with the secretary of the Senate today show that Markey had received contributions of $8,210 and spent $6,972.15 on October 25.

Both figures are considerably higher than those reported earlier by O'Conor, who defeated Sen. Radcliffe (D-Md) for the Democratic nomination. O'Conor said he received contributions of $1,300 and spent $1,850.

The law requires that all candidates for the Senate a[illegible] preliminary reports of their contributions and expenditures. Final reports must be filed after the election.

M., they would consider the matter of making an additional appropriation of Seventy-five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00) beyond the regular levy for the current year to be used by the Allegany County Board of Education towards the individual increase of Three Hundred Dollars ($300.00) to each teacher for the current school year heretofore mentioned; and

"WHERAS, it is the individual desire of the undersigned member of the Board of County Commissioners that said Three Hundred Dollar ($300.00) increase be granted for the current school year for each of said teachers and the representatives of the teachers aforesaid have signified their desire that said increase be granted to them and all others interested or opposed to the making of an additional appropriation of Seventy - five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00) towards that purpose beyond the regular levy for the current year have been duly notified by advertisement and given an opportunity to be heard either in favor of or against such measure.

"NOW, THEREFORE, the Board of County Commissioners do hereby resolve and order that said sum of Seventy-five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00) be and the same is hereby appropriated from the funds belonging to Allegany County to the use of the Allegany County Board of Education for the specific purpose of paying One Hundred Fifty Dollars ($150.00) on account of the proposed increase to each of the public school teachers as set forth in this Resolution and that such sum be forthwith credited to and be subject to the order of said Board of Education."

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools; J Stanley Hunter, Harold C Wickard and Lewyn C. Davis, members of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers' Association, attended the board meeting this morning.

Kopp has advised the board that the Loartown School has been abandoned and, under state law, will be turned back to the commissioners. He also said the Vale Summit School has been closed, since pupils have been transferred, and the board has granted a petition of Vale Summit citizens to use the building as a community hall.

Amendments On

prescribed by an act of the General Assembly.

The second amendment on the ballot pertains to a salary increase for the sheriff of Baltimore from $6,600 to $7,500 and provides that the sheriff may be a candidate to succeed himself.

Some local politicians and attorneys said yesterday this amendment also applies to the sheriff of Allegany County, so far as succession in office is concerned. But Sheriff David M. Steele, contacted last night declared, "the amendment does not apply to counties and is only intended for Baltimore. It should have been drafted to include the counties, but it wasn't."

The other two amendments on the ballots are both Baltimore City affairs and of no interest here. One relates to vacancies in the office of Chief Judge of the Supreme Court Bench of Baltimore City. The other relates to the use of power of eminent domain of the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission.

Duke Of Windsor Fails To Get Job; May Come To U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 1—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor failed to get a job today from Prime Minister Attlee and he and his duchess—robbed of $80,000 in jewels during their short stay in England—were reported planning to sail on the Queen Elizabeth next Wednesday for the United States.

Entering through a back door at No. 10 Downing street, the former king conferred with Attlee almost an hour. He left by the same back door. An authoritative government source said afterward that no suitable appointment existed for the duke.

Government informants said it was well known that the duke would be very happy to accept "a suitable colonial governorship," and that he had written a letter to Attlee from France asking for an appointment.

Election Termed

credit for being a sincere man, Harris said that if Mr. Lane does not believe in the form of government we now have in Washington, he did not believe Mr. Lane would put his stamp of approval upon it by doing his utmost to continue this form of government in power. "If he should be made Governor of Maryland, the people of the Free State of Maryland, will cloak him with that much more additional power to continue in office this same group in Washington. May God forbid!"

Harris asserted that Gov. O'Conor, now running for the United States Senate for the purpose of political expediency, has long since forsaken the fundamental principles of democracy for those of the New Deal. He has used all his power and influence to keep the New Deal party in power.

More recently, since the New Deal party has come on to evil days and has lost its popularity, "I have heard the Governor hint that he is opposed to so much bureaucracy in Government and excessive spending. I am afraid it is too late in the season to believe him sincere."

Harris asserted that a vote for O'Conor for United States Senate is definitely a vote to continue in power the kind of Government that we now have in Washington. The Governor, he said, tries to leave the impression with the people that in Annapolis he has given us an economic administration. One of Gov. O'Conor's first acts, after election, Harris said, was to increase our income tax 300 percent on earned income and 1,100 percent on investment income.

Says He Straddles Issues

The income tax rose in rank as a revenue producer from last place to first, Harris said. Even with the Governor's aptitude for spending, much construction and road building being curtailed during the war a surplus accumulated in the Treasury. The Governor took credit for the surplus as if he were a financial genius.

"The only outstanding thing about Gov. O'Conor's two administrations, that I have been able to observe, is his amusing endeavor to straddle every controversial issue that has arisen," Harris added. He urged the election of the entire Republican State and County ticket and said that never before, to his memory has the Republican Party been able to offer such a strong ticket for the House of Delegates.

Harris said that the present State administration has aided and abetted the National administration to regiment, limit and control our daily lives and usurp our liberty with their bungling government. "Haven't you had enough? If you have, vote Republican," Harris concluded.

bridge at Long, then walk along the highway to school. They cannot use the present bridge because of its dangerous condition, the parents declared. The approach to the present span is 16 feet wide, according to the group of residents.

"We are certain some action will be taken when the new Board of Commissioners takes office, since Commissioner Wilkinson has pledged his support," one woman said. "But by that time winter weather may cause a delay in the project, and increase the danger at that point."

Walter Mueller, Howard and Melvin Malcolm asked the county board to have ditches dug along a road leading from the Ubl Highway near the Paw Paw bridge. The county engineer was instructed to investigate.

Wallace Urges That U. S. Accept Russia's "Dare"

Former Commerce Secretary Says "We Can Get Along" With USSR

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Henry A. Wallace urged tonight that the United States accept Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's "daring challenge" for a world disarmament program "if we really want peace."

The former Secretary of Commerce, ousted because of his statements on foreign policy—specifically in relation to Russia—said in an address prepared for a Democratic rally at Chicago Stadium, "When I say peace I x x x do not mean an armed truce. x x x I believe firmly that we can get along with Russia and with the rest of the world.

"Mr. Molotov has made us a daring challenge. He has called for world disarmament. If we really want peace we will accept the challenge. We will join in a call for world disarmament."

The Soviet Union on Tuesday assailed the Baruch plan for atomic controls and proposed a general disarmament program under the United Nations with specific prohibitions against production or use of atomic weapons. The proposal was made by Molotov to the United Nations General Assembly.

Wallace asserted, in urging acceptance of Molotov's proposal, "We will not have peace by following the line of the Churchills, the Col. McCormicks or other Russian baiters. We won't have peace by following the path of those who call for dropping the atomic bomb on Russia now." He added:

"The scientists who developed the atomic bomb hope to see atomic energy used to promote the welfare of the common man. x x x The century of the common man is here. x x x Not even a Republican victory at this time would delay the world trend for long."

WOODMEN WILL HOLD CLASS INITIATION

A class of 38 candidates will become members of Cumberland Camp No. 6 Woodmen of the World, at ceremonies to be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the council's new home, 144 Union street.

Capt. Virgil Wells, Co. K., 103rd regiment of the Uniform rank, will head the uniform rank which will conduct the initiation under the supervision of Sebastian Spera, degree master.

The principal speaker for the first initiation to be held in the new Union street home will be Spencer Graham, Oakland, Maryland-D. C., manager, according to George Sommerkamp, past council commander.

Harry R. Payne, council commander, will preside at the meeting which will be followed by a buffet lunch prepared by Theodore Rose and John Mudge.

Local Woman Is Injured In Fall

Mrs. Lulu Nehring, 49, wife of Paul C. Nehring, Cumberland Brewery worker, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday at 4:45 p. m. for a fracture of the left foot suffered, she told attaches, when she tripped over a stone and fell at her home, 410 Franklin street.

Attaches said Mrs. Nehring was able to leave the hospital after a cast was applied.

Roy Weimer, 4-year-old son of Roy Weimer, a Celanese worker, 418 Walnut street, was treated in Memorial at 4:20 p. m. for a laceration on the right hand suffered, attaches were told, when he fell against a window glass.

Government,

no-work "seems to be the stock answer."

In Kentucky, H. S. Homan, of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association, reported 14 mines closed, 12 of them because of a lack of coal cars. He said the other two were no-contract-no-work instances. Elsewhere in the coal fields, other minor shutdowns were reported, but pay-day weekends and hunting trips were among contributory causes.

President Truman has said flatly there would be no strike and Lewis has declared the existing contract is in effect during the negotiations.

Lewis himself stayed away from the Washington negotiations. He sent subordinates to represent him at a meeting with Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collinson, a Navy captain in charge of the federally-seized bituminous mines.

Private owners of the mines, not participating in the UMW-government talks, broke out with accusations that "politically-minded men" in the government had "capitulated" to Lewis' demand for a reopening of the government contract.

As to any new concessions for Lewis the bituminous coal operators negotiating committee said in a statement that "any such abject surrender by government would be a public disgrace and a shame."

An initial session between Collisson and a UMW delegation headed by John O'Leary, the unions' vice president, broke up with all concerned declining to comment. There was continuing speculation he was asking for a shorter work week without a loss in pay.

The hard-dealing mine union boss had demanded that the government negotiate "new arrangements affecting wages, hours, rules, practices, differentials, inequalities, etc."—and behind the demand was the ominous threat of a strike with winter approaching.

Also absent from the meetings was Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, with whom Lewis negotiated the existing contract last May. The government took over the mines then and that Krug-Lewis contract ended a two-month strik'

Krug is not expected back from a western tour until a day or two after next Tuesday's elections. He had contended the Krug-Lewis agreement itself barred any reopening—that it was drawn to extend for the duration of government mine operation. Lewis disagreed and Collisson said later that he was willing to "listen," anyway, to any new demands Lewis might make.

The mine owners' statement said that the government had reversed itself to side with Lewis and termed this decision a "shabby" one which allowed Lewis to "humiliate the government with impunity."

Gen. Woodcock, Member Of GOP, Backs O'Conor

Lane Reiterates Pledge For More Equitable Division Of Revenues

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Amos W. W. Woodcock said in a political broadcast tonight that "there is no reasonable doubt that Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor is a better man to represent Maryland in the United States Senate than Col. D. John Markey," the Republican nominee.

Woodcock, himself a Republican, spoke over a five-station radio network in support of the candidacy of O'Conor.

Meanwhile, O'Conor's running mate, William Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, spoke at a rally here and reiterated the party's pledge to continue a move to "bring about a more equitable division of the state's revenues among the several political subdivisions.

In his radio address, Woodcock outlined his acquaintance with O'Conor and the Governor's capabilities, and remarked.

"By contrast, his opponent is almost a blank sheet."

Woodcock questioned Markey's ability, saying the Republican candidate may have been "blinded... to the fact that he had no training in law, government or economics."

"I can, moreover, find no record of successful business experience," Woodcock added.

Dr. A. H. Hawkins

thoughtful liberty loving citizens quickly begin doing something about affairs in Washington, namely, replacing the New Deal Communists in Washington with true American leaders, we will soon have no country and certainly no freedom to boast of.

"I am forced to say in my judgment our only hope is in a change of party. We can state with conviction, there is no Communistic taint in the Republican party. The Democratic party however, seems pretty well permeated with Communism. Of course, there are exceptions, thank the good Lord, and we are well aware of them."

Dr. Hawkins said "we love our country and we are struggling between two alternatives. What is our duty? Shall we stick to our party and destroy our country? Or, shall we desert our party and save our country?

'Republicans, Democratic remnant, let us go back, at least for a time, to the party of Lincoln and wrest from the hands of the enemy, our great and beloved nation and place it upon—we hope—a firmer foundation of cooperation of brotherly love, and in the name of the great God, our Father

"I believe that a man who aspires to public office should have political integrity, forceful and consistent convictions concerning the business of government. He should stand or fall in his political life upon his convictions. What he seeks is a sacred trust handed to him by his brother in the sight of his God. If from time to time, he should be defeated, he will later rise again.

"Such a man is Theodore R. McKeldin, the Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland. Mr. McKeldin is a Marylander—born in Baltimore, a self made man. He came up from the people, knows people and loves them, and will know how to do his duty when they are concerned. He is a brilliant lawyer, knows government. He is at present, Mayor of Baltimore City where he has distinguished himself as an effective executive. We want him for governor.

"Such a man is J. Glenn Beall, candidate for re-election to Congress. Beall has proven his worth, having represented his district, the Sixth two terms. He is just right, knows his way around and has no time for anything else but serving his constituency.

"Such a man is George Doub. A chip of the old block. You all know his father, the Judge, a grand old man, and I believe his son is a worthy successor.

"Let us vote this ticket with the fine assurance that we are serving the welfare of our dear, old state."

Major Parties

supporters did not want the Baltimore Mayor to get the nomination possibly because he has gone outside the party fold time and time again to make key appointments.

As the campaign progressed, it became evident that there were no clear cut issues. Both candidates have come out in favor of a Bay bridge connecting the Eastern and Western Shores, higher pay for school teachers, the report of the commission which studied and recommended sweeping changes in the state's fiscal structure.

The 2,000 marchers were part of the 60,000 Jews in Haifa who joined in a general protest strike lasting two hours and a half during the morning.

A general strike of all Palestine Jews was proclaimed for Sunday as a protest against today's deportation, with all Jewish factories, shops and offices to be closed from noon to 6 p. m. while mass meetings and demonstrations take place.

Speed Work Of Scientists

Such machines, he said, will speed up the work of scientists and solve complicated mathematical problems in a fraction of the time taken by a mathematician.

"The solution of many mathematical problems—particularly in integral equations—requires," he said, "the exercise of choice and discrimination on the part of the mathematician, which he is able to exercise as a result of experience.

"Even this factor can be covered. Machines now actually in use can exercise a degree of memory, and some are now being designed to exercise those hitherto human prerogatives of choice and judgment."

State Democrats Continue To Hold 2-To-1 "Paper Majority" Over GOP

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1 (AP)—Maryland Democrats continue to hold a more than two-to-one "paper majority" over Republicans, latest registration figures showed today.

Compilations from each of the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City disclosed 828,856 persons on the registration lists—567,368 Democrats, 240,128 Republicans and 21,360 who listed themselves as independents or members of minor parties.

In addition, a survey showed about 5,000 additional residents had registered to vote in the last several weeks, but that clerks had not tabulated late totals. About 3,100 of these late registrants were Baltimoreans.

In piling up a large majority on paper, the Democrats were following Maryland tradition which has held since Civil War days. The size of the majorities have never stood up on election day of course and sometime, when the ballots have been counted, the "majority" has turned out to be a deficit.

Just three of th state's counties have Republican majorities: Allegany, 24,738, to 18,918; Charles 3,542 to 3,216, and Garrett, 6,052 to 3,269.

The total registration figure for the counties was 489,716 — 315,556 Democrats, 164,883 Republicans and 9,277 others. The figures for Baltimore City were 251,812 Democrats, 75,245 Republicans and 12,083 others.

The final figure compared with 833,073 persons registered for the 1942 "off year" election and 854,009 for the presidential election in 1944.

Gem Theft Case Reaches Higher Military Levels

Army To Probe Reports Maj. Gen. Bevans Received "Certain Items"

FRANKFURT, Nov. 1 (AP) — The Kronberg Castle jewel case reached into higher military levels tonight when United Stataes Army headquarters announced it had ordered an investigation into reports that Maj. Gen. James M. Bevans had received "certain items."

Bevans, assistant chief of staff of G-I (personnel) in United States Army headquarters here, could not be reached for comment, but a close associate said:

"Gen. Bevans will co-operate to the fullest with the inspector general in this investigation. He would like to see this matter cleared up as much as anyone else. You can be sure that those are the general's sentiments."

Bevans' home is at Garden City, Long Island, N. Y.

The reports concerning Bevans originated in testimony by Col. Jack W. Durant at the court-martial of Maj. David Watson this week that Bevans had "accepted" a silver pitcher as a "souvenir" from Kronberg Castle, an officers' club on a hill top north of Frankfurt, that the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels were alleged to have been stolen.

secured a permit to build an addition at the rear of a building at 9-13 North Front street, and to remodel the building in accordance with plans approved by the city engineer.

The one-story addition will measure 25 by 35 feet, with a concrete foundation, concrete block walls and a tin roof. Two stores will be located on the first floor and two apartments on the second. The estimated cost is $6,000.

THOMAS B. FINAN FOR STATE SENATOR

Fellow Citizens:

On November 5, 1946, you will go to the polls to select those individuals in whom will repose the responsibility for the efficient operation of your State and County government for the next four years. I have never before sought public office nor have I ever held public office, however my conception of public office is such, that I believe, that he who is elected to public office is charged with a sacred trust and that he is answerable to the people who elect him, and to his own conscience, for the manner in which he discharges that trust.

I am an attorney, having been admitted to the Maryland Bar in 1939, and have since that date, with the exception of four years spent in the armed forces, practiced law in Allegany County. I served in World War II as both an enlisted man and an officer, in this country and over seas. I feel that I am in a position to fully appreciate the many problems which today are confronting the veteran and if elected I propose to do everything I can to enact legislation which will assist in solving those problems.

I do not wish to create the impression that I am seeking office, solely as a veterans candidate, for I realize that within the borders of Allegany County, people of many classes, faiths and racial origins reside, and I intend to make it my business, if elected, to see that all classes and groups are represented without prejudice at Annapolis. We live in a typical American community and our future progress and success depends upon the ability of all of our citizens to live and work together with a fair degree of harmony, so that no one particular group or groups of people should have any unfair advantage over others.

I feel that our County and State has nothing to lose but everything to gain by legislation which has as its goal the obtaining of the highest standard of living possible for our laboring people. Common sense dictates that when the working man is prosperous, business will be prosperous. If elected, labor will find me a willing listener to their problems and one who will strive for the enactment of all reasonable legislative demands.

I believe in the right of freedom of enterprise and the right of the little man in business to be protected from unfair competition and overburdening governmental restrictions.

Any worthwhile legislation must take into consideration the impact which that legislation will have on the social, economic and moral welfare of labor, business and industry.

We Americans learned during the recent war what Americans can accomplish when they work as a team, and if elected, I promise that sort of teamwork with every citizen of Allegany County. Your support will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Thomas B. Finan

Chiang's Forces Reinforce Effort To Seize Chefoo

Isolation Of Communist-Held Southern Manchuria Is Tightened

PEIPING, Nov. 1 (AP) — Government forces today tightened the isolation of Communist-held Southern Manchuria and reinforced their effort to seize Chefoo from the Reds as the civil war intensified in other areas.

Pro-government dispatches said forward elements of Gen. Tu Li-Ming's Manchurian army had entered Pulantien, on the railroad 33 miles north of Dairen, the free port occupied by the Russians after Japan surrendered.

The vanguard at Pulantien were part of Tu's western column, which has been rolling southward on the Mukden-Dairen railroad. This force previously had been reported at Hiungyao, about 60 miles north of Pulantien.

This column, and another advancing down the eastern seaboard of the Liatung peninsula, steadily were isolating that Communist-held area of Southern Manchuria. Informed forces said several days ago the two forces had thrown a line across the peninsula.

Government sources have made it clear that Tu's armies have no intention of entering Dairen but will set up a safety zone outside the Russian occupation area.

Pro-government dispatches said the Nationalist attack on Chefoo, the Communists' supply base for Manchuria, had been stepped up with the landing of reinforcements.

In another phase of the attack on the Shantung peninsula, on which Crefoo is situated, government forces were reported to have reached the suburbs of Yuhsien, one of the larger ports on the coast southwest of Chefoo. This move, and the earlier reports that several north coast ports had been seized, indicated the Nationalists were completing their encirclement of Chefoo.

YMCA Sunday Programs To Reopen Tomorrow

A Sunday afternoon program for boys will be conducted at Central YMCA for the third successive year, according to Robert L. Sisson general secretary.

The program, to be held from 2 to 4 p. m., will start again tomorrow. The only requirement for attendance is that a boy must bring a statement showing that he attended Sunday school. Gym work, swimming and a movie will be included on tomorrow's schedule.

Charles U. Wiebel, one of the organizers and an adviser, will greet the boys tomorrow. Other advisers and instructors are Carl Ritchie, Eugene Hopkins, C. Van Roby and Sisson.

The general secretary explained that 37 churches are co-operating and that attendance approached 1?0 last year.

A. Doub, Cumberland, was educated at Episcopal High School and Princeton University, and received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Johns Hopkins University and his Law Degree from the University of Maryland Law School. He was admitted to the bar in 1926 and since then, with the exception of his period of service in the Navy he has practiced law in Baltimore. He is a member of the law firm of Marshall, All, Carey and Doub.

Served In Navy

Doub is a member of the Character Committee appointed by the Maryland Court of Appeals to pass on applicants for the Maryland Bar and is a member of the American Bar Association, the Maryland Bar Association and the Baltimore Bar Association. He is a former attorney for the Western Maryland Railway Company. A lieutenant commander in the United States Naval Reserve, Doub served for three years with the Pacific Fleet as air combat intelligence officer for Carrier Air Group Six.

Hall Hammond, Democratic nominee for attorney general, was born May 18, 1902 in Baltimore. He attended Gilman School, Jefferson School and was graduated from Baltimore City College in 1919. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1923 and of the University of Maryland Law School in 1925.

He has practiced law in Baltimore for many years and is now serving as deputy attorney general of Maryland. He is vice president of the South Baltimore General Hospital, a trustee and counsel for Aged Women's and Men's Home in Baltimore.

The candidates for State Comptroller are Alex T. Grier, Republican, of Wicomico County, and James J. Lacy, Democrat, of Baltimore. Grier is a business man and active member of the engineering firm of R. D. Grier Sons of Salisbury. He has had a broad business experience and was a fighter of note in the air corps in the First World War in France and in the second in China, leaving the service as a lieutenant-colonel.

Lacy was born in Baltimore and is now president of one of Baltimore's most successful business enterprises. He is an outstanding leader in the city's civic and charitable affairs. He is director of numerous business and financial institutions and a former member of Baltimore Board of Fire Commissioners.

Markey Reports He Spent $7,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Maryland Senatorial Candidate D. John Markey reports he spent nearly $7,000 in his campaign against Democratic Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor up until a week ago.

Reports on file with the secretary of the Senate today show that Markey had received contributions of $8,210 and spent $6,972.15 on October 25.

Both figures are considerably higher than those reported earlier by O'Conor, who defeated Sen. Radcliffe (D-Md) for the Democratic nomination. O'Conor said he received contributions of $1,300 and spent $1,850.

The law requires that all candidates for the Senate a[illegible]e preliminary reports of their contributions and expenditures. Final reports must be filed after the election.

"WHERAS, it is the individual desire of the undersigned member of the Board of County Commissioners that said Three Hundred Dollar ($300.00) increase be granted for the current school year for each of said teachers and the representatives of the teachers aforesaid have signified their desire that said increase be granted to them and all others interested or opposed to the making of an additional appropriation of Seventy - five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00) towards that purpose beyond the regular levy for the current year have been duly notified by advertisement and given an opportunity to be heard either in favor of or against such measure.

"NOW, THEREFORE, the Board of County Commissioners do hereby resolve and order that said sum of Seventy-five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00) be and the same is hereby appropriated from the funds belonging to Allegany County to the use of the Allegany County Board of Education for the specific purpose of paying One Hundred Fifty Dollars ($150.00) on account of the proposed increase to each of the public school teachers as set forth in this Resolution and that such sum be forthwith credited to and be subject to the order of said Board of Education."

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools; J Stanley Hunter, Harold C Wickard and Lewyn C. Davis, members of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers' Association, attended the board meeting this morning.

Kopp has advised the board that the Loartown School has been abandoned and, under state law, will be turned back to the commissioners. He also said the Vale Summit School has been closed, since pupils have been transferred, and the board has granted a petition of Vale Summit citizens to use the building as a community hall.

Amendments On

prescribed by an act of the General Assembly.

The second amendment on the ballot pertains to a salary increase for the sheriff of Baltimore from $6,600 to $7,500 and provides that the sheriff may be a candidate to succeed himself.

Some local politicians and attorneys said yesterday this amendment also applies to the sheriff of Allegany County, so far as succession in office is concerned. But Sheriff David M. Steele, contacted last night declared, "the amendment does not apply to counties and is only intended for Baltimore. It should have been drafted to include the counties, but it wasn't."

The other two amendments on the ballots are both Baltimore City affairs and of no interest here. One relates to vacancies in the office of Chief Judge of the Supreme Court Bench of Baltimore City. The other relates to the use of power of eminent domain of the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission.

Duke Of Windsor Fails To Get Job; May Come To U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 1—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor failed to get a job today from Prime Minister Attlee and he and his duchess—robbed of $80,000 in jewels during their short stay in England—were reported planning to sail on the Queen Elizabeth next Wednesday for the United States.

Entering through a back door at No. 10 Downing street, the former king conferred with Attlee almost an hour. He left by the same back door. An authoritative government source said afterward that no suitable appointment existed for the duke.

Government informants said it was well known that the duke would be very happy to accept "a suitable colonial governorship," and that he had written a letter to Attlee from France asking for an appointment.

Election Termed

credit for being a sincere man, Harris said that if Mr. Lane does not believe in the form of government we now have in Washington, he did not believe Mr. Lane would put his stamp of approval upon it by doing his utmost to continue this form of government in power. "If he should be made Governor of Maryland, the people of the Free State of Maryland, will cloak him with that much more additional power to continue in office this same group in Washington. May God forbid!"

Harris asserted that Gov. O'Conor, now running for the United States Senate for the purpose of political expediency, has long since forsaken the fundamental principles of democracy for those of the New Deal. He has used all his power and influence to keep the New Deal party in power.

More recently, since the New Deal Party has come on to evil days and has lost its popularity, "I have heard the Governor hint that he is opposed to so much bureaucracy in Government and excessive spending. I am afraid it is too late in the season to believe him sincere."

Harris asserted that a vote for O'Conor for United States Senate is definitely a vote to continue in power the kind of Government that we now have in Washington. The Governor, he said, tries to leave the impression with the people that in Annapolis he has given us an economic administration. One of Gov. O'Conor's first acts, after election, Harris said, was to increase our income tax 300 percent on earned income and 1,100 percent on investment income.

Says He Straddles Issues

The income tax rose in rank as a revenue producer from last place to first, Harris said. Even with the Governor's aptitude for spending, much construction and road building being curtailed during the war a surplus accumulated in the Treasury. The Governor took credit for the surplus as if he were a financial genius.

"The only outstanding thing about Gov. O'Conor's two administrations, that I have been able to observe, is his amusing endeavor to straddle every controversial issue that has arisen," Harris added. He urged the election of the entire Republican State and County ticket and said that never before, to his memory has the Republican Party been able to offer such a strong ticket for the House of Delegates.

Harris said that the present State administration has aided and abetted the National administration to regiment, limit and control our daily lives and usurp our liberty with their bungling government. "Haven't you had enough? If you have, vote Republican," Harris concluded.

Walter Mueller, Howard and Melvin Maicolm asked the county board to have ditches dug along a road leading from the Uhl Highway near the Paw Paw bridge. The county engineer was instructed to investigate.

Wallace Urges That U. S. Accept Russia's "Dare"

Former Commerce Secretary Says "We Can Get Along" With USSR

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Henry A. Wallace urged tonight that the United States accept Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's "daring challenge" for a world disarmament program "if we really want peace."

The former Secretary of Commerce, ousted because of his statements on foreign policy—specifically in relation to Russia—said in an address prepared for a Democratic rally at Chicago Stadium, "When I say peace I x x x do not mean an armed truce. x x x I believe firmly that we can get along with Russia and with the rest of the world.

"Mr. Molotov has made us a daring challenge. He has called for world disarmament. If we really want peace we will accept the challenge. We will join in a call for world disarmament."

The Soviet Union on Tuesday assailed the Baruch plan for atomic controls and proposed a general disarmament program under the United Nations with specific prohibitions against production or use of atomic weapons. The proposal was made by Molotov to the United Nations General Assembly.

Wallace asserted, in urging acceptance of Molotov's proposal, "We will not have peace by following the line of the Churchills, the Col. McCormicks or other Russian baiters. We won't have peace by following the path of those who call for dropping the atomic bomb on Russia now." He added:

"The scientists who developed the atomic bomb hope to see atomic energy used to promote the welfare of the common man. x x x The century of the common man is here. x x x Not even a Republican victory at this time would delay the world trend for long."

WOODMEN WILL HOLD CLASS INITIATION

A class of 38 candidates will become members of Cumberland Camp No. 6 Woodmen of the World, at ceremonies to be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the council's new home, 144 Union street.

Capt. Virgil Wells, Co. K., 103rd regiment of the Uniform rank, will head the uniform rank which will conduct the initiation under the supervision of Sebastian Spera, degree master.

The principal speaker for the first initiation to be held in the new Union street home will be Spencer Graham, Oakland, Maryland-D. C., manager, according to George Sommerkamp, past council commander.

Harry R. Payne, council commander, will preside at the meeting which will be followed by a buffet lunch prepared by Theodore Rose and John Mudge.

Local Woman Is Injured In Fall

Mrs. Lulu Nehring, 49, wife of Paul C. Nehring, Cumberland Brewery worker, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday at 4:45 p. m. for a fracture of the left foot suffered, she told attaches, when she tripped over a stone and fell at her home, 410 Franklin street.

Attaches said Mrs. Nehring was able to leave the hospital after a cast was applied.

Roy Weimer, 4-year-old son of Roy Weimer, a Celanese worker, 418 Walnut street, was treated in Memorial at 4:20 p. m. for a laceration on the right hand suffered, attaches were told, when he fell against a window glass.

Government,

no-work "seems to be the stock answer."

In Kentucky, H. S. Homan, of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association, reported 14 mines closed, 12 of them because of a lack of coal cars. He said the other two were no-contract-no-work instances. Elsewhere in the coal fields, other minor shutdowns were reported, but pay-day weekends and hunting trips were among contributory causes.

President Truman has said flatly there would be no strike and Lewis has declared the existing contract is in effect during the negotiations.

Lewis himself stayed away from the Washington negotiations. He sent subordinates to represent him at a meeting with Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collinson, a Navy captain in charge of the federally-seized bituminous mines.

Private owners of the mines, not participating in the UMW-government talks, broke out with accusations that "politically-minded men" in the government had "capitulated" to Lewis' demand for a reopening of the government contract.

As to any new concessions for Lewis the bituminous coal operators negotiating committee said in a statement that "any such abject surrender by government would be a public disgrace and a shame."

An initial session between Collisson and a UMW delegation headed by John O'Leary, the unions' vice president, broke up with all concerned declining to comment. There was continuing speculation he was asking for a shorter work week without a loss in pay.

The hard-dealing mine union boss had demanded that the government negotiate "new arrangements affecting wages, hours, rules, practices, differentials, inequalities, etc."—and behind the demand was the ominous threat of a strike with winter approaching.

Also absent from the meetings was Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, with whom Lewis negotiated the existing contract last May. The government took over the mines then and that Krug-Lewis contract ended a two-month strik[illegible]

Krug is not expected back from a western tour until a day or two after next Tuesday's elections. He had contended the Krug-Lewis agreement itself barred any reopening—that it was drawn to extend for the duration of government mine operation. Lewis disagreed and Collisson said later that he was willing to "listen," anyway, to any new demands Lewis might make.

The mine owners' statement said that the government had reversed itself to side with Lewis and termed this decision a "shabby" one which allowed Lewis to "humiliate the government with impunity."

Gen. Woodcock, Member Of GOP, Backs O'Conor

Lane Reiterates Pledge For More Equitable Division Of Revenues

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Amos W. W. Woodcock said in a political broadcast tonight that "there is no reasonable doubt that Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor is a better man to represent Maryland in the United States Senate than Col. D. John Markey," the Republican nominee.

Woodcock, himself a Republican, spoke over a five-station radio network in support of the candidacy of O'Conor.

Meanwhile, O'Conor's running mate, William Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, spoke at a rally here and reiterated the party's pledge to continue a move to "bring about a more equitable division of the state's revenues among the several political subdivisions.

In his radio address, Woodcock outlined his acquaintance with O'Conor and the Governor's capabilities, and remarked:

"By contrast, his opponent is almost a blank sheet."

Woodcock questioned Markey's ability, saying the Republican candidate may have been "blinded . . to the fact that he had no training in law, government or economics."

"I can, moreover, find no record of successful business experience," Woodcock added.

thoughtful liberty loving citizens quickly begin doing something about affairs in Washington, namely, replacing the New Deal Communists in Washington with true American leaders, we will soon have no country and certainly no freedom to boast of.

"I am forced to say in my judgment our only hope is in a change of party. We can state with conviction, there is no Communistic taint in the Republican party. The Democratic party however, seems pretty well permeated with Communism. Of course, there are exceptions, thank the good Lord, and we are well aware of them."

Dr. Hawkins said "we love our country and we are struggling between two alternatives. What is our duty? Shall we stick to our party and destroy our country? Or, shall we desert our party and save our country?

"Republicans, Democratic remnant, let us go back, at least for a time, to the party of Lincoln and wrest from the hands of the enemy, our great and beloved nation and place it upon—we hope—a firmer foundation of cooperation of brotherly love, and in the name of the great God, our Father.

"I believe that a man who aspires to public office should have political integrity, forceful and consistent convictions concerning the business of government. He should stand or fall in his political life upon his convictions. What he seeks is a sacred trust handed to him by his brother in the sight of his God. If from time to time, he should be defeated, he will later rise again.

"Such a man is Theodore R. McKeldin, the Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland. Mr. McKeldin is a Marylander—born in Baltimore, a self made man. He came up from the people, knows people and loves them, and will know how to do his duty when they are concerned. He is a brilliant lawyer, knows government. He is at present, Mayor of Baltimore City, where he has distinguished himself as an effective executive. We want him for governor.

"Such a man is J. Glenn Beall, candidate for re-election to Congress. Beall has proven his worth, having represented his district, the Sixth two terms. He is just right, knows his way around and has no time for anything else but serving his constituency.

"Such a man is George Doub. A chip of the old block. You all know his father, the Judge, a grand old man, and I believe his son is a worthy successor.

"Let us vote this ticket with the fine assurance that we are serving the welfare of our dear, old state."

supporters did not want the Baltimore Mayor to get the nomination possibly because he has gone outside the party fold time and time again to make key appointments.

As the campaign progressed, it became evident that there were no clear cut issues. Both candidates have come out in favor of a Bay bridge connecting the Eastern and Western Shores, higher pay for school teachers, the report of the commission which studied and recommended sweeping changes in the state's fiscal structure.

The 2,000 marchers were part of the 60,000 Jews in Haifa who joined in a general protest strike lasting two hours and a half during the morning.

A general strike of all Palestine Jews was proclaimed for Sunday as a protest against today's deportation, with all Jewish factories, shops and offices to be closed from noon to 6 p. m. while mass meetings and demonstrations take place.

Speed Work Of Scientists

Such machines, he said, will speed up the work of scientists and solve complicated mathematical problems in a fraction of the time taken by a mathematician.

"The solution of many mathematical problems—particularly in integral equations—requires," he said "the exercise of choice and discrimination on the part of the mathematician, which he is able to exercise as a result of experience.

"Even this factor can be covered. Machines now actually in use can exercise a degree of memory, and some are now being designed to exercise those hitherto human prerogatives of choice and judgment."

State Democrats Continue To Hold 2-To-1 "Paper Majority" Over GOP

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1 (AP)—Maryland Democrats continue to hold a more than two-to-one "paper majority" over Republicans, latest registration figures showed today.

Compilations from each of the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City disclosed 828,856 persons on the registration lists—567,368 Democrats, 240,128 Republicans and 21,360 who listed themselves as independents or members of minor parties.

In addition, a survey showed about 5,000 additional residents had registered to vote in the last several weeks, but that clerks had not tabulated late totals. About 3,100 of these late registrants were Baltimoreans.

In piling up a large majority on paper, the Democrats were following Maryland tradition which has held since Civil War days. The size of the majorities have never stood up on election day of course and sometime, when the ballots have been counted, the "majority" has turned out to be a deficit.

Just three of th state's counties have Republican majorities: Allegany, 24,738, to 18,918; Charles 3,542 to 3,216, and Garrett, 6,052 to 3,269.

The total registration figure for the counties was 489,716 — 315,556 Democrats, 164,883 Republicans and 9,277 others. The figures for Baltimore City were 251,812 Democrats, 75,245 Republicans and 12,083 others.

The final figure compared with 833,073 persons registered for the 1942 "off year" election and 854,009 for the presidential election in 1944.

Army To Probe Reports Maj. Gen. Bevans Received "Certain Items"

FRANKFURT, Nov. 1 (AP) — The Kronberg Castle jewel case reached into higher military levels tonight when United Stataes Army headquarters announced it had ordered an investigation into reports that Maj. Gen. James M. Bevans had received "certain items."

Bevans, assistant chief of staff of G-1 (personnel) in United States Army headquarters here, could not be reached for comment, but a close associate said:

"Gen. Bevans will co-operate to the fullest with the inspector general in this investigation. He would like to see this matter cleared up as much as anyone else. You can be sure that those are the general's sentiments."

Bevans' home is at Garden City, Long Island, N. Y.

The reports concerning Bevans originated in testimony by Col. Jack W. Durant at the court-martial of Maj. David Watson this week that Bevans had "accepted" a silver pitcher as a "souvenir" from Kronberg Castle. It was from Kronberg Castle, an officers' club on a hill top north of Frankfurt, that the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels were alleged to have been stolen.

Two Applicants

secured a permit to build an addition at the rear of a building at 9-13 North Front street, and to remodel the building in accordance with plans approved by the city engineer.

The one-story addition will measure 25 by 35 feet, with a concrete foundation, concrete block walls and a tin roof. Two stores will be located on the first floor and two apartments on the second. The estimated cost is $6,000.

THOMAS B. FINAN FOR STATE SENATOR

Fellow Citizens:

On November 5, 1946, you will go to the polls to select those individuals in whom will repose the responsibility for the efficient operation of your State and County government for the next four years. I have never before sought public office nor have I ever held public office, however my conception of public office is such, that I believe, that he who is elected to public office is charged with a sacred trust and that he is answerable to the people who elect him, and to his own conscience, for the manner in which he discharges that trust.

I am an attorney, having been admitted to the Maryland Bar in 1939, and have since that date, with the exception of four years spent in the armed forces, practiced law in Allegany County. I served in World War II as both an enlisted man and an officer, in this country and over seas. I feel that I am in a position to fully appreciate the many problems which today are confronting the veteran and if elected I propose to do everything I can to enact legislation which will assist in solving those problems.

I do not wish to create the impression that I am seeking office, solely as a veterans candidate, for I realize that within the borders of Allegany County, people of many classes, faiths and racial origins reside, and I intend to make it my business, if elected, to see that all classes and groups are represented without prejudice at Annapolis. We live in a typical American community and our future progress and success depends upon the ability of all of our citizens to live and work together with a fair degree of harmony, so that no one particular group or groups of people should have any unfair advantage over others.

I feel that our County and State has nothing to lose but everything to gain by legislation which has as its goal the obtaining of the highest standard of living possible for our laboring people. Common sense dictates that when the working man is prosperous, business will be prosperous. If elected, labor will find me a willing listener to their problems and one who will strive for the enactment of all reasonable legislative demands.

I believe in the right of freedom of enterprise and the right of the little man in business to be protected from unfair competition and overburdening governmental restrictions.

Any worthwhile legislation must take into consideration the impact which that legislation will have on the social, economic and moral welfare of labor, business and industry.

We Americans learned during the recent war what Americans can accomplish when they work as a team, and if elected, I promise that sort of teamwork with every citizen of Allegany County. Your support will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Thomas B. Finan

Red Cross Unit Plans To Buy Station Wagon

To Be Used To Transport Frostburg Patients To Cumberland Clinics

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 1 — Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, Mrs. Kathleen Todd and Mrs. Amer Suter have been named to a committee to purchase a station wagon for the local Red Cross. The committee, representing the motor corps and the home service group, will receive the co-operation of the sewing groups whose members are asked to contact Mrs. James Elias for details of plans by which all groups may co-operate. The sewing group is also making an effort to secure additional sewers to make women's blouses, dresses, capes and snow suits.

At a recent meeting held by the Red Cross Executive committee at the home of Mrs. Walter Jeffries with Mrs. J. C. Cobey presiding, it was reported that the station wagon is needed to accomodate the increasing number of cases from Frostburg and surrounding towns which are being transported to medical clinics in Cumberland.

Mrs. Julius Abramson, who attended the executive committee meeting, commended the Red Cross for the help given to nine families who suffered heavy losses in the fire which destroyed the Abramson properties several weeks ago.

Voters Of Garrett County Reminded Of Election Rules

By GEORGE HANST

OAKLAND, Nov. 1—Voters were being reminded this week by members of the Republican State Central committee to take particular care in voting for County Commissioner as the ruling which was in effect during the primary election still holds good.

A recent law divided the county into county commissioner districts, with the stipulation that only one person from each district could be nominated by each party in the primary, and only one person elected from each district in the general election. One Republican from each district was named in the primary and the Democratic State Central committee named F. C. Clatterbuck as a commissioner candidate.

The only contest among the county commissioners is between J. Edward Helbig, Republican, and Clatterbuck, Democrat, both of election district No. 10, and in County Commissioner district No. 1.

Both Jonas W. Sines, Oakland, and Stewart F. Stahl, of Grantsville, are assured of election as they represent the other two county commissioner districts, having been named at the primary and having no opposition. One vote is all they need to send them into office.

All four names, however, are on the ballot, with the notation that voters shall cast preference for three.

To Address Rotary

Deets Parrack, of Terra Alta, W. Va., will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Oakland Rotary club Friday at 6:15 p. m. at the William-James Hotel. The program is under the auspices of the club service committee of which Mason Glotfelty is chairman.

Reuben Steinmeyer, instructor in political science at the University of Maryland, was the speaker at the last meeting which was an informal Ladies Night.

To Buy Dry Cleaning Plant

R. M. Shank, Harrisonburg, Va., came to Oakland this morning by airplane, to complete arrangements for the purchase of a dry cleaning plant from W. A. Johnson.

The plane landed at Weber's field, south of town.

Sgt. Colgan Stationed At Italian Air Base

European Air Transport Service has announced that Sgt. Charles J. Colgan, Frostburg, is stationed at Capodichino Army Air Base near Naples, Italy.

In his present assignment Sgt. Colgan serves on the Engine Run-up Crew, 910th Air Engineering Squadron, at Mediterranean headquarters for EATS whose C-47 air liners transport military personnel on duty missions, haul vital supplies and freight for the occupying forces, and furnish speedy air transport for prominent persons between Naples, London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Vienna, and nearly a score of other American air fields overseas.

Before entering the service in February 1945, Sgt. Colgan was graduated from Grantsville High School, and later was employed at the Celanese Corporation of America. He was shipped overseas in February 1946 and was promoted to his present rank of sergeant in May. When asked about his plans after being discharged from the army Sgt. Colgan said he was planning to enter college.

Garrett Teachers' Group To Submit Recommendation

Demands For Pay Increase To Be Submitted To General Session Today

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md., Nov. 1 — The Legislative and School Welfare committee of the Garrett County Teachers' Association, at a luncheon meeting at the William-James Hotel developed recommendations for a program of educational advancement for the county.

Those present included Merle D. Frantz, chairman, Oakland; Marvin Callis, Carl Everly, F. D. Bittle, Gladys Hamill, Bruce Jenkins, Charley B. Miller, Lucille Mitchell, Ervin S. Smith, Kathryn Speicher and Velora Swauger.

The committee developed and unanimously adopted the following recommendations:

1—That the association endorse and support a revised state minimum salary schedule beginning at $2,200, for teachers with bachelor's degree certification, with annual increments for service.

2—That the association endorse and support any necessary increase in the county tax rate to secure the benefits for education in Garrett County which accrue from a revision in the distribution of state revenue.

3—That the association endorse and support the payment of $300 additional salary from local sources to every teacher in the county for this year's work; this being the minimum additional salary paid to teachers in any other county in the state.

Mr. Frantz said these recommendations would be presented to the entire association at an open meeting in Accident on Saturday. A large atterndance of teachers is expected by the committee as the success of this program is of vital interest to every teacher, he concluded.

Farm Bureau To Meet

The annual meeting of the Garrett County Farm Bureau will be held in the Accident High School auditorium next Thursday night, November 7, at 7:30 p. m., with William Winterberg, president, Grantsville, presiding.

Special guests will be from the Maryland State office. The program will consist of greetings and remarks and special musical numbers by Mrs. Elmer Miller and daughter. The main address will be given by L. S. Hargley, Morgantown, W. Va., agriculture agent for the B. and O. railroad. Mrs. Harry Barton will have charge of group singing. Officers and directors are to be elected.

At the close, refreshments will be served by directors of of the associated women's organization. Approximately 600 persons are expected to be present.

Millhouser Case Dismissed

The case of Henry M. Millhouser against the County Commissioners of Garrett County which was instituted in the local Circuit Court last May and later removed to Cumberland for trial upon petition of the plaintiff was entered dismissed last Friday by order of F. Brooke Whiting and Walter W. Dawson, attorneys for Mr. Millhouser.

It was declared in the declaration filed in the case on behalf of Mr. Millhouser, that he had fallen on the Court House steps because of their defective condition on March 12 and had suffered severe injuries. Claim was made for $5,000 damages. The County Commissioners, through their attorney, E. R. Jones, demurred to the declaration and denied liability, the defense being based upon a decision of the Court of Appeals in a case which went up from Harford County in 1937, in which it was held the county could not be required to pay for injuries sustained in and about a Court House. This was found applicable to the facts of the Millhouser case and it was accordingly dismissed.

Announcement of the appointment of H. M. Casteel, a former Garrett county boy, as general merchandise manager of the stores of the Union Supply company, Pittsburgh, was made by F. R. Walton, president of the company.

The Union Supply company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, has a vast chain of stores in all parts of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama.

Mr. Casteel began work with the company some 20 years ago as a clerk in one of their smaller stores. He later served as manager of the stores near Uniontown. Five years ago he was appointed assistant purchasing agent with offices in Pittsburgh.

The new appointment places him in charge of all their stores in the capacity of General Merhandise manager, effective October 8.

Mr. Casteel is well known in church work in the Pittsburgh area, being active in Sunday School work. He is a member of the Pittsburgh League of Christian Business Men, and elder of the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, and a director of the Youth for Christ Movement in Pittsburgh. He is the eldest son of the late Hamill Casteel, of this county.

FHA Office Opens

The local Farm Security Administration office opened Friday with a new name and a new program.

County Supervisor B. Beeson Snyder announced that the new Farmers' Home Administration program, established by Congress at its last session to simplify and improve credit services for farmers, became effective November 1. The office is now FHA rather than FSA.

Snyder said the new program would follow closely the 10-year-old Farm Security program of loans and supervision for farmers. Mr. Snyder was in Baltimore this week learning about the new program.

The Farm Security operating loans for feed, seed, fertilizer, tools, livestock and other non real estate expenses will be replaced by FHA operating loans at the same rates, terms and interest.

In Garrett county 50 farmers are now financing their operations with loans of this type, it was stated. The FS loans for farm ownership under the Bankhead-Jones Tenant act will continue, but with interest raised from 3 to 3½ percent. The maxi-

Red Cross Unit Plans To Buy Station Wagon

To Be Used To Transport Frostburg Patients To Cumberland Clinics

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 1 — Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, Mrs. Kathleen Todd and Mrs. Amer Suter have been named to a committee to purchase a station wagon for the local Red Cross. The committee, representing the motor corps and the home service group, will receive the co-operation of the sewing groups whose members are asked to contact Mrs. James Elias for details of plans by which all groups may cooperate. The sewing group is also making an effort to secure additional sewers to make women's blouses, dresses, capes and snow suits.

At a recent meeting held by the Red Cross Executive committee at the home of Mrs. Walter Jeffries with Mrs. J. C. Cobey presiding, it was reported that the station wagon is needed to accomodate the increasing number of cases from Frostburg and surrounding towns which are being transported to medical clinics in Cumberland.

Mrs. Julius Abramson, who attended the executive committee meeting, commended the Red Cross for the help given to nine families who suffered heavy losses in the fire which destroyed the Abramson properties several weeks ago.

Voters Of Garrett County Reminded Of Election Rules

By GEORGE HANST

OAKLAND, Nov. 1—Voters were being reminded this week by members of the Republican State Central committee to take particular care in voting for County Commissioner as the ruling which was in effect during the primary election still holds good.

A recent law divided the county into county commissioner districts, with the stipulation that only one person from each district could be nominated by each party in the primary, and only one person elected from each district in the general election. One Republican from each district was named in the primary and the Democratic State Central committee named E. C. Clatterbuck as a commissioner candidate.

The only contest among the county commissioners is between J. Edward Helbig, Republican, and Clatterbuck, Democrat, both of election district No. 10, and in County Commissioner district No. 1.

Both Jonas W. Sines, Oakland, and Stewart F. Stahl, of Grantsville, are assured of election as they represent the other two county commissioner districts, having been named at the primary and having no opposition. One vote is all they need to send them into office.

All four names, however, are on the ballot, with the notation that voters shall cast preference for three.

To Address Rotary

Deets Parrack, of Terra Alta, W. Va., will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Oakland Rotary club Friday at 6:15 p. m. at the William-James Hotel. The program is under the auspices of the club service committee of which Mason Glotfelty is chairman.

Reuben Steinmeyer, instructor in political science at the University of Maryland, was the speaker at the last meeting which was an informal Ladies Night.

To Buy Dry Cleaning Plant

R. M. Shank, Harrisonburg, Va., came to Oakland this morning by airplane, to complete arrangements for the purchase of a dry cleaning plant from W. A. Johnson.

The plane landed at Weber's field, south of town.

Sgt. Colgan Stationed At Italian Air Base

European Air Transport Service has announced that Sgt. Charles J. Colgan, Frostburg, is stationed at Capodichino Army Air Base near Naples, Italy.

In his present assignment Sgt. Colgan serves on the Engine Run-up Crew, 910th Air Engineering Squadron, at Mediterranean headquarters for EATS whose C-47 air liners transport military personnel on duty missions, haul vital supplies and freight for the occupying forces, and furnish speedy air transport for prominent persons between Naples, London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Vienna, and nearly a score of other American air fields overseas.

Before entering the service in February 1945, Sgt. Colgan was graduated from Grantsville High School, and later was employed at the Celanese Corporation of America. He was shipped overseas in February 1946 and was promoted to his present rank of sergeant in May. When asked about his plans after being discharged from the army Sgt. Colgan said he was planning to enter college.

Garrett Teachers' Group To Submit Recommendation

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md., Nov. 1 — The Legislative and School Welfare committee of the Garrett County Teachers' Association, at a luncheon meeting at the William-James Hotel developed recommendations for a program of educational advancement for the county.

Those present included Merle D. Frantz, chairman, Oakland; Marvin Callis, Carl Everly, F. D. Bittle, Gladys Hamill, Bruce Jenkins, Charley B. Miller, Lucille Mitchell, Ervin S. Smith, Kathryn Speicher and Velora Swauger.

The committee developed and unanimously adopted the following recommendations:

1—That the association endorse and support a revised state minimum salary schedule beginning at $2,200, for teachers with bachelor's degree certification, with annual increments for service.

2—That the association endorse and support any necessary increase in the county tax rate to secure the benefits for education in Garrett County which accrue from a revision in the distribution of state revenue.

3—That the association endorse and support the payment of $300 additional salary from local sources to every teacher in the county for this year's work; this being the minimum additional salary paid to teachers in any other county in the state.

Mr. Frantz said these recommendations would be presented to the entire association at an open meeting in Accident on Saturday. A large atterndance of teachers is expected by the committee as the success of this program is of vital interest to every teacher, he concluded.

Farm Bureau To Meet

The annual meeting of the Garrett County Farm Bureau will be held in the Accident High School auditorium next Thursday night, November 7, at 7:30 p. m., with William Winterberg, president, Grantsville, presiding.

Special guests will be from the Maryland State office. The program will consist of greetings and remarks and special musical numbers by Mrs. Elmer Miller and daughter. The main address will be given by L. S. Hargley, Morgantown, W. Va., agriculture agent for the B. and O. railroad. Mrs. Harry Barton will have charge of group singing. Officers and directors are to be elected.

At the close, refreshments will be served by directors of of the associated women's organization. Approximately 600 persons are expected to be present.

Millhouser Case Dismissed

The case of Henry M. Millhouser against the County Commissioners of Garrett County which was instituted in the local Circuit Court last May and later removed to Cumberland for trial upon petition of the plaintiff was entered dismissed last Friday by order of F. Brooke Whiting and Walter W. Dawson, attorneys for Mr. Millhouser.

It was declared in the declaration filed in the case on behalf of Mr. Millhouser, that he had fallen on the Court House steps because of their defective condition on March 12 and had suffered severe injuries. Claim was made for $5,000 damages. The County Commissioners, through their attorney, E. R. Jones, demurred to the declaration and denied liability, the defense being based upon a decision of the Court of Appeals in a case which went up from Harford County in 1937, in which it was held the county could not be required to pay for injuries sustained in and about a Court House. This was found applicable to the facts of the Millhouser case and it was accordingly dismissed.

Announcement of the appointment of H. M. Casteel, a former Garrett county boy, as general merchandise manager of the stores of the Union Supply company, Pittsburgh, was made by F. R. Walton, president of the company.

The Union Supply company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, has a vast chain of stores in all parts of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama.

Mr. Casteel began work with the company some 20 years ago as a clerk in one of their smaller stores. He later served as manager of the stores near Uniontown. Five years ago he was appointed assistant purchasing agent with offices in Pittsburgh.

The new appointment places him in charge of all their stores in the capacity of General Merhandise manager, effective October 8.

Mr. Casteel is well known in church work in the Pittsburgh area, being active in Sunday School work. He is a member of the Pittsburgh League of Christian Business Men, and elder of the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, and a director of the Youth for Christ Movement in Pittsburgh. He is the eldest son of the late Hamill Casteel, of this county.

FHA Office Opens

The local Farm Security Administration office opened Friday with a new name and a new program.

County Supervisor B. Beeson Snyder announced that the new Farmers' Home Administration program, established by Congress at its last session to simplify and improve credit services for farmers, became effective November 1. The office is now FHA rather than FSA.

Snyder said the new program would follow closely the 10-year-old Farm Security program of loans and supervision for farmers. Mr. Snyder was in Baltimore this week learning about the new program.

The Farm Security operating loans for feed, seed, fertilizer, tools, livestock and other non real estate expenses will be replaced by FHA operating loans at the same rates, terms and interest.

In Garrett county 50 farmers are now financing their operations with loans of this type, it was stated. The FS loans for farm ownership under the Bankhead-Jones Tenant act will continue, but with interest raised from 3 to 3½ percent. The maxi-

KEMPTON, Nov. 1 — A Halloween social was held at the school building on October 29 by the Parent-Teachers Association. Prizes were awarded for the best dressed and funniest costumes. Those chosen by the judges were best dressed, Patty Anne Cook, Suzanne Povish; funniest, Velma Culp and Liticia Fox.

A Queen was also chosen for Kempton school. Dorothy Tasker was elected by 2,300 votes and Marion Lantz followed her with 2,100 votes. Attendants were Julia Karlovich, Marion Lantz, Nancy Haburjok, Suzanne Povish and Patricia Cook.

Other entertainments were the Spook Room, Music Room and Grab Bag, Guess Cake and Cake Walk. On sale were ginger cake, sandwiches and tonic. The amount taken in was $109.26 which will be used to add books to the school library.

William Powish Injured

William Powish, 55, is a patient in an Elkins Hospital with lacerations of the face and a possible fracture of the skull caused by an accident while he was working for the Davis Coal and Coke Company Mine No. 42 last week.

As he was caging coal at the bottom of the Mine Shaft, a rock falling from the top of the shaft, a distance of 420 feet, hit him on the head. The impact of the rock shattered his steel cap. His condition is said to be serious.

Advice To The Lovelorn

You Can't Help People Unless They Ask You For Assistance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Did you ever see some one on a downward slide and find yourself powerless to do anything? I am writing to you for the sake of two children: one 9, one 18, whose parents are both from grand families, but who seem intent on destroying themselves. This is their history:

Twenty years ago, very much in love, they were married. They had their ups and downs, and somewhere along the way the husband began stopping off, on the way home, for a few beers and then he started to go out, alone, evenings. This started quarreling between them but then the wife began to go along with him in the evenings and things got worse all the time. Their drinking makes them both quarrelsome and when they get home they disturb the neighbors. Their older boy is shamed by other boys, and what is crueller than feeling shamed for one's own mother?

What this couple needs to realize is, that if they get worse, their young son is going to be taken away from them by the courts through the action of incensed onlookers. Could you write something about this in the hope of saving four grand people?

"ANON."

It is a very sad, but very real fact, of life that you can't help people unless they know they need help and ask for it. It is a very heartbreaking thing to have to stand by and watch people for whom you care hurting themselves and those close to them. But unless in some way they begin to realize the tragic mistake they are making and decide themselves, that they want to live differently, there is almost nothing anyone else can do. Talking to people in such a situation rarely accomplishes anything.

In this particular case, the writer of this letter might try to befriend the two boys as much as possible, in an attempt to make life a little happier for them. But, as far as altering the behavior of the parents is concerned, about all she can do is to wait and hope that something will happen to wake them up.

More Confidence Needed

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a boy of 22 and I am in love with a girl of 21.

I would like to go steady with her, but I haven't the nerve to ask her. I took her out several times, but when I wanted to ask her to go steady, the words just wouldn't come out. Whenever I do get up the nerve to ask her, it seems she is never alone.

I can't get her out of my mind; I love her so much. I would be very grateful to you if you could tell me what I can do about it.

"C. I.

What could there possibly be about a girl that would make you feel so nervous about asking her to go steady? I am sure you are just as worth-while a person as she is and have just as much to recommend you. Keep your mind on your good points and don't let an inferiority complex get the best of you.

Why make such a point right now, anyhow, of asking her to go steady? Why not just keep on asking her out on dates, making it as often as you can get away with it? When she sees that you are that much interested in her, she will probably get the idea, herself, that you'd like her to go steady, and the thing may just happen of itself, without the necessity for any definite words.

If she is interested in you, she will just naturally respond to your initations, which will make it easier for you to speak your piece when the right time comes. And on the other hand, if she doesn't accept your frequent invitations, you will get the idea, painlessly, that she is not interested in going steady and won't be embarrassed by being turned down in so many words. Don't you think this is a good idea?

Commerce Office Gets New Leader

John Weber has been named manager of the district office of the Department of Commerce in Baltimore, according to Carlton Hayward, director of field service. The Baltimore office serves all of Maryland.

This office is a part of the largely expanded field service of the department which consists of 76 regional and district offices covering the entire country. The Baltimore office is located at Room 312, U. S. Appraisers Stores Building, 103 S. Gay street, Post Office Zone 2.

The purpose of the wide expansion in the field service of the Department of Commerce is to make promptly available to a larger business audience up-to-date business, economic and technical information. A special counseling service is provided, particularly for small businessmen and veterans. Field service personnel also cooperate closely in regional, state and local efforts to foster and promote commerce.

Immediately prior to Mr. Weber's appointment as head of the Baltimore field office he had served as acting district manager.

From March 1934 to December 1940, Mr. Weber was purchasing agent for the Smith Incubator Manufacturing Co., Bucyrus, Ohio, producers of the world's largest chicken incubators. In December 1940 he came to the office of the quartermaster general in Washington and was placed in charge of procurement of cold climate equipment and tools required by Army forces in Alaska, Greenland and Iceland.

Leaving this employment in April 1942, Mr. Weber became materials and machinery engineer of the Bartlett Hayward Division, The Koppers Company, in Baltimore, industrial fabricators and manufacturers. In August 1944 he was appointed district manager of the Smaller War Plants Corporation in Baltimore. In December 1945 he was transferred to the Philadelphia regional office of the SWPC as regional chief of surplus property. With the passing of SWPC in January 1946 Mr. Weber became district manager of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Baltimore. He was released by the RFC to enter the field service of the Department of Commerce.

Cement Worker Is Hurt

Richard Dunn, 31, Mt. Savage, an employe of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, was treated in Allegany Hospital yesterday morning for a right foot injury suffered, he reported, when the wheels of a truck ran over his foot.

Two Hunters Fined For Illegal Kills

Bedford, Pa., Nov. 1—Two local hunters, William Cook and Tom Holderman, were fined $100 and costs for violations of the state game laws here this week at a hearing before Justice of the Peace H. Cyril Bingham.

Holderman was charged with killing a deer out of season and Cook with having the same deer in his possession.

Testimony disclosed that Holderman had killed the deer in the woods and had informed Cook where it had been left in the forest. Cook, it was testified, had been told that if he took the deer out of the woods he would be given a share of the meat. When he hauled the animal out to load it in an automobile the game warden was waiting for him.

The venison wound up in the cooler of a local butcher shop.

Coal Company's Profits

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1 (AP)—Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company today reported net profit of $4,168,711.96 for the first nine months of 1946, the equivalent of $1.97 per share of common stock. Figures for the corresponding period last year were not available since the merger of the Pittsburgh Coal and Consolidation Coal Companies had not taken place at that time.

CLASP A HAND

Someone has sent me, from an unknown source, this short quotation:

"Let us clasp hands as we walk together, for no man knows on the morrow whether we two pass on or walk alone."

I think there's a whole religion in those lines, and never have we needed that religion so greatly as we do today.

For never has life been so insecure or so lonely.

We reach out in the darkness but there is only more darkness. We cannot tell whether we will find a home or a job or a friend. All the old things by which our fathers found their way have been lost or wrecked. There is only one thing that endures—one thing on which we can always count—and that is kindness. We can grasp a hand.

It seems a little thing to do, and yet it bridges the black abyss of despair more often than we guess.

We can grasp a hand. And so often just that handclasp will bring hope back to a faint heart and pride to a shamed head.

Few of us are rich. Few of us can give much of earthly goods, but we can all grasp some hand as we pass by.

And we can grasp that hand now. Tomorrow may be too late. That bright young lad who ran laughing down the hill, that dearly loved old hand which lay trembling in yours a moment since may not come again. This may be your last chance to do the one thing that counts above all others on earth—to grasp a hand.

Don't pass that last chance up.

Don't take it for granted. Without a handclasp and a friend this world would be the cruelest hell there is.

Give yourself now. Don't put off that letter you meant to write. Don't choke back the words you planned to say or the call you're going to make on your sick neighbor. They are needed now and that need cannot wait . . .

For your own sake as well as your neighbor's, give that handclasp now. For you need him as much as he needs you. You need him in the secret places of your soul where we must all walk alone. You need him in your grief and in your joy, in your fear and in your wonder.

There is no end to our need of each other. Earth would be heaven if we dared give the handclasps we put off until another day.

Reward May Spur Search For Missing Student

A reward of $25 has been offered for information leading to the finding of William E. Baker, Jr., 14-year-old son of William E. Baker, 514 Baltimore avenue, who has been missing from his home since September 26.

Baker's fellow workers in the winch dye house at the Celanese plant are offering the award in the hope of spurring the search for the Fort Hill High School student. The lad is described as five feet eight inches tall, 135 pounds, is dark complexioned has dark brown hair and eyes and was wearing army shirt and pants when last seen.

Bulb Burns 20 Years

Leads Selected For School Play

Elton Watson, Robert Crabtree, Frances Heller, and Donald Tharp will head the cast of "January Thaw," the three-act comedy to be presented on December 13 in the Fort Hill High School auditorium under the direction of Miss Gerardine Pritchard.

"January Thaw" is a farce by William Roos, based on the novel written by Bellamy Partridge. The Fort Hill Players will work from the script used by Ezra Stone who staged the successful Broadway production last year.

Miss Watson will play the role of Mathilda Rockwood, a typical Yankee. Miss Watson is new to Fort Hill audiences, but has been active in club affairs. She is treasurer of the Fort Hill Players.

In the role of Jonathan Rockwood will be Crabtree, who is known best for his interpretation of Jake in "Papa Is All!"

In the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Gage, who seek peace and security in the country seclusion of an old Connecticut farmhouse, will appear Tharp and Frances Heller.

Others in the cast are Louise Wigfield, Geraldine McGee, Jean Allen, Ronald Sheally, Harry Lloyd, Dorothy Brinkman, Charles Hammaker, and Charles Crawford.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Commerce Office Gets New Leader

John Weber has been named manager of the district office of the Department of Commerce in Baltimore, according to Carlton Hayward, director of field service. The Baltimore office serves all of Maryland.

This office is a part of the largely expanded field service of the department which consists of 76 regional and district offices covering the entire country. The Baltimore office is located at Room 312, U. S. Appraisers Stores Building, 103 S. Gay street, Post Office Zone 2.

The purpose of the wide expansion in the field service of the Department of Commerce is to make promptly available to a larger business audience up-to-date business, economic and technical information. A special counseling service is provided, particularly for small businessmen and veterans. Field service personnel also cooperate closely in regional, state and local efforts to foster and promote commerce.

Immediately prior to Mr. Weber's appointment as head of the Baltimore field office he had served as acting district manager.

From March 1934 to December 1940, Mr. Weber was purchasing agent for the Smith Incubator Manufacturing Co., Bucyrus, Ohio, producers of the world's largest chicken incubators. In December 1940 he came to the office of the quartermaster general in Washington and was placed in charge of procurement of cold climate equipment and tools required by Army forces in Alaska, Greenland and Iceland.

Leaving this employment in April 1942, Mr. Weber became materials and machinery engineer of the Bartlett Hayward Division, The Koppers Company, in Baltimore, industrial fabricators and manufacturers. In August 1944 he was appointed district manager of the Smaller War Plants Corporation in Baltimore. In December 1945 he was transferred to the Philadelphia regional office of the SWPC as regional chief of surplus property. With the passing of SWPC in January 1946 Mr. Weber became district manager of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Baltimore. He was released by the RFC to enter the field service of the Department of Commerce.

Two Hunters Fined For Illegal Kills

Bedford, Pa., Nov. 1—Two local hunters, William Cook and Tom Holderman, were fined $100 and costs for violations of the state game laws here this week at a hearing before Justice of the Peace H. Cyril Bingham.

Holderman was charged with killing a deer out of season and Cook with having the same deer in his possession.

Testimony disclosed that Holderman had killed the deer in the woods and had informed Cook where it had been left in the forest. Cook, it was testified, had been told that if he took the deer out of the woods he would be given a share of the meat. When he hauled the animal out to load it in an automobile the game warden was waiting for him.

The venison wound up in the cooler of a local butcher shop.

Coal Company's Profits

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1 (AP)—Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company today reported net profit of $4,168,711.96 for the first nine months of 1946, the equivalent of $1.97 per share of common stock. Figures for the corresponding period last year were not available since the merger of the Pittsburgh Coal and Consolidation Coal Companies had not taken place at that time.

CLASP A HAND

Someone has sent me, from an unknown source, this short quotation:

"Let us clasp hands as we walk together, for no man knows on the morrow whether we two pass on or walk alone."

I think there's a whole religion in those lines, and never have we needed that religion so greatly as we do today.

For never has life been so insecure or so lonely.

We reach out in the darkness but there is only more darkness. We cannot tell whether we will find a home or a job or a friend. All the old things by which our fathers found their way have been lost or wrecked. There is only one thing that endures—one thing on which we can always count—and that is kindness. We can grasp a hand.

It seems a little thing to do, and yet it bridges the black abyss of despair more often than we guess.

We can grasp a hand. And so often just that handclasp will bring hope back to a faint heart and pride to a shamed head.

Few of us are rich. Few of us can give much of earthly goods, but we can all grasp some hand as we pass by.

And we can grasp that hand now. Tomorrow may be too late. That bright young lad who ran laughing down the hill, that dearly loved old hand which lay trembling in yours a moment since may not come again. This may be your last chance to do the one thing that counts above all others on earth—to grasp a hand.

Don't pass that last chance up. Don't take it for granted. Without a handclasp and a friend this world would be the cruelest hell there is.

Give yourself now. Don't put off that letter you meant to write. Don't choke back the words you planned to say or the call you're going to make on your sick neighbor. They are needed now and that need cannot wait . . .

For your own sake as well as your neighbor's, give that handclasp now. For you need him as much as he needs you. You need him in the secret places of your soul where we must all walk alone. You need him in your grief and in your joy, in your fear and in your wonder.

There is no end to our need of each other. Earth would be heaven if we dared give the handclasps we put off until another day.

Reward May Spur Search For Missing Student

A reward of $25 has been offered for information leading to the finding of William E. Baker, Jr., 14-year-old son of William E. Baker, 514 Baltimore avenue, who has been missing from his home since September 26.

Baker's fellow workers in the winch dye house at the Celanese plant are offering the award in the hope of spurring the search for the Fort Hill High School student. The lad is described as five feet eight inches tall, 135 pounds, is dark complexioned has dark brown hair and eyes and was wearing army shirt and pants when last seen.

Bulb Burns 20 Years

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 1 (AP)—An electric light bulb burned out in Mrs. C. T. Mentzner's home this week, but she had no complaints. The bulb was purchased here 20 years ago and had been in regular use ever since.

Leads Selected For School Play

Elton Watson, Robert Crabtree, Frances Heller, and Donald Tharp will head the cast of "January Thaw," the three-act comedy to be presented on December 13 in the Fort Hill High School auditorium under the direction of Miss Geraldine Pritchard.

"January Thaw" is a farce by William Roos, based on the novel written by Bellamy Partridge. The Fort Hill Players will work from the script used by Ezra Stone who staged the successful Broadway production last year.

Miss Watson will play the role of Mathilda Rockwood, a typical Yankee. Miss Watson is new to Fort Hill audiences, but has been active in club affairs. She is treasurer of the Fort Hill Players.

In the role of Jonathan Rockwood will be Crabtree, who is known best for his interpretation of Jake in "Papa Is All!"

In the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Gage, who seek peace and security in the country seclusion of an old Connecticut farmhouse, will appear Tharp and Frances Heller.

Others in the cast are Louise Wigfield, Geraldine McGee, Jean Allen, Ronald Sheally, Harry Lloyd, Dorothy Brinkman, Charles Hammaker, and Charles Crawford.

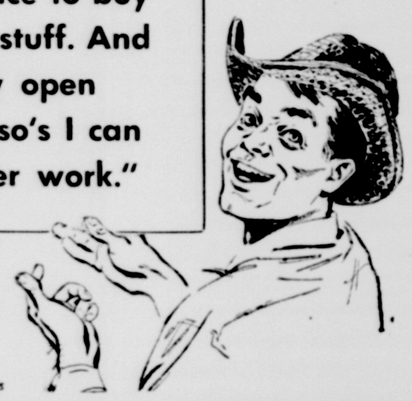

Former Army-Navy Vets Return To Colors

Joseph Foley, brother of Mrs. Richard Payne, Paw Paw, W. Va., has re-enlisted in the navy for four years and is now stationed at Lakehurst, N. J.

Charles W. Washington, negro, Keyser, W. Va., enlisted in the army for 18 months yesterday. He previously served four years in an engineer battalion.

The army recruiting station yesterday announced that enlistments will be accepted for the 82nd and 11th Airborne divisions and that former army officers who wish to apply for commissions will find information and application blanks at the recruiting station here.

LaSalle High School's Explorers and St. Francis Prep, of Spring Grove, Pa., staged a thrilling "aerial circus" in the local stadium last night as Coach John J. Long's eleven crashed the win column for the first time this season in six starts. The score was 20 to 6.

A total of 41 forward passes were thrown in the wide open battle — 21 by LaSalle and 20 by the Pennsylvanians — and the Explorers accounted for two of their touchdowns via the air.

The Explorers' overhead attack clicked 11 times in 21 tries for a total of 165 yards while the Prepsters connected only thrice in 20 attempts for 54 yards.

Riggins Dashes 42 Yards

LaSalle scored its first touchdown late in the first period following a 68-yard march, featured by a 42-yard run by Fullback Tracy Riggins. His dash came after the Explorers had been penalized 15 yards when Capt. Yates Borden, an illegal receiver, caught one of Cloonan's many passes. After Riggins had scampered to the Saints' 20, Cloonan's pass to Jim Dorsey was good for 14 yards and another aerial, Cloonan to Joe Reissig in the end zone, produced the touchdown. Johnny Esposito plunged the extra point.

The boys from the North Centre Street school used the forward pass as a scoring weapon midway in the second period. After Jim Breen had punted to Cloonan and the latter returned the ball to the visitors' 21, the LaSalle quarterback heaved the pigskin into the end zone to Jim Dorsey, who speared the ball while on the gallop. Cloonan's pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Esposito Intercepts Pass

LaSalle's final touchdown came late in the third period and passes paved the way to this score. The drive started when Johnny Esposito intercepted Foizey's serial and raced 20 yards to the St. Francis 47. This march was marked by a 31-yard pass, Cloonan to Jim Dorsey and a Cloonan to John Nesbit overhead thrust good for six yards, which put the ball on the Saints' 10. Riggins smashed the line for three yards and Joe Nesbit ran the remaining seven for the score. Cloonan's pass to Nesbit for the extra point was good.

Jimmy Breen's interception of Carter's southpaw pass set the stage for the Pennsylvanias' lone touchdown just before the final whistle. Breen snared the pass on the 43 and ran to midfield. Foizy's pass to Rocereto was good for 17 yards and a first on LaSalle's 33. Then Foizy hurled a 21 yard aerial to Dobscha for another first on the LaSalle 12. On the first play Foizy skirted an end for the 12 yards and the touchdown. Kipple's kick for the point was low.

St. Francis outscored LaSalle 15 to 9 in first downs and also topped the locals in yardage gained rushing, 276 to 165. The lineups:

Miami Wins 26-21

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1 (AP)—Twenty-six thousand fans tonight witnessed a 109-yard touchdown gallop by Villanova College's Bob Polidor, and a stirring gridiron battle won 26 to 21 by the University of Miami.

The Shibe Park spectators whooped and hollered almost from start to finish in one of the wildest, roughest games ever played in Philadelphia. At least 10 players had to be carried from the field.

But, despite Miami's victory, it was Polidor's show. The 23-year-old ex-marine who became the father of a girl last Tuesday caught Harry Ghaul's kickoff nine yards deep in his end zone in the dying moments of the first half and with a powerful burst of speed, outran the entire Miami team to score. It equalled a 109 run by Edmund Burke in the 1931 Mississippi-Alabama game.

Navy Jayvees Win

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1 (AP)—Navy's 150-pound grid squad rolled to a 15-0 victory over Cornell's Junior Varsity today in a rugged encounter in which two other Middie touchdowns were nullified on penalties.

Cornell never seriously threatened and the nearest the little Big Reds ever went to Navy tally territory was that 40 yard stripe. After the second period, in which the Junior Middie gridders tallied three times with one touchdown nullified, Cornell's offensive was confined to its own half of the field.

GAMES NEXT WEDNESDAY

Bruce at Beall
Barton at Flintstone

Jimmie Howard booted Bruce High School into a first place tie with Beall High School in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League championship race yesterday when he accounted for all of the field goals and Coach John "Chip" Grindle's undefeated eleven downed Agricultural High School of Flintstone, at Memorial Park, Westernport, by the score of 3-1.

Howard registered his first goal one and a half minutes after the game got under way, scored again in the third period and registered his final goal midway in the last period.

The game was also highlighted by the play of Parsons, Bruce centerhalfback, and Kisamore and Rexroad, halfbacks of the Flintstone team.

It was Bruce's fifth triumph against one tie.

Bruce and Beall, which battled to a 2-2 deadlock in their first meeting, will clash next Wednesday at Frostburg in a game that will likely determine the league championship.

Barton High School shook a six-game losing streak when Jack Bean booted a field goal in the third period to sink Central High School at Lonaconing by the score of 1-0.

The victory was the second of the week for Barton, Coach Footen's eleven having defeated Kitzmiller High in a non-league contest Wednesday in Kitzmiller by the score of 2-1.

Parsons Panthers Cop 7th Straight From Terra Alta

Intercepted Passes Bring Two Touchdowns In 25 To 6 Triumph

PARSONS, W. Va., Nov. 1—Parsons High School's Panthers extended their winning streak to seven games today when they turned back Terra Alta High School, of Preston County, by the score of 25 to 6.

It was the final home game of the season for Coach Homer Brooks' eleven which will conclude its campaign next Friday by playing the Ridgeley High Blackhawks at Ridgeley, W. Va.

Intercepted passes gave the Panthers two of their scores. In the opening period L. Phillips intercepted a Terra Alta aerial and galloped 33 yards for a touchdown while the third score of the game came in the second period when Garvey Gilmore picked one of the visitors' overhead thrusts out of the air and sprinted 46 yards for the six-pointer.

Garvey Gilmore marked up the first of his two touchdowns early in the second period by smashing off tackle from the three-yard stripe. L. Phillips drop-kicked the extra point.

A quarterback sneak by Don Gilmore produced Parsons' final touchdown in the fourth period. He toted the pigskin over from the two.

Terra Alta's touchdown was registered in the third stanza when Fullback Kelley hit Left End Berchdorff with a 23-yard pass in the end zone.

The Tucker Countains, who have not lost a game since the opener on September 20, marked up ten first downs to Terra Alta's four. The Panthers piled up 283 yards and lost 14 yards rushing compared to Terra Alta's gain of 119 and loss of 29. Parsons gained 22 yards on passes and the visitors 46. The lineups:

West Liberty Tops St. Vincent, 13-6

3,000 See Teachers Score Twice In Last Period To Beat Bearcats

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP)—Surging with power in the second half, West Liberty State College of West Virginia came from behind here tonight to score two touchdowns in the final quarter and whip the St. Vincent College Bearcats 13-6.

About 3,000 spectators saw the Pennsylvanians score first, midway in the second quarter following a recovered fumble on the Hilltoppers 36 yard line. Puskar raced off tackle for a touchdown immediately afterward.

Near the end of the third quarter the visitors marked up three straight first downs to advance 49 yards. At the climax of the drive, Fusoic went over from 18 inches to score.

Then Decola picked up a fumble and raced 29 yards to the six. On the next play, he caught a pass from Zilla for the second touchdown. McKee's kick was good. Score by periods.

CLIFF BATTLES IS APPOINTED COACH OF BROOKLYN DODGERS

National League Record Holder Will Succeed Dr. Mal Stevens

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Cliff Battles, onetime terror of professional gridirons, was signed today as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers and said his first "break" was postponement of tonight's Dodgers-Chicago Rockets game.

The All-America Conference engagement was postponed until tomorrow night because of rain.

"It will give me a chance to become better acquainted with the players and I won't feel as though I'm going into this business so cold," said Battles, who was conducted personally into Chicago today by Bill Cox, the Dodgers' front office chief.

He helped Dick Hanley, ousted Rocket coach, with the El Toro (Calif.) Marines in 1944 before going overseas.

In the victorious 1937 season with Washington, Battles carried the ball 216 times, a National League record which still stands. He made 740 yards for a 4.9 average. The 215 yards he gained against the Giants in 1933 still is the most yardage produced by an individual player in pro football history.

"I have picked up a lot of ideas on football, but I am going to feel my way along as we go," said the 36-year-old successor of Dr. Mal Stevens.

"This means the Dodgers will keep the basic single wing. I watched the Dodgers play twice and was impressed by Glenn Dobbs' versatality, but decidedly the Dodgers will not be a one-man team. We have good personnel."

Saturday night's game also will mark the debut of the Rockets' new head coach, Pat Boland.

Klein, Former Cardinal, Praises Mexican League

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Nov. 1—(AP)—Lou Klein, former St. Louis Cardinal infielder, stopped off here today en route to Havana to play in the Cuban winter circuit and dropped a word of praise for the Mexican Baseball League.

The principles—and the paychecks—he said, of th eMexican league suit—he said, of the Mexican ball players who jumped to the Tabala circuit.

"To the best of my knowledge," he went on, "All of us who stuck out the season were well satisfied with the treatment we received."

Keyser High Drops 22-7 Decision At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 1—Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets moved within one game of retaining the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Keyser High School's Golden Tornado today by the score of 22 to 7.

Approximately 1,000 persons saw Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven score its fifth consecutive conference victory. The one remaining game on Moorefield's PVC schedule is with Fort Ashby here next Friday. The latter team has lost four straight games in the conference.

The Jackets put today's crucial game on ice in the very first period by scoring a touchdown, extra point and safety; added seven points in the third quarter and marked up another touchdown in the final period. Keyser's score came in the second stanza.

Hott Runs 65 Yards

Moorefield registered its first touchdown on the second play of the game. Tommy Quinn kicked off to the 15 and Dwight Kessell returned the ball to the 34. On the opening play Bill Harman plunged to the 35 and then George Hott raced down the sidelines for 65 yards and a touchdown. Keller converted the try for point from placement.

After the succeeding kickoff, Keyser punted out of bounds on the Moorefield 30. Then the Jackets drove to Keyser's one yard stripe but lost the ball on downs. In attempting to pass, Quinn was brought down behind his own goal line for a Moorefield safety.

In the second period Hott's bad punt went out of bounds on the 22. A pass, Quinn to Blamer carried the ball to the Jackets two, but the play was called back as a result of a five-yard offside penalty. Then Quinn heaved a pass to Emery in the end zone for Keyser's lone touchdown and Quinn kicked the extra point. The half ended 9-7 in favor of Moorefield.

Moorefield came back to score its second touchdown in the third quarter. The Jackets received the kickoff and Kessel ran it back to the 35. The locals reeled off five first downs in ten running plays, carrying the pigskin to the two from where George Hott smashed over for the six-pointer. Keller's placement kick was low.

Pass Nets Touchdown

In the fourth stanza Wallace Sherman recovered Spitzer's fumble on the Keyser 25. Quinn intercepted Hott's pass on the 29 and later Hartman intercepted Quinn's pass on the 30. Then Kessel fired a 30-yard aerial into the end zone into the waiting arms of Bob Keller for the touchdown. Keller's kick for point was wide of the uprights.

Keyser tried 23 passes, six coming in succession in the final quarter, and completed a total of 12 for 161 yards. Each team racked up 11 first downs. The lineups:

Terp Harriers Win

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 1—(AP)—The University of Maryland's Harriers ran to a 16-48 low-score win over the University of Virginia in a four-mile cross country competition today.

First across the finish in a tie in 23 minutes, 36 seconds were Lindy and Sterling Kehoe, brothers of Terp Track Coach Jim Kehoe, followed closely by Harry Umberger and Jim Umbarger in another dead heat. The fifth man to cover the course was Virginia's George Trachsel.

13 Army Gridders Play Final Game At West Point

Cadets Play Three Games Away From Home After West Virginia Tilt

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Thirteen members of the Army football squad, including nine of the 11 starters, will be making the final West Point appearance of their gridiron careers tomorrow when the undefeated Cadets wind up their home season against the West Virginia Mountaineers.

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik's Black Knights, who will be shooting for their 25th consecutive triumph and their seventh of 1946, still must face Notre Dame, Pennsylvania and Navy this year but all three of these games will take them away from their home field on the banks of the Hudson.

Felix (Doc) Blanchard of Bishopville, S. C., and Glenn Davis of Claremont, Calif., Army's All-America touchdown twins, will complete their Michie Stadium activities along with Quarterback Arnold Tucker of Miami, Fla., and the fourth member of the first string backfield, Herschel (Ug) Fuson of Middlesburg, Ky.

Others who will not be back for football in 1947 are Ends George (Barney) Poole of Gloster, Miss., and Henry Foldberg of Dallas, Tex., Tackle Shelton Biles of Kingsport, Tenn., Guard Art Gerometta of Gary, Ind., and Center Jim Enos of Madera, Calif., all first string linemen, and Halfback Bill West of Winchester, Mass., End Tom Hayes of Hastings, Neb., Tackle Harold Tavzel of Cleveland, and Guard Jack Ray of Breckenridge, Tex.

All except Foldberg and Gerometta are seniors and will be commissioned into the regular army as second lieutenants next June. Foldberg used up part of his varsity eligibility at Texas A. and M. before entering the academy as Gerometta played a year at Indiana.

The Mountaineers come to West Point with a record of two losses and four victories, the last one a 13-0 upset over Syracuse a week ago at Morgantown. They also have beaten Otterbein, Waynesburg and Washington and Lee but lost to Pitt and Temple.

Bud Freeze and Jim Devonshire, who led the West Virginia attack against Syracuse, will be operating together for the second time this season and Gene Remenar, injured in the Temple game, will be ready to replace Lou Feldman at right tackle.

Pellone Wins Duke Over Johnny Greco

New Yorker Stages Rally To Defeat Canadian In Garden Fight

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Youthful Tony Pellone from New York's Greenwich Village section rallied tonight from trouble in the early rounds to earn a surprising 10-round split decision over Montreal's Johnny Greco a 1 to 3 favorite, as boxing returned to Madison Square Garden after a seven-week lapse.

Giving away a pound and a half to his experienced foe, the kid from the village who had been given several disputed decisions in his brief career, took the vote of both judges but lost Referee Eddie Joseph's ballot.

Both Judge George Le Cron and Joe Agnello voted for Pellone six rounds to four but Joseph gave the nod to Greco seven rounds to three.

Pellone, weighing 145 to 146 1-2 for the Canadian welterweight, took charge in the first round with a flashy left jab but Greco caught up with him in the second and third to hand him a bad beating. Although Tony didn't go down, it looked for a time as though it was only a question of how long he would be able to last.

Austin Bealmear Picks Irish, Army, Georgia To Win

Forecaster's Average Shrinks After Unsets Of Past Two Weeks

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(AP)—Slightly groggy after the upsets of the past two weeks, we move cautiously into the seventh round of football forecasts hanging on to the ropes and an average that has shrunk to 775 on 221 correct predictions, 64 misses and 13 ties:

NOTRE DAME vs. NAVY—What the Middies need after losing four in a row is a breather, not a tornado. One confident vote for Notre Dame.

WEST VIRGINIA vs. ARMY—Our Future Generals haven't done as much marching on the gridiron this season as they figured to do but they'll probably get plenty of footwork in this one. Although the West Point coaches may all be in Baltimore, one big vote for Army.

Georgia Over Alabama

ALABAMA vs. GEORGIA—The Alabamans may have been thinking of this one when they let Tennessee slip up on them. On the theory the Bulldogs are toughest at home, a hesitant nod to Georgia.

OHIO STATE vs. NORTHWESTERN—The Buckeyes need this one to stay in the running for the Big Nine crown. But the choice is Northwestern.

OREGON vs. SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—The winner here is the one to challenge UCLA for the Pacific Coast Conference championship. Southern Cal.

TEXAS vs. SOUTHERN METHODIST—An angered Longhorn can be mean. Texas.

PRINCETON vs. PENNSYLVANIA—Somebody may knock the ponderous Pennsylvanians for a loop one of these days but it won't be Princeton.

NORTH CAROLINA vs. TENNESSEE—After their upset by Wake Forest, the Vols aren't going to be happy to see Charlie (There Ain't No) Justice. We'll take North Carolina.

ILLINOIS vs. IOWA—The Illini have found the right combination. Illinois.

Stanford Given Nod

STANFORD vs OREGON STATE—Those Indians let us down last week but we still aren't convinced they can't take this one. Stanford

ARKANSAS vs. TEXAS A. and M.—Following shutout victories over TCU and Baylor, the Aggies are on the way up. The nod goes to Texas A. and M.

CORNELL vs. COLUMBIA—If the Lions are behind at the half, they can't lose. Columbia.

GEORGIA TECH vs. DUKE—A shaky vote for Duke.

MICHIGAN vs. Minnesota—There's no other choice. Michigan.

WASHINGTON STATE vs. CALIFORNIA—For guessing purposes, the Pacific Coast Loop is getting as tough as the big nine. California.

TEXAS TECH VS. RICE—Here's where the giant killers of the Southwest get more than they bargained for. Rice.

DARTMOUTH VS. YALE—After three losses in a row, the Indians are ready to scalp somebody. But it won't be a Bulldog. Yale.

MISSISSIPPI VS. LOUISIANA STATE—The Old Miss upset of Arkansas makes this a little tougher. Louisiana State.

WSCONSIN VS. PURDUE — It's about time the Badgers were learning how to take care of Purdue. Wisconsin.

OKLAHOMA VS. TEXAS CHRISTIAN—The Sooners are rolling now and may not lose another game. Oklahoma.

Robinson Kayoes Hudson In Sixth

Detroiter's Handlers Protest Bell Rang Before Count Completed

DETROIT, Nov. 1. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, New York, outboxed Cecil Hudson, Detroit, for five rounds and kayoed him in the sixth session of a scheduled 10-round fight before 8,614 fans at Olympia tonight.

Robinson's rapier-like left gave him a wide margin of points before he opened up as the sixth round got underway. The Detroiter was downed for a nine count early in the round and was floored for the second time a few moments later. He was counted out at 2:59 of the round.

The crowd, which paid a gross gate of $21,690, had a brief flurry of excitement as Hudson's handlers rushed into the ring, protesting that the bell rang before Referee Johnny Weber reached a 10 count. The protest was disallowed. Robinson weighed 146 3-4, Hudson 148 1-2.

Maryland "B" Squad Beats Georgetown 12-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 1.(AP)—The University of Maryland's "B" squad defeated Georgetown University's "B" grid outfit today, 12-7.

Marvland scored its first touchdown after ten minutes of play in the first quarter on a 45-yard pass from Quarterback Joe Tucker to Mike Denikos.

The Terps tallied on an aerial again in the second quarter, this time on a 10-yard toss from Tucker to Jim Remson, who caught it in the end zone. The first half ended with Maryland leading 12-0.

Georgetown's score came in the third quarter when Quarterback Moe Zanger threw a pass from the 10-yard line to John Barry in paydirt. Zanger then drop-kicked for the point.

Game Is Postponed

A 25-yard forward pass play, Bill Brehany to Roy Comer, in the second period, produced the touchdown which gave Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High School Blackhawks a 7 to 0 decision over Dick McElwee's Romney High School Pioneers in a hard-fought Potomac Valley Conference contest at Ridgeley field.

The largest crowd to witness a game in Ridgeley in many years, saw the Hawks sew up the game early and then make a brilliant goal line stand to stop the Hampshire countians on the one-yard stripe in the final period.

The victory gave Ridgeley a .500 record for the season—two wins, two losses and two ties and deadlocked the Hawks with Franklin and Romney in the C.V.A. circuit, each school having won two and lost two.

A 23-yard pass, tossed by Brehany and caught by Roy Comer, who caught the ball on the Romney 7 and ran to the goal line, netted the lone touchdown of the contest.

Romney threatened in the last quarter, getting a break when Ridgeley's safety man slipped on the muddy field and fumbled on his own 40 and the Pioneers recovered on the 30. Romney then advanced to the one-yard stripe but lost the ball on downs. Joe Moss punted out of bounds on the 40 on the first play. Ridgeley's 205-pound fullback intercepted a pass and ran back to the Romney 45 just before the game ended. It was the second pass interception credited to Moss in the fourth period.

Ridgeley played without the services of two regulars, Pete Iser and Alfred Abe, who were out on account of injuries. Bill Brehany and Howard Rhodes contributed several nice runs for the victors while Joe Moss played his usual good game at full. The lineups:

LaSalle High School's Explorers and St. Francis Prep, of Spring Grove, Pa., staged a thrilling "aerial circus" in the local stadium last night as Coach John J. Long's eleven crashed the win column for the first time this season in six starts. The score was 20 to 6.

A total of 41 forward passes were thrown in the wide open battle — 21 by LaSalle and 20 by the Pennsylvanians — and the Explorers accounted for two of their touchdowns via the air.

The Explorers' overhead attack clicked 11 times in 21 tries for a total of 165 yards while the Prepsters connected only thrice in 20 attempts for 54 yards.

Riggins Dashes 42 Yards

LaSalle scored its first touchdown late in the first period following a 68-yard march, featured by a 42-yard run by Fullback Tracy Riggins. His dash came after the Explorers had been penalized 15 yards when Capt. Yates Borden, an illegal receiver, caught one of Cloonan's many passes. After Riggins had scampered to the Saints' 20, Cloonan's pass to Jim Dorsey was good for 14 yards and another aerial, Cloonan to Joe Reissig in the end zone, produced the touchdown. Johnny Esposito plunged the extra point.

The boys from the North Centre Street school used the forward pass as a scoring weapon midway in the second period. After Jim Breen had punted to Cloonan and the latter returned the ball to the visitors' 21, the LaSalle quarterback heaved the pigskin into the end zone to Jim Dorsey, who speared the ball while on the gallop. Cloonan's pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Esposito Intercepts Pass

LaSalle's final touchdown came late in the third period and passes paved the way to this score. The drive started when Johnny Esposito intercepted Foizey's serial and raced 20 yards to the St. Francis 47. This march was marked by a 31-yard pass, Cloonan to Jim Dorsey and a Cloonan to John Nesbit overhead thrust good for six yards, which put the ball on the Saints' 10. Riggins smashed the line for three yards and Joe Nesbit ran the remaining seven for the score. Cloonan's pass to Nesbit for the extra point was good.

Jimmy Breen's interception of Carter's southpaw pass set the stage for the Pennsylvanians' lone touchdown just before the final whistle. Breen snared the pass on the 43 and ran to midfield. Foizy's pass to Rocereto was good for 17 yards and a first on LaSalle's 33. Then Foizy hurled a 21 yard aerial to Dobscha for another first on the LaSalle 12. On the first play Foizy skirted an end for the 12 yards and the touchdown. Kipple's kick for the point was low.

St. Francis outscored LaSalle 15 to 9 in first downs and also topped the locals in yardage gained rushing, 276 to 165. The lineups:

Miami Wins 26-21

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1 (AP)—Twenty-six thousand fans tonight witnessed a 109-yard touchdown gallop by Villanova College's Bob Polidor, and a stirring gridiron battle won 26 to 21 by the University of Miami.

The Shibe Park spectators whooped and hollered almost from start to finish in one of the wildest, roughest games ever played in Philadelphia. At least 10 players had to be carried from the field.

But, despite Miami's victory, it was Polidor's show. The 23-year-old ex-marine who became the father of a girl last Tuesday caught Harry Ghaul's kickoff nine yards deep in his end zone in the dying moments of the first half and with a powerful burst of speed, outran the entire Miami team to score. It equalled a 109 run by Edmund Burke in the 1931 Mississippi-Alabama game.

Navy Jayvees Win

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1 (AP)—Navy's 150-pound grid squad rolled to a 15-0 victory over Cornell's Junior Varsity today in a rugged encounter in which two other Middie touchdowns were nullified on penalties.

Cornell never seriously threatened and the nearest the little Big Reds ever went to Navy tally territory was that 40 yard stripe. After the second period, in which the Junior Middie gridders tallied three times with one touchdown nullified, Cornell's offensive was confined to its own half of the field.

GAMES NEXT WEDNESDAY
Bruce at Beall
Barton at Flintstone

Jimmie Howard booted Bruce High School into a first place tie with Beall High School in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League championship race yesterday when he accounted for all of the field goals and Coach John "Chip" Grindle's undefeated eleven downed Agricultural High School of Flintstone, at Memorial Park, Westernport, by the score of 3-1.

Howard registered his first goal one and a half minutes after the game got under way, scored again in the third period and registered his final goal midway in the last period.

The game was also highlighted by the play of Parsons, Bruce centerhalfback, and Kisamore and Rexroad, halfbacks of the Flintstone team.

It was Bruce's fifth triumph against one tie.

Bruce and Beall, which battled to a 2-2 deadlock in their first meeting, will clash next Wednesday at Frostburg in a game that will likely determine the league championship.

Barton High School shook a six-game losing streak when Jack Bean booted a field goal in the third period to sink Central High School at Lonaconing by the score of 1-0.

The victory was the second of the week for Barton, Coach Footen's eleven having defeated Kitzmiller High in a non-league contest Wednesday in Kitzmiller by the score of 2-1.

Parsons Panthers Cop 7th Straight From Terra Alta

Intercepted Passes Bring Two Touchdowns In 25 To 6 Triumph

PARSONS, W. Va., Nov. 1—Parsons High School's Panthers extended their winning streak to seven games today when they turned back Terra Alta High School, of Preston County, by the score of 25 to 6.

It was the final home game of the season for Coach Homer Brooks' eleven which will conclude its campaign next Friday by playing the Ridgeley High Blackhawks at Ridgeley, W. Va.

Intercepted passes gave the Panthers two of their scores. In the opening period L. Phillips intercepted a Terra Alta aerial and galloped 33 yards for a touchdown while the third score of the game came in the second period when Garvey Gilmore picked one of the visitors' overhead thrusts out of the air and sprinted 46 yards for the six-pointer.

Garvey Gilmore marked up the first of his two touchdowns early in the second period by smashing off tackle from the three-yard stripe. L. Phillips drop-kicked the extra point.

A quarterback sneak by Don Gilmore produced Parsons' final touchdown in the fourth period. He toted the pigskin over from the two.

Terra Alta's touchdown was registered in the third stanza when Fullback Kelley hit Left End Berchdorff with a 23-yard pass in the end zone.

The Tucker Countains, who have not lost a game since the opener on September 20, marked up ten first downs to Terra Alta's four. The Panthers piled up 283 yards and lost 14 yards rushing compared to Terra Alta's gain of 119 and loss of 29. Parsons gained 22 yards on passes and the visitors 46. The lineups:

West Liberty Tops St. Vincent, 13-6

3,000 See Teachers Score Twice In Last Period To Beat Bearcats

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP)—Surging with power in the second half, West Liberty State College of West Virginia came from behind here tonight to score two touchdowns in the final quarter and whip the St. Vincent College Bearcats 13-6.

About 3,000 spectators saw the Pennsylvanians score first, midway in the second quarter following a recovered fumble on the Hilltoppers 36 yard line. Puskar raced off tackle for a touchdown immediately afterward.

Near the end of the third quarter the visitors marked up three straight first downs to advance 49 yards. At the climax of the drive, Pasnic went over from 18 inches to score.

Then Decola picked up a fumble and raced 29 yards to the six. On the next play, he caught a pass from Zilla for the second touchdown. McKee's kick was good. Score by periods.

CLIFF BATTLES IS APPOINTED COACH OF BROOKLYN DODGERS

National League Record Holder Will Succeed Dr. Mal Stevens

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Cliff Battles, onetime terror of professional gridirons, was signed today as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers and said his first "break" was postponement of tonight's Dodgers-Chicago Rockets game.

The All-America Conference engagement was postponed until tomorrow night because of rain.

"It will give me a chance to become better acquainted with the players and I won't feel as though I'm going into this business so cold," said Battles, who was conducted personally into Chicago today by Bill Cox, the Dodgers' front office chief.

Battles, hard driving halfback who helped the Washington Redskins win the pro title in 1937, joined Lou Little's coaching staff at Columbia where he remained until entering the Marines in 1943.

He helped Dick Hanley, ousted Rocket coach, with the El Toro (Calif.) Marines in 1944 before going overseas.

In the victorious 1937 season with Washington, Battles carried the ball 216 times, a National League record which still stands. He made 740 yards for a 4.9 average. The 215 yards he gained against the Giants in 1933 still is the most yardage produced by an individual player in pro football history.

"I have picked up a lot of ideas on football, but I am going to feel my way along as we go," said the 36-year-old successor of Dr. Mal Stevens.

"This means the Dodgers will keep the basic single wing. I watched the Dodgers play twice and was impressed by Glenn Dobbs' versatality, but decidedly the Dodgers will not be a one-man team. We have good personnel."

Saturday night's game also will mark the debut of the Rockets' new head coach, Pat Boland.

Klein, Former Cardinal, Praises Mexican League

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Nov. 1—(AP)—Lou Klein, former St. Louis Cardinal infielder, stopped off here today en route to Havana to play in the Cuban winter circuit and dropped a word of praise for the Mexican Baseball League.

The principles—and the paychecks—he said, of th eMexican league suit—he said, of the Mexican ball players who jumped to the Tabala circuit.

"To the best of my knowledge," he went on, "All of us who stuck out the season were well satisfied with the treatment we received."

Keyser High Drops 22-7 Decision At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 1—Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets moved within one game of retaining the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Keyser High School's Golden Tornado today by the score of 22 to 7.

Approximately 1,000 persons saw Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven score its fifth consecutive conference victory. The one remaining game on Moorefield's PVC schedule is with Fort Ashby here next Friday. The latter team has lost four straight games in the conference.

The Jackets put today's crucial game on ice in the very first period by scoring a touchdown, extra point and safety; added seven points in the third quarter and marked up another touchdown in the final period. Keyser's score came in the second stanza.

Hott Runs 65 Yards

Moorefield registered its first touchdown on the second play of the game. Tommy Quinn kicked off to the 15 and Dwight Kessell returned the ball to the 34. On the opening play Bill Harman plunged to the 35 and then George Hott raced down the sidelines for 65 yards and a touchdown. Keller converted the try for point from placement.

After the succeeding kickoff, Keyser punted out of bounds on the Moorefield 30. Then the Jackets drove to Keyser's one yard stripe but lost the ball on downs. In attempting to pass, Quinn was brought down behind his own goal line for a Moorefield safety.

In the second period Hott's bad punt went out of bounds on the 22. A pass, Quinn to Blamer carried the ball to the Jackets two, but the play was called back as a result of a five-yard offside penalty. Then Quinn heaved a pass to Emery in the end zone for Keyser's lone touchdown and Quinn kicked the extra point. The half ended 9-7 in favor of Moorefield.

Moorefield came back to score its second touchdown in the third quarter. The Jackets received the kickoff and Kessel ran it back to the 35. The locals reeled off five first downs in ten running plays, carrying the pigskin to the two from where George Hott smashed over for the six-pointer. Keller's placement kick was low.

Pass Nets Touchdown

In the fourth stanza Wallace Sherman recovered Spitzer's fumble on the Keyser 25. Quinn intercepted Hott's pass on the 29 and later Hartman intercepted Quinn's pass on the 30. Then Kessel fired a 30-yard aerial into the end zone into the waiting arms of Bob Keller for the touchdown. Keller's kick for point was wide of the uprights.

Keyser tried 23 passes, six coming in succession in the final quarter, and completed a total of 12 for 161 yards. Each team racked up 11 first downs. The lineups:

Terp Harriers Win

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 1—(AP)—The University of Maryland's Harriers ran to a 16-48 low-score win over the University of Virginia in a four-mile cross country competition today.

First across the finish in a tie in 23 minutes, 36 seconds were Lindy and Sterling Kehoe, brothers of Terp Track Coach Jim Kehoe, followed closely by Harry Umberger and Jim Umbarger in another dead heat. The fifth man to cover the course was Virginia's George Trachsel.

13 Army Gridders Play Final Game At West Point

Cadets Play Three Games Away From Home After West Virginia Tilt

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Thirteen members of the Army football squad, including nine of the 11 starters, will be making the final West Point appearance of their gridiron careers tomorrow when the undefeated Cadets wind up their home season against the West Virginia Mountaineers.

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik's Black Knights, who will be shooting for their 25th consecutive triumph and their seventh of 1946, still must face Notre Dame, Pennsylvania and Navy this year but all three of these games will take them away from their home field on the banks of the Hudson.

Felix (Doc) Blanchard of Bishopville, S. C., and Glenn Davis of Claremont, Calif., Army's All-America touchdown twins, will complete their Michie Stadium activities along with Quarterback Arnold Tucker of Miami, Fla., and the fourth member of the first string backfield, Herschel (Ug) Fuson of Middlesburg, Ky.

Others who will not be back for football in 1947 are Ends George (Barney) Poole of Gloster, Miss., and Henry Foldberg of Dallas, Tex., Tackle Shelton Biles of Kingsport, Tenn., Guard Art Gerometta of Gary, Ind., and Center Jim Enos of Madera, Calif., all first string linemen, and Halfback Bill West of Winchester, Mass., End Tom Hayes of Hastings, Neb., Tackle Harold Tavzel of Cleveland, and Guard Jack Ray of Breckenridge, Tex.

All except Foldberg and Gerometta are seniors and will be commissioned into the regular army as second lieutenants next June. Foldberg used up part of his varsity eligibility at Texas A. and M. before entering the academy as Gerometta played a year at Indiana.

The Mountaineers come to West Point with a record of two losses and four victories, the last one a 13-0 upset over Syracuse a week ago at Morgantown. They also have beaten Otterbein, Waynesburg and Washington and Lee but lost to Pitt and Temple.

Bud Freeze and Jim Devonshire, who led the West Virginia attack against Syracuse, will be operating together for the second time this season and Gene Remenar, injured in the Temple game, will be ready to replace Lou Feldman at right tackle.

Pellone Wins Duke Over Johnny Greco

New Yorker Stages Rally To Defeat Canadian In Garden Fight

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Youthful Tony Pellone from New York's Greenwich Village section rallied tonight from trouble in the early rounds to earn a surprising 10-round split decision over Montreal's Johnny Greco a 1 to 3 favorite, as boxing returned to Madison Square Garden after a seven-week lapse.

Giving away a pound and a half to his experienced foe, the kid from the village who had been given several disputed decisions in his brief career, took the vote of both judges but lost Referee Eddie Joseph's ballot.

Both Judge George Le Cron and Joe Agnello voted for Pellone six rounds to four but Joseph gave the nod to Greco seven rounds to three.

Pellone, weighing 145 to 146 1-2 for the Canadian welterweight, took charge in the first round with a flashy left jab but Greco caught up with him in the second and third to hand him a bad beating. Although Tony didn't go down, it looked for a time as though it was only a question of how long he would be able to last.

Austin Bealmear Picks Irish, Army, Georgia To Win

Forecaster's Average Shrinks After Upsets Of Past Two Weeks

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(AP)—Slightly groggy after the upsets of the past two weeks, we move cautiously into the seventh round of football forecasts hanging on to the ropes and an average that has shrunk to 775 on 221 correct predictions, 64 misses and 13 ties:

NOTRE DAME vs. NAVY—What the Middies need after losing four in a row is a breather, not a tornado. One confident vote for Notre Dame.

WEST VIRGINIA vs. ARMY—Our Future Generals haven't done as much marching, on the gridiron, this season as they figured to do but they'll probably get plenty of footwork in this one. Although the West Point coaches may all be in Baltimore, one big vote for Army.

Georgia Over Alabama

ALABAMA vs. GEORGIA—The Alabamans may have been thinking of this one when they let Tennessee slip up on them. On the theory the Bulldogs are touchest at home, a hesitant nod to Georgia.

OHIO STATE vs. NORTHWESTERN—The Buckeyes need this one to stay in the running for the Big Nine crown. But the choice is Northwestern.

OREGON vs. SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—The winner here is the one to challenge UCLA for the Pacific Coast Conference championship. Southern Cal.

TEXAS vs. SOUTHERN METHODIST—An angered Longhorn can be mean. Texas.

PRINCETON vs. PENNSYLVANIA—Somebody may knock the ponderous Pennsylvanians for a loop one of these days but it won't be Princeton.

NORTH CAROLINA vs. TENNESSEE—After their upset by Wake Forest, the Vols aren't going to be happy to see Charlie (There Ain't No) Justice. We'll take North Carolina.

ILLINOIS vs. IOWA—The Illini have found the right combination. Illinois.

Stanford Given Nod

STANFORD vs. OREGON STATE—Those Indians let us down last week but we still aren't convinced they can't take this one. Stanford.

ARKANSAS vs. TEXAS A. and M.—Following shutout victories over TCU and Baylor, the Aggies are on the way up. The nod goes to Texas A. and M.

CORNELL vs. COLUMBIA—If the Lions are behind at the half, they can't lose. Columbia.

GEORGIA TECH vs. DUKE—A shaky vote for Duke.

MICHIGAN vs. Minnesota—There's no other choice. Michigan.

WASHINGTON STATE vs. CALIFORNIA—For guessing purposes, the Pacific Coast Loop is getting as tough as the big nine. California.

TEXAS TECH VS. RICE—Here's where the giant killers of the Southwest get more than they bargained for. Rice.

DARTMOUTH VS. YALE—After three losses in a row, the Indians are ready to scalp somebody. But it won't be a Bulldog. Yale.

MISSISSIPPI VS. LOUISIANA STATE—The Old Miss upset of Arkansas makes this a little tougher. Louisiana State.

WSCONSIN VS. PURDUE — It's about time the Badgers were learning how to take care of Purdue. Wisconsin.

OKLAHOMA VS. TEXAS CHRISTIAN—The Sooners are rolling now and may not lose another game. Oklahoma.

East

Harvard over Rutgers, Holy Cross over Brown, Colgate over Lafayette, Temple over Syracuse, Penn State over Fordham, Boston College over NYU, Amherst over Tufts, Boston over Rhode Island, Bucknell over Gettysburg, Delaware over Franklin and Marshall, Kings Point over Wagner, Muhlenberg over Lehigh, New Hampshire over Northeastern, Niagra over Waynesburg, Washington and Jefferson over Carnegie Tech.

Midwest

Indiana over Pittsburgh, Missouri over Nebraska, Kansas State over Iowa State, Oklahoma A. and M. over Kansas, Miami of Ohio over Bradley Tech, Oklahoma City over South Dakota State, Tulsa over Cincinnati, Toledo over John Carroll, Wichita over Washburn, Ohio over Ohio Wesleyan, Western reserve over Akron.

South

Vanderbilt over Auburn, Kentucky over Michigan State, Clemson over Virginia Tech, Washington and Lee over Davidson, Georgetown over George Washington, William and Mary over Maryland, North Carolina State over VMI, Virginia over Richmond, Lousiana Tech over Southwestern Louisiana, Mississippi State over Murray State.

West

Utah over Colorado, Brigham Young over Wyoming, Denver over Utah State, Nevada over Montana State, Colorado College over Colorado Mines, Fresno State over Loyola, Texas Mines over New Mexico, Hardin-Simmons over Arizona, New Mexico A. and M. over Temple (Ariz.) State and, on Sunday, San Francisco over Santa Clara.

Robinson Kayoes Hudson In Sixth

DETROIT, Nov. 1. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, New York, outboxed Cecil Hudson Detroit, for five rounds and kayoed him in the sixth session of a scheduled 10-round fight before 8,614 fans at Olympia tonight.

Robinson's rapier-like left gave him a wide margin of points before he opened up as the sixth round got underway. The Detroiter was downed for a nine count early in the round and was floored for the second time a few moments later. He was counted out at 2:59 of the round.

The crowd, which paid a gross gate of $21,690, had a brief flurry of excitement as Hudson's handlers rushed into the ring, protesting that the bell rang before Referee Johnny Weber reached a 10 count. The protest was disallowed. Robinson weighed 146 3-4, Hudson 148 1-2.

Maryland "B" Squad Beats Georgetown 12-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 1.(AP)—The University of Maryland's "B" squad defeated Georgetown University's "B" grid outfit today, 12-7.

Marvland scored its first touchdown after ten minutes of play in the first quarter on a 45-yard pass from Quarterback Joe Tucker to Mike Denikos.

The Terps tallied on an aerial again in the second quarter, this time on a 10-yard toss from Tucker to Jim Remson, who caught it in the end zone. The first half ended with Maryland leading 12-0.

Georgetown's score came in the third quarter when Quarterback Moe Zanger threw a pass from the 10-yard line to John Barry in paydirt. Zanger then drop-kicked for the point.

Game Is Postponed

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP) — The Chicago Rockets-Brooklyn Dodgers football game of the All-America Conference, scheduled for Soldiers Field tonight, was postponed until tomorrow night because of rain.

A 25-yard forward pass play, Bill Brehany to Roy Comer, in the second period, produced the touchdown which gave Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High School Blackhawks a 7 to 0 decision over Dick McElwee's Romney High School Pioneers in a hard-fought Potomac Valley Conference contest at Ridgeley field.

The largest crowd to witness a game in Ridgeley in many years, saw the Hawks sew up the game early and then make a brilliant goal line stand to stop the Hampshire countians on the one-yard stripe in the final period.

The victory gave Ridgeley a 500 record for the season—two wins, two losses and two ties and deadlocked the Hawks with Franklin and Romney in the C.V.A. circuit, each school having won two and lost two.

A 23-yard pass, tossed by Brehany and caught by Roy Comer, who caught the ball on the Romney 7 and ran to the goal line, netted the lone touchdown of the contest.

Romney threatened in the last quarter, getting a break when Ridgeley's safety man slipped on the muddy field and fumbled on his own 40 and the Pioneers recovered on the 30. Romney then advanced to the one-yard stripe but lost the ball on downs. Joe Moss punted out of bounds on the 40 on the first play. Ridgeley's 205-pound fullback intercepted a pass and ran back to the Romney 45 just before the game ended. It was the second pass interception credited to Moss in the fourth period.

Ridgeley played without the services of two regulars, Pete Iser and Alfred Abe, who were out on account of injuries. Bill Brehany and Howard Rhodes contributed several nice runs for the victors while Joe Moss played his usual good game at full. The lineups:

Assault Defeats Stymie By Six Lengths

16,144 Fans See Arcaro Pilot Derby Winner To Victory

By SID FEDER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Clubfoot comet from the wide open spaces—triple-crown champion Assault—came roaring back up the victory trail today for the first time since last spring, and it was the slick saddle skill of heady Eddie Arcaro which made it possible.

The chocolate champion from Texas, hero of the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont in the spring stepping before he took to ailing, came off the convalescent list with a loud bang by zipping to a six-length triumph over his fellow Texan and odds-on favorite Stymie.

Another four lengths back was J. R. Bradley's Bridal Flower.

A $2 bet on the winner returned $7.60 because the winner collected the entire purse, there was only straight betting.

In winning the classic Pimlico Special Assault showed 16,144 customers at Old Hilltop that he is head man again.

He skyrocketed from eight lengths away in the last three quarters of a mile to waltz to the wire and pick up the $25,000 winner-take-all purse in this sportiest of races.

Earnings Hit $407,345

And with the paycheck, the bold son of Bold Venture became the fourth horse in all turf history to pile up a bankroll of more than $400,000.

Today's jackpot boomed his earnings to $407,345 (including the $4,500 nominators bonus tacked on to the winner's end of the Preakness and Belmont) and left him in fourth place on the all-time racing financial list, with only Whirlaway, Stymie and Seabiscuit still in front of him among racing money-getters.

It was the first time in seven starts since last June that the chocolate grand son of Equipoise, who looks something like his grand pappy except for the deformed forehoof he injured when he was a baby, had gotten to the paying teller's window first. In many respects it was his most impressive job of all.

Not only did the three-year old glamour boy tangle with such older handicap stars as Stymie and Turbine (and whip them) but his time of 1.57 was only three fifths of a second away from the track record and was 4 2-5 seconds faster than his Preakness performance over the same track and the same distance.

Arcaro Rides Winner

But in the final analysis, although it was Assault who had to do the running, and led the field of four home, he and owner Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., and the two-buck investors who were paid off at $7.60 for $2 can all tip their hats to Arcaro, the booter from the Bluegrass who talks horse language.

It was heady Eddie's first time aboard the Clubfoot Comet.

Two Stake Events Top Today's Pimlico Card

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1. (AP)—Two stakes, the $15,000 Marguerite for two-year-old fillies, and the $10,000 Janney Handicap for all ages, will feature tomorrow's program at Pimlico race track.

Six fillies were named for the mile and a sixteenth Marguerite, including a trio of performers from the Selima Stakes at Laurel a week ago—Ogden Phipps' Quarantine, C. V. Whitney's Mother and Christiana Stables' Oberod.

Fourteen fine sprinters were named overnight for the six-furlong Janney, among them Calumet Farm's Twosy, the Deering Howe entry of True North and Cassis, Shamrock Stable's Air Patrol, and Christiana's Sea Snack.

Navy And Irish Meet 20th Time

Notre Dame Grid Squad Arrives For Contest In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP) — Two old football rivals, Notre Dame and Navy, were camped 40 miles apart today, and will move into Baltimore tomorrow where the east will get its first opportunity to see if it's true what they say about the Fighting Irish.

Undefeated Notre Dame arrived in Washington this morning, and Coach Frank Leahy, whose team is rated about 21 points over the Middies, immediately dropped the "iron curtain."

Probably figuring that his outfit would say it with action rather than words, Leahy answered all questions with:

"No comment."

Then the Irish attended mass, and set out sight-seeing in Washington.

Forty miles away along the defense highway in Annapolis, the Middies were studying hard how to be admirals some day, but perhaps permitting a thought to wander now and again to Notre Dame in Baltimore Stadium tomorrow and four straight lickings.

Scalpers were still offering a few tickets, but the general sale closed weeks ago with a sellout of the 65,000 stadium seats.

The weatherman forecast showers today and tonight, but cloudy and warmer for the game, 20th between the teams. The Irish have won 14, Navy four, and last year they tied, 6-6. Game time is 2 p. m.

Wake Forest Cops

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 1 (AP) — The high-riding Wake Forest Deacons overpowered little University of Chattanooga 32-14 tonight before an estimated crowd of 9,000 in a rough and bruising contest closer than the score indicated.

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 1—Potomac State's undefeated and untied football team, leading the West Virginia Collegiate Conference with a record of six wins, will play its second game of the season at home Saturday when it meets the Glenville College Pioneers, coached by Carlos Ratliff, at Stayman Field at 2 p. m.

This is the first of three successive Saturday games at home for the Catamounts will be seeking to increase their conference winning streak to seven games. In the six games played to date State has yielded only six points while piling up 75 against opposing teams.

Following Glenville here will be California, Pa., Teachers, winners of six straight games, and West Liberty Teachers, who are flying high at the present time.

Glenville is reported to be bringing a heavy team here. State will average about 182 pounds. The line will average about 187 while the backs will carry an average of 173 pounds.

Those who have seen the Pioneers in action report they have several clever plays, using spinners, spread formations, hidden ball tricks and a passing attack.

Keith Allen, State end, may not see action against Glenville due to a back injury while Homer Henderson, regular halfback, may be out as the result of a hand injury suffered in the Salem game last week.

Gamecocks Score Over The Citadel

South Carolina Gridders Take Hard Fought Battle, 19-7

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Nov. 1—(AP)—South Carolina's Gamecocks whipped The Citadel today 19 to 7 to complete their conquest of all the state's other Southern Conference teams and to earn a claim to the South Carolina college football championship.

It was a hard-fought battle, this annual duel between the university gridders from Columbia and the military college cadets from Charlestown.

Assault Defeats Stymie By Six Lengths

16,144 Fans See Arcaro Pilot Derby Winner To Victory

By SID FEDER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Clubfoot comet from the wide open spaces—triple-crown champion Assault—came roaring back up the victory trail today for the first time since last spring, and it was the slick saddle skill of heady Eddie Arcaro which made it possible.

The chocolate champion from Texas, hero of the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont in the spring stepping before he took to ailing, came off the convalescent list with a loud bang by zipping to a six-length triumph over his fellow Texan and odds-on favorite Stymie.

Another four lengths back was J. R. Bradley's Bridal Flower.

A $2 bet on the winner returned $7.60 because the winner collected the entire purse, there was only straight betting.

In winning the classic Pimlico Special Assault showed 16,144 customers at Old Hilltop that he is head man again.

He skyrocketed from eight lengths away in the last three quarters of a mile to waltz to the wire and pick up the $25,000 winner-take-all purse in this sportiest of races.

Earnings Hit $407,345

And with the paycheck, the bold son of Bold Venture became the fourth horse in all turf history to pile up a bankroll of more than $400,000.

Today's jackpot boomed his earnings to $407,345 (including the $4,500 nominators bonus tacked on to the winner's end of the Preakness and Belmont) and left him in fourth place on the all-time racing financial list, with only Whirlaway, Stymie and Seabiscuit still in front of him among racing money-getters.

It was the first time in seven starts since last June that the chocolate grand son of Equipoise, who looks something like his grand pappy except for the deformed forehoof he injured when he was a baby, had gotten to the paying teller's window first. In many respects it was his most impressive job of all.

Not only did the three-year old glamour boy tangle with such older handicap stars as Stymie and Turbine (and whip them) but his time of 1.57 was only three fifths of a second away from the track record and was 4 2-5 seconds faster than his Preakness performance over the same track and the same distance.

Arcaro Rides Winner

But in the final analysis, although it was Assault who had to do the running, and led the field of four home, he and owner Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., and the two-buck investors who were paid off at $7.60 for $2 can all tip their hats to Arcaro, the booter from the Bluegrass who talks horse language.

It was heady Eddie's first time aboard the Clubfoot Comet.

Two Stake Events Top Today's Pimlico Card

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1. (AP)—Two stakes, the $15,000 Marguerite for two-year-old fillies, and the $10,000 Janney Handicap for all ages, will feature tomorrow's program at Pimlico race track.

Six fillies were named for the mile and a sixteenth Marguerite, including a trio of performers from the Selima Stakes at Laurel a week ago—Ogden Phipps' Quarantine, C. V. Whitney's Mother and Christiana Stables' Oberod.

Fourteen fine sprinters were named overnight for the six-furlong Janney, among them Calumet Farm's Twosy, the Deering Howe entry of True North and Cassis, Shamrock Stable's Air Patrol, and Christiana's Sea Snack.

Navy And Irish Meet 20th Time

Notre Dame Grid Squad Arrives For Contest In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP) — Two old football rivals, Notre Dame and Navy, were camped 40 miles apart today, and will move into Baltimore tomorrow where the east will get its first opportunity to see if it's true what they say about the Fighting Irish.

Undefeated Notre Dame arrived in Washington this morning, and Coach Frank Leahy, whose team is rated about 21 points over the Middies, immediately dropped the "iron curtain."

Probably figuring that his outfit would say it with action rather than words, Leahy answered all questions with:

"No comment."

Then the Irish attended mass, and set out sight-seeing in Washington.

Forty miles away along the defense highway in Annapolis, the Middies were studying hard how to be admirals some day, but perhaps permitting a thought to wander now and again to Notre Dame in Baltimore Stadium tomorrow and four straight lickings.

Scalpers were still offering a few tickets, but the general sale closed weeks ago with a sellout of the 65,000 stadium seats.

The weatherman forecast showers today and tonight, but cloudy and warmer for the game, 20th between the teams. The Irish have won 14, Navy four, and last year they tied, 6-6. Game time is 2 p. m.

Wake Forest Cops

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 1 (AP) — The high-riding Wake Forest Deacons overpowered little University of Chattanooga 32-14 tonight before an estimated crowd of 9,000 in a rough and bruising contest closer than the score indicated.

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 1—Potomac State's undefeated and untied football team, leading the West Virginia Collegiate Conference with a record of six wins, will today its second game of the season at home Saturday when it meets the Glenville College Pioneers, coached by Carlos Ratliff, at Stayman Field at 2 p. m.

This is the first of three successive Saturday games at home for the Catamounts will be seeking to increase their conference winning streak to seven games. In the six games played to date State has yielded only six points while piling up 75 against opposing teams.

Following Glenville here will be California, Pa., Teachers, winners of six straight games, and West Liberty Teachers, who are flying high at the present time.

Glenville is reported to be bringing a heavy team here. State will average about 182 pounds. The Irish have won 14, lost 3 and tied 1 while the backs will carry an average of 173 pounds.

Those who have seen the Pioneers in action report they have several clever plays, using spinners, spread formations, hidden ball tricks and a passing attack.

Keith Allen, State end, may not see action against Glenville due to a back injury while Homer Henderson, regular halfback, may be out as the result of a hand injury suffered in the Salem game last week.

Four Football Games Will Be Heard On Radio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—More than the usual full football afternoon is in store for Saturday listeners. The games will total four, with a couple of networks doubling up to have two each, but with a couple games heard on more than one chain.

In addition Ted Husing gets back on the network air for his first MBS football of the year. He formerly was CBS sports director, where he was heard regularly.

The games will go this way:

Navy vs. Notre Dame at Baltimore —NBC 1:45 p. m.

Army vs. West Virginia at West Point—ABC 1:45.

Georgia vs. Alabama at Athens, Ga.—MBS and CBS eastern stations —2:15.

Northwestern vs. Ohio State at Evanston—CBS midwest stations 2:45 and NBC 4:30.

Senator Tom Connally and John Foster Dulles are to be the speakers for the NBC Foreign Policy at 7. They will discuss "Issues Before the United Nations Assembly."

The Cleveland Symphony orchestra, on MBS at 6 for the second of its new broadcast season, will present works of three composers, Smetana, Strauss and Janaecek . . . Further in the MBS music department at 10 comes "La Traviata" as presented by the Chicago Theater of the Air . . . More music on ABC at 5 the Saturday concert, has Bronislav Gimple conducting.

Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor of the American occupation zone in Germany, will be talking CBS from Berlin at 10:45, to speak on "Our Military Government in Germany."

Four Football Games Will Be Heard On Radio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—More than the usual full football afternoon is in store for Saturday listeners. The games will total four, with a couple of networks doubling up to have two each, but with a couple games heard on more than one chain.

In addition Ted Husing gets back on the network air for his first MBS football of the year. He formerly was CBS sports director, where he was heard regularly.

The games will go this way:

Navy vs. Notre Dame at Baltimore—NBC 1:45 p. m.

Army vs. West Virginia at West Point—ABC 1:45.

Georgia vs. Alabama at Athens, Ga.—MBS and CBS eastern stations—2:15.

Northwestern vs. Ohio State at Evanston—CBS midwest stations 2:45 and NBC 4:30.

Senator Tom Connally and John Foster Dulles are to be the speakers for the NBC Foreign Policy at 7. They will discuss "Issues Before the United Nations Assembly."

The Cleveland Symphony orchestra, on MBS at 6 for the second of its new broadcast season, will present works of three composers, Smetana, Strauss and Janaecek . . . Further in the MBS music department at 10 comes "La Traviata" as presented by the Chicago Theater of the Air . . . More music on ABC at 5 the Saturday concert, has Bronislav Gimple conducting.

Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor of the American occupation zone in Germany, will be talking CBS from Berlin at 10:45, to speak on "Our Military Government in Germany."

Election Termed Most Important In U. S. History

Morgan C. Harris Urges Election Of State And County GOP Ticket

This is the most important election in the history of our state and our country because for the past 14 years, we have had a Washington Administration unalterably opposed in philosophy and in action to the America conceived by the founders of our republic, Morgan C. Harris, Republican nominee for State's Attorney, said last night in a radio address in behalf of the Republican state and county candidates.

This "New Deal" administration went into power flying the Democratic banner, but before it was in power very long, it adopted a theory of government that compared more favorably with National Socialism than the democracy of the great Jefferson, Harris declared.

"This hybrid government in Washington—neither Democratic nor Republican—has vainly tried to substitute man-made controls for the proven natural law of "supply-and-demand", Harris asserted.

"They tinkered with the natural laws of economics, and they called it 'planning.' And such 'planning'. No meat, no soap, no nothing; here in a land of plenty, instead of being helpful, our New Deal government in Washington has prevented the natural laws of economic recovery from working.

Lives Are Controlled

"Even with the war far behind us, we continue to be regimented. Our business and social lives are controlled. Free enterprise is stifled. States rights are usurped. The Constitution and the Bill of Rights are disregarded. We are taxed to the strangulation point. There is no indication of economy in Government. There is no evidence of reduction in the excessive Federal payrolls.

"Never before in the long and noble history of our great nation, have the people been confronted with such high taxes, such buffoonery in the high places of traditional dignity, such alien measures as the 'smear' and the 'purge' for political opponents. And the latest evidence of this is the collaboration of the President and the once-smashed Pendergast machine to purge Congressman Roger C. Slaughter of Missouri.

"And, if we have a muddled domestic policy, our foreign policy is much more muddled. As a matter of fact, no one has ever been able to learn just what our policy may be with reference to international relations".

Harris urged the election of Gen. John D. Markey as United States Senator; the re-election of Congressman J. Glenn Beall; the election of Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin as Governor of Maryland and the other state and local candidates.

Citing that William Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic nominee for Governor, has been for a long time past Democratic National Committeman for Maryland, Harris asserted that as such he has fostered, promoted, and used his utmost influence, to elect and continue in office this group in Washington that is now responsible for our utter state of confusion, both at home and abroad.

Declaring that he gives Mr. Lane

McCauley Makes Effort To Speak In Court Room

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 1—Mark McCauley, 35-year-old Davis, W. Va., strip miner who was convicted of first degree murder in Mineral County Circuit Court here Wednesday, for the shooting of Sgt. Joseph Horne of the West Virginia State Police, spoke his first words in court yesterday.

Brought to court when H. G. Shores, his attorney made a motion for a new trial, McCauley attempted to thank the court for his treatment and for a fair trial. The defendant appeared depressed and discouraged, court attaches said.

After Shores made his motion for a new trial, Judge Ernest A. See said he will hear arguments on the mojion when Shores has made arrangements with defense co-counsel E. J. Ryan of Cumberland.

McCauley was led into the court room handcuffed to State Trooper R. R. Karickhoff who was accompanied by State Trooper L. E. Proudfoot followed by Sheriff James A. Dixon.

Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, who prepared and presented the case against McCauley, with the assistance of William Thompson of Montgomery, W. Va., said he is prepared to argue the motion for a new trial any time.

City Seeks Information On New Precinitator

A letter has been sent to the Koppers Company, Incorporated, Pittsburgh, asking for information regarding their new electrostatic precipitator which is said to remove smoke, ash, dust and other wastes from the air in the vicinity of industrial plants, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

The mayor explained that he noticed a newspaper account describing the Koppers precipitator, and sent the letter to obtain further information for possible use in connection with the proposed smoke control ordinance.

Democrats Hold Rally For Party Precinct Workers

Walsh Predicts Election Of State And County Ticket On Tuesday

A meeting of Democratic precinct workers was held last night in the Democratic Cosmopolitan Club and the party's six county candidates spoke, outlining progress made during the campaign.

William C. Walsh, local Democratic party leader delivered an address in which he told the workers that if an effort is made, the local county candidates, for the first time since 1919 can be elected.

He predicted a 50 to 60 percent vote and told the Democrats that an effort must be made to get out every voter. Walsh said similar meetings have been held throughout the county and another rally will be held at the South Cumberland Democrat Club, 322 Virginia avenue, Monday night.

Speaking of the candidates individually, Walsh declared that each has waged a hard, clean campaign. He said when it comes to qualifications, there isn't a Democrat running who isn't a better candidate and more suited for the office than his opponent.

Walsh reminded the workers to telephone election returns to Democratic headquarters and newspapers as soon as tabulations are complete, and also to telephone to headquarters the number of votes cast in each precinct as soon as polls close.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County introduced the speakers. The county candidates who spoke included Samuel T. Weatherholt, for county commissioner, Thomas B. Finan, Jr., for state senator, Thomas B. Stakem for register of wills, Joseph Buskey for sheriff, Steven L. Cessnick and Alexander Nicol for the House of Delegates.

There were over 200 at the meeting. Sample ballots and precinct lists were distributed.

Rites Are Planned For Monroe Conrad

Funeral services for Monroe Conrad, 55, former B. and O. car repairman, who died yesterday morning at his home, 708 Yale street, after an illness of six months, will be conducted Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will be SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Mr. Conrad had been an employe of the railroad for 25 years. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Laura Grace Hinds Conrad, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Roy Robinette, Hagerstown; four sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Hiett, Mrs. Annie Reckley, Mrs. Ethel Jewell and Mrs. Elsie Robey, all of this city, and three brothers, George Conrad, Lucketts, Va., and Major and Otto Conrad, both of California.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.

JACOB GOTTLIEB RITES

Funeral services for Jacob Gottlieb, 76, 167 North Centre street, retired printer and former sanitary inspector, who died Wednesday, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rabbi Maurice Feuer, of B'er Chayim congregation officiated and interment was in East Gate Cemetery. Pallbearers were Herman Miller, Allan Hirsh, Adolph Pogell, Paul Steinberger, Clarence Lippel and Morris Dantzic.

Mr. Gottlieb had been influential in the musical life of Cumberland for the past fifty years. He was a member of the Citizens Band here in the 1880's and the Cumberland Concert Band in the 1890's and was one of the organizers and served as president of the organization until it was disbanded.

Friends here recalled that Mr. Gottlieb was one of the first to introduce the saxaphone to Cumberlanders. For many years, the Citi-

VFW Degree Work To Be Presented Tomorrow Night

Henry Hart Post Will Give Obligation To Over 1,000 Vets

More than 1,000 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of this district are expected to participate tomorrow night in a formal obligation ceremony at the Queen City Hotel Ballroom, according to Commander Raymond Reynolds, of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, host to the occasion.

This will be the first time in 18 years the full degree work has been presented to VFW members in Cumberland. Past Commander James E. Stemple has charge of the degree team and fills the post of commander on the team.

Guest speakers at the affair will be Col. George Henderson, veteran of World War I and World War II, and D. Lindley Sloan, recently retired chief judge of the Circuit Court.

Entertainment will be presented in the way of a floor show, by 16 students from Mary Katherine Steckman's Dance Studio, and a buffet luncheon will be served.

The committee on arrangements includes Charles Bujac, James Jones, E. C. Kilroy, Herman Bergman and Karl McElfish. The entertainment committee consists of Thomas B. Finan, Herman Bergman and Lee Thrasher.

Invitations have been sent to state department and district officers and all posts in the Third Maryland VFW District have been invited to participate. These include Frostburg, Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, McCoole, Friendsville, Oakland, Hagerstown, Frederick and Hancock.

Commander Reynolds said last night that all of these posts have indicated they will have members here to participate, and district and state officers say their headquarters will be represented.

Amendments On Ballots Of Little Interest In County

Authorities Explain Only One Has Any Bearing Upon Local Laws

When voters go to the polls Tuesday in the general election, their ballots will include four constitutional amendments on which each voter can vote "For" or "Against."

According to the Board of Election Supervisors, these amendments are entered by titling only, and only one of them is of particular interest to Allegany County, the other three applying to Baltimore City.

The first amendment on the ballot would make it possible, if adopted, for the state's attorney of each county to collect and give receipt in the name of the state for sums as may be received by him and pay the same over to the proper accounting officer. It also makes provisions for corporate surety bond as may hereafter be

"MAID-POWER" SITUATION HERE IS ONLY SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Domestic Help Is Almost As Hard To Get Now As During The War

By JEAN GARTLAN

The housewife's dream — a full time maid or a day worker who will come merely for the calling—is still far from a reality for most Cumberland women.

It is almost as hard to get a good maid now as it was during the war, according to the Associated Charities office here. Moreover, if you do get her, she is likely to want more money and work shorter hours than she did previously.

A representative of Associated Charities, which is not a regular employment agency but merely places houseworkers as part of its welfare activities, said the greatest difficulty is not finding women to take the jobs but getting them to stick. One household which needed three workers had a succession of seven within a few weeks.

Of the 15 or so maids placed each month few are ex-war workers. Most of that group are no longer satisfied to do housework and those who do apply do so because they know that after their unemployment compensation runs out "they have to eat." However, they usually don't stay at the work steadily.

The accepted salary of day workers is 50 cents an hour but most are able to get more. The representative of Associated Charities citied an example of one worker who charged $2 for two and a half hours work plus dinner, car fare and 30 cents each for washing and rough-drying curtains.

The agency has no control over salaries and, of course, get no commission, the spokesman said. Full time maids here get approximately $9 to $12 a week plus room and board which is considerably less than in many sections of the country.

While the "maid power" situation is improving slowly Associated Charities can still only supply about half the demand. In September of this year they had 26 inquiries and placed 14 workers, a ratio of slightly better than half. In 1944 one in every three requests was filled and in 1943 one in every four.

Recently, the representatives said, requests for maids have dropped off sharply. Many housewives have decided to give up and are doing their own work.

Local News In Brief

Kenneth E. Jackson, LaVale, Potomac Council Boy Scout executive, is attending the annual regional meeting of the organization at Virginia Beach, Va., over the weekend.

Cumberland Council No. 179, United Commercial Travelers, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the IOOF building, South Mechanic street. Plans for an initiation and the December meeting will be discussed.

The monthly meeting of the Municipal Zoning Commission will be held Monday at 3 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Two Applicants File Occupancy Permit Appeals

Three Building Permits Granted; Construction To Cost $15,000

Two applications for occupancy permits were denied recently in the city engineer's office, and the applicants have filed appeals to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

John W. Fogle, 216 Piedmont avenue, filed an appeal to obtain a permit to use a building to be constructed at 222 Piedmont avenue as a three-car garage with a five-room apartment on the second floor.

Fogle's son, John R. Fogle, requested the Mayor and City Council on October 14 to waive certain provisions of the building code and zoning ordinance to permit construction of the two-story building with one side on the street line on Piedmont avenue, but Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, informed the council he had denied the building permit because both the code and the ordinance require that properties be placed 10 feet back from the building line. His ruling was later upheld by a unanimous vote at a council meeting October 28, following inspection of the location.

Another Appeal Filed

In his application for an occupancy permit, Fogle said that the building would measure 40 by 24 feet, with a concrete block foundation, concrete block walls in the first floor and brick walls in the second, and a composition roof.

The second appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals was filed yesterday by George H. Benson, 315 Springdale street, who seeks a permit to use a proposed two-story frame building on Lots No. 270-271 on Magnolia street, between Lafayette and Lexington avenues, with a store and restaurant on the first floor and an apartment on the second floor. The permit was denied because the store and restaurant would be located in a Residential B zoning district.

Three permits for construction of buildings estimated to cost a total of $15,000 were granted yesterday.

Roeder Secures Permits

Two were issued to George C. Roeder, Allegany Inn, who plans to build a 5-room house on Lot 80, Ashland avenue, measuring 30 by 28 feet with a concrete block foundation and walls an dan asphalt shingle roof; and another 5-room house on half of Lot 29 at 803 Piedmont avenue, measuring 28 by 22 feet, with a concrete block foundation and walls and an asphalt shingle roof. Both houses will be one and a half stories high and each is estimated to cost $4,500. Work will be done by George C. Roeder, Incorporated.

LaVale Group Seeks Action On Bridge Project

Wants Work Started Before Winter On Span Over Braddock Run

A delegation appeared before the county commissioners yesterday, requesting that work be started before cold weather on the construction of a new bridge across Braddock Run, in the Braddock Farms area near LaVale.

Members of the delegation included Mrs. C. H. Diehl, Mrs. L. M. Robertson, Mrs. Merle Mazer, Mrs. R. L. Shanholtz, Mrs. J. E. Judy, Mrs. Edward Chenowith and Mrs. C. R. Hershberger.

Commissioners Simeon W. Green and James Holmes declared that the residents should acquire a 30-foot approach to the proposed span near the old Clark Distillery building along the National Highway.

Residents of the area asserted that County Engineer John H. Carscaden advised them several weeks ago that he had the material available to start construction of the small bridge, but that Commissioners Green and Holmes insisted that a 30-foot approach to the span must be acquired, since the roadway would come out on the National Highway.

Property values at that point are high, it was asserted, and the group contended that the cost of obtaining a 30-foot approach would be prohibitive. They also claim that approaches to other small bridges in that section are far less than 30 feet in width.

"Last Sunday night, when a house caught fire, the LaVale fire department had to travel at least a mile to reach the scene because the truck could not be driven across the present small bridge over Braddock Run," one member of the group declared.

It was also asserted that school children, in order to reach the LaVale School, now have to walk about a mile farther and use the

Sions Is Acting Head Of LaVale's New Legion Post

Martin Chosen Temporary Adjutant; Nominating Group Selected

Sampson Sions, who was wounded while serving in France with the Army in the recent war, was named temporary commander of the new American Legion post being organized in LaVale, at an organization meeting held last night in the LaVale Volunteer Firemen's Hall.

The second temporary officer named was Ralph Martin, who will serve as adjutant until the selection of permanent officers. Martin served with the Marine Corps in World War II.

The 50 veterans attending the meeting were mostly World War II ex-servicemen. The organization selected the temporary name of LaVale Post.

After being named acting commander, Sions selected John Connelly, Edward Wintermyer and Ray Logsdon as a nominating committee to select nominees for permanent officers. Election will be held, and the permanent name of the post chosen, at the next meeting, to be held after November 10.

Samuel A. Graham, district vice commander and former head of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, this city, and Frank Powers, district post inspector, attended the meeting to outline the purposes of the American Legion. Graham stressed the fact that the Legion is gradually turning over the reins to younger men.

Alvin E. Yaste, a member of the organizing committee, said that the post already has 50 paid-up charter members, and that a drive will be held this month for additional charter members, with the total expected to exceed 100. He estimated that there are approximately 300 veterans of both wars who are eligible to join the new LaVale post.

Other members of the organizing committee are Sions and Alvin Youngblood.

City Police Capture Escaped Convict Here

A man booked as Walter William Rummel, 317 North Mechanic street, is being held in the city jail for authorities of West Virginia State Penitentiary, Moundsville.

Rummer was captured yesterday at 9:45 a. m. by Sgt. Raymond R. Johnston and Officer R. C. Cassen.

Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney said a pick up has been on file at police headquarters since May 12 after authorities of the prison reported Rummer had escaped. He added the man did not resist arrest. Police said Rummer formerly lived in the Wiley Ford, W. Va., section.

Walter Johnston Resigns Post As County Auditor

Announces His Intentions Of Going Into Business At Hagerstown

County Auditor Walter A. Johnston, in a letter to the board of county commissioners, submitted his resignation yesterday, effective December 31, "or at any time in the interim the board may elect to accept."

Johnston, former secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce here for many years, has been county auditor since. He is well known in the community and county and has lived here most of his lifetime.

He had told his friends some time ago that he planned to leave Cumberland and move to Hagerstown, where he will engage in business. He said yesterday he will go to Hagerstown as soon as he is released by the county board.

While Johnston's resignation had little bearing on the situation, according to court house attaches, it was rumored in some quarters that he was on the "purge" list for removal from office by the new county board when it assumes its duties after January 1.

Johnston is known to have opposed Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., and William H. Lemmert who were nominated in the Republican primary last June. According to the political gossip in the Republican party, if Wilkinson and Lemmert are elected next Tuesday a number of present job holders are slated to be ousted.

These reports indicate that the tax collector, assistant tax collector, superintendent of county homes, attorney to the board and other employes are also on the "purge" list.

When asked by a reporter about this "purge", Johnston's comment was, "you will remember I told you last spring that this was my last year in the court house. I have made my plans accordingly and am moving to Hagerstown."

After Johnston's resignation was read at yesterday's board meeting, the members of the board voted to accept it as of December 31.

County Price Control Office Is Closed

Joseph E. Mackert, chairman of the Allegany County Rationing Board, announced last night that the board's price control office in the Union Street County building closed yesterday at 5 p. m.

Mackert said the office was closed following a telephone message from Baltimore and added official confirmation of the order would be received later.

Although the office will be officially closed, the five employes of the office will be retained but will receive notice November 12 that their employment with the OPA will cease as of December 12, Mackert said he was advised. Employes will continue to work until that time so that files may be cleared and records placed in shape.

Emmanuel Church Gets $1,000 In Jones Will

The will of Miss Cora L. Jones, of Cumberland, who died October 17, was admitted to probate at yesterday's session of Orphan's Court. Bequests included $1,000 to the vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

A property on South Allegany street was left to a nephew, Albert E. Jones, of Philadelphia, while all her clothing, furniture and personal effects were bequeathed to two nieces, Mildred J. Cannon and Mary Alma Crawford, of Washington, D. C.

The Liberty Trust Company was named executor of the estate, without bond, and instructed to sell a property on Rose Hill avenue and distribute the proceeds between the two nieces, who also receive the remainder of the estate.

Drawn August 29, 1944, the will was witnessed by Virginia M. Read, Thomas L. Keech and Thomas J. McNamee.

County Officials Give Notice Of Teachers' Bonus

Board Agrees To Appropriate $75,000 For $150 Each By January 31

Public notice was given yesterday at the Board of County Commissioners meeting, that $75,000 will be appropriated, beyond the regular 1946 levy, to pay each public school teacher the sum of $150 additional, up to January 31, 1947.

Several weeks ago, it was officially stated the board has authority to make the additional appropriation for increased pay for teachers, and that the funds will be available from unexpected increases in corporation and other taxes, above estimates made when the levy was drawn last April.

A resolution prepared by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., attorney to the board, was presented by Commissioner James Holmes. Commissioner Simeon W. Green, after the resolution was read, made a motion that it be approved. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, and unanimously approved and adopted.

The resolution follows:

"The Board of County Commissioners, having heretofore in accordance with the legal requirements given notice to the public and taxpayers of Allegany county that on Friday, November 1, 1946, at 10 a. m., they would consider the matter of making an additional appropriation of $75,000 beyond the regular levy for the current year for the use of The Allegany Board of Education in the matter of increasing the regular salaries of teachers by the payment of $150 to each teacher now employed by it up to January 31, 1947; AND WHEREAS, after giving an opportunity to all those interested or opposed to the making of such additional appropriation to be heard by the Board of County Commissioners, the said Commissioners now being of the opinion that the public good requires such appropriation, do hereby order that said sum of $75,000, be and the same is hereby appropriated from the funds belonging to Allegany county to the use of The Allegany County Board of Education for the specific purpose of paying additional compensation to the school teachers as set forth in this resolution, and that such sum be forthwith credited to and be subject to the order of said Board of Education."

Another Shelved

Another resolution was presented by Commissioner Wilkinson, calling for a $300 bonus to be paid before the end of the school term, but no action was taken, after a discussion, during which it was cited that the extra $150 would have to be levied next April and placed in the 1947 budget. It was pointed out that the membership of the board may be changed in the election next Tuesday, and present members should not take action which would obligate the new board.

Wilkinson's resolution:

"WHERAS, The Board of County Commissioners, having heretofore heard before it the accredited representatives of the public school teachers of this county, and discussed with them the matter of increasing the pay of each of the

Father Russell To Become Pastor Of Benedict Church

Rev. W. Joyce Russell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church here for the past 10 years, will become pastor of St. Francis deSales Catholic Church, Benedict, Charles county, Md., effective Friday, November 8.

Father Russell will also supervise the work of St. Dominic's mission which is conducted by the parish.

A native of Baltimore, Father Russell was ordained in 1930 and served as assistant pastor of a Washington, D. C., church before coming to this city as assistant pastor of the Oldtown road church.

He has also been spiritual adviser for the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary and of the Boy Scout troop of the parish.

Father Russell has also been in charge of the parish's recreational center, "The Haven", which was established a year ago and has been active in civic affairs here.

His brother, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John D. Russell, D. D., is pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Washington, D. C.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's said last night he has not yet been notified as to Father Russell's successor.

Dr. A. H. Hawkins Says New Birth Of Freedom Is Needed In America

Urges Election Of McKeldin, George C. Doub and J. Glenn Beall

Quoting from Lincoln's Gettysburg address "That this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth," Dr. A. H. Hawkins, prominent Cumberland surgeon, who terms himself a "free lance in matters of politics—an independent voter," in a radio address here, called for the rebirth of our government and urged the election of Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin as governor and his running mates and the re-election of Rep. J. Glenn Beall, to Congress.

"It is my firm conviction that every citizen should have an active interest in government, locally and otherwise—as a matter of fact, I have always been keenly interested in the affairs of my city, my state and my nation. I believe every citizen owes it to his country to vote and to vote only after careful consideration of the qualifications of the man he is helping to place into office," Dr. Hawkins asserted.

Confusion In Government

Dr. Hawkins said the New Deal came into being shortly after the start of the first F. D. Roosevelt administration. It swept across the country like a raging tornado, and having now exploded and disappeared, has left in its wake confusion and devastation among our people and our government.

The Congress, while Democratic, has quarrelled with the President, and the President has quarrelled with Congress. The President's Cabinet has quarrelled with him and he has had to perform the task of cleaning it up. We have the hopeless picture of an administration in power which cannot make up its mind whether to go forward or backward, and in the meantime is standing still. Our National Government is getting nowhere.

"My friends as I see it," Dr Hawkins declared, "unless we

State And County Candidates To Be Voted On In Election On November 5

The Cumberland News will, between now and election day, give brief sketches of the various candidates seeking offices in Allegany county and the State of Maryland.

This is another in a series of articles about candidates who are seeking election at the polls Tuesday. Today we will deal with candidates for Congress in the Sixth Maryland District, Attorney General and State Comptroller.

The Republican candidate for Congress, J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg and Cumberland, needs no introduction to the voters of the Sixth district. He has served two terms in Congress and in 1942 and 1944 carried all five counties in the district, Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery, being the only congressional candidate to ever carry all counties in two elections.

Has Important Committees

Beall was born in Frostburg and was educated in the public schools and at Gettysburg College. He served with the army in World War 1. His interest in veterans' affairs is reflected in the legislation he has sponsored and endorsed both as a State Senator and as a member of Congress. He is a member of the House Roads Committee and is a former chairman of the Maryland States Roads Commission where he made an excellent record. He is also a member of the District of Columbia Commitee and the Flood Control Committee of the House.

Arch McDonald, of Montgomery County is the Democratic nominee for Congress. McDonald went to Washington several years ago from Tennessee and moved to Montgomery County in 1942. For Several years McDonald broadcast the Washington Senators baseball games and in 1945 went to New York where he broadcasts the Giants and Yankee games. This year he returned to Washington and resumed his broadcasts of the Washington games. Last spring he entered the Democratic primary for Congress and won the nomination. He recently returned from broadcasting the World Series.

Jones Family Fund Contributions Are $7,196.41; Expenses Listed

Committee At Midland Gives Itemized Account Of Expenditures

Contributions continue to come in for the "Jones Family Fund" and W. A. Wilson, chairman of the "Jones Family Fund Committee" of Midland reports donations of $46.25 in the past week, bringing the total of the fund to $7,196.41.

The committee in its report to the NEWS on expenditures for the month of October shows that a total of $739.89 has been expended so far on behalf of the Jones family leaving a net balance in the fund as of Nov. 1 of $6,456.52.

Employes of the Celanese Corporation continue to support the fund in a fine way and a donation of $80 was received this week from the employes of Coning and Coning Examination of the plant. James P. Love Post No. 92, The American Legion, Lonaconing, contributed $50; two Cumberland bankers gave $10, a Cumberland friend sent in her weekly pledge of $1 and Alfred Schramm, Barton, gave $5.25.

Expenses Are Explained

In reporting expenses of $739.89 for October, the committee at Midland, composed of Wilson, Mrs. Gertrude Smith and Rev. Raymond Crowe said "your committee realizes that this sum is rather large for one month's expenses but the home was in such a run down condition that we felt the interests of children could best be served by improving living conditions as reasonably as possible. We have endeavored to eliminate all danger of either the children or housekeeper being exposed to the disease."

The large bulk of October's expenses, the committee said, will not be repeat items in the succeeding monthly expenses and "we will be better able to arrive at an accurate budget." The committee reported that it had been necessary to buy mattresses, blankets, sheets, pillow cases and other household furnishings as well as some clothing for Betty Fay, 13, who is a patient in the State Sanitorium at Sabillasville,

Election Termed Most Important In U. S. History

Morgan C. Harris Urges Election Of State And County GOP Ticket

This is the most important election in the history of our state and our country because for the past 14 years, we have had a Washington Administration unalterably opposed in philosophy and in action to the America conceived by the founders of our republic, Morgan C. Harris, Republican nominee for State's Attorney, said last night in a radio address in behalf of the Republican state and county candidates.

This "New Deal" administration went into power flying the Democratic banner, but before it was in power very long, it adopted a theory of government that compared more favorably with National Socialism than the democracy of the great Jefferson, Harris declared.

"This hybrid government in Washington—neither Democratic nor Republican—has vainly tried to substitute man-made controls for the proven natural law of "supply-and-demand", Harris asserted.

"They tinkered with the natural laws of economics, and they called it 'planning.' And such 'planning'. No meat, no soap, no nothing; here in a land of plenty, instead of being helpful, our New Deal government in Washington has prevented the natural laws of economic recovery from working.

Lives Are Controlled

"Even with the war far behind us, we continue to be regimented. Our business and social lives are controlled. Free enterprise is stifled. States rights are usurped. The Constitution and the Bill of Rights are disregarded. We are taxed to the strangulation point. There is no indication of economy in Government. There is no evidence of reduction in the excessive Federal payrolls.

"Never before in the long and noble history of our great nation, have the people been confronted with such high taxes, such buffoonery in the high places of traditional dignity, such alien measures as the 'smear' and the 'purge' for political opponents. And the latest evidence of this is the collaboration of the President and the once-smashed Pendergast machine to purge Congressman Roger C. Slaughter of Missouri.

"And, if we have a muddled domestic policy, our foreign policy is much more muddled. As a matter of fact, no one has ever been able to learn just what our policy may be with reference to international relations".

Harris urged the election of Gen. John D. Markey as United States Senator; the re-election of Congressman J. Glenn Beall; the election of Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin as Governor of Maryland and the other state and local candidates.

Citing that William Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic nominee for Governor, has been for a long time past Democratic National Committeman for Maryland, Harris asserted that as such he has fostered, promoted, and used his utmost influence, to elect and continue in office this group in Washington that is now responsible for our utter state of confusion, both at home and abroad.

Declaring that he gives Mr. Lane

McCauley Makes Effort To Speak In Court Room

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 1—Mark McCauley, 35-year-old Davis, W. Va., strip miner who was convicted of first degree murder in Mineral County Circuit Court here Wednesday, for the shooting of Sgt. Joseph Horne of the West Virginia State Police, spoke his first words in court yesterday.

Brought to court when H. G. Shores, his attorney made a motion for a new trial, McCauley attempted to thank the court for his treatment and for a fair trial. The defendant appeared depressed and discouraged, court attaches said.

After Shores made his motion for a new trial, Judge Ernest A. See said he will hear arguments on the motion when Shores has made arrangements with defense co-counsel E. J. Ryan of Cumberland.

McCauley was led into the court room handcuffed to State Trooper R. R. Karickhoff who was accompanied by State Trooper L. E. Proudfoot followed by Sheriff James A. Dixon.

Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, who prepared and presented the case against McCauley, with the assistance of William Thompson of Montgomery, W. Va., said he is prepared to argue the motion for a new trial any time.

City Seeks Information On New Precipitator

A letter has been sent to the Koppers Company, Incorporated, Pittsburgh, asking for information regarding their new electrostatic precipitator which is said to remove smoke, ash, dust and other wastes from the air in the vicinity of industrial plants, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

The mayor explained that he noticed a newspaper account describing the Koppers precipitator, and sent the letter to obtain further information for possible use in connection with the proposed smoke control ordinance.

Democrats Hold Rally For Party Precinct Workers

Walsh Predicts Election Of State And County Ticket On Tuesday

A meeting of Democratic precinct workers was held last night in the Democratic Cosmopolitan Club and the party's six county candidates spoke, outlining progress made during the campaign.

William C. Walsh, local Democratic party leader delivered an address in which he told the workers that if an effort is made, the local county candidates, for the first time since 1919 can be elected.

He predicted a 50 to 60 percent vote and told the Democrats that an effort must be made to get out every voter. Walsh said similar meetings have been held throughout the county and another rally will be held at the South Cumberland Democrat Club, 322 Virginia avenue, Monday night.

Speaking of the candidates individually, Walsh declared that each has waged a hard, clean campaign. He said when it comes to qualifications, there isn't a Democrat running who isn't a better candidate and more suited for the office than his opponent.

Walsh reminded the workers to telephone election returns to Democratic headquarters and newspapers as soon as tabulations are complete, and also to telephone to headquarters the number of votes cast in each precinct as soon as polls close.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County introduced the speakers. The county candidates who spoke included Samuel T. Weatherholt, for county commissioner, Thomas B. Finan, Jr., for state senator, Thomas B. Stakem for register of wills, Joseph Buskey for sheriff, Steven L. Cessnick and Alexander Nicol for the House of Delegates.

There were over 200 at the meeting. Sample ballots and precinct lists were distributed.

Rites Are Planned For Monroe Conrad

Funeral services for Monroe Conrad, 55, former B. and O. car repairman, who died yesterday morning at his home, 708 Yale street, after an illness of six months, will be conducted Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will be SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Mr. Conrad had been an employe of the railroad for 25 years. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Laura Grace Hinds Conrad, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Roy Robinette, Hagerstown; four sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Hiett, Mrs. Annie Reckley, Mrs. Ethel Jewell and Mrs. Elsie Robey, all of this city, and three brothers, George Conrad, Lucketts, Va., and Major and Otto Conrad, both of California.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.

JACOB GOTTLIEB RITES

Funeral services for Jacob Gottlieb, 76, 167 North Centre street, retired printer and former sanitary inspector, who died Wednesday, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rabbi Maurice Feuer, of B'er Chayim congregation officiated and interment was in East Gate Cemetery. Pallbearers were Herman Miller, Allan Hirsh, Adolph Pogell, Paul Steinberger, Clarence Lippel and Morris Dantzic.

Mr. Gottlieb had been influential in the musical life of Cumberland for the past fifty years. He was a member of the Citizens Band here in the 1880's and the Cumberland Concert Band in the 1890's and was one of the organizers and served as president of the organization until it was disbanded.

Friends here recalled that Mr. Gottlieb was one of the first to introduce the saxaphone to Cumberlanders. For many years, the Citi-

VFW Degree Work To Be Presented Tomorrow Night

Henry Hart Post Will Give Obligation To Over 1,000 Vets

More than 1,000 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of this district are expected to participate tomorrow night in a formal obligation ceremony at the Queen City Hotel Ballroom, according to Commander Raymond Reynolds, of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, host to the occasion.

This will be the first time in 18 years the full degree work has been presented to VFW members in Cumberland. Past Commander James E. Stemple has charge of the degree team and fills the post of commander on the team.

Guest speakers at the affair will be Col. George Henderson, veteran of World War I and World War II, and D. Lindley Sloan, recently retired chief judge of the Circuit Court.

Entertainment will be presented in the way of a floor show, by 16 students from Mary Katherine Steckman's Dance Studio, and a buffet luncheon will be served.

The committee on arrangements includes Charles Bujac, James Jones, E. C. Kilroy, Herman Bergman and Karl McElfish. The entertainment committee consists of Thomas B. Finan, Herman Bergman and Lee Thrasher.

Invitations have been sent to state department and district officers and all posts in the Third Maryland VFW District have been invited to participate. These include Frostburg, Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, McCoole, Friendsville, Oakland, Hagerstown, Frederick and Hancock.

Commander Reynolds said last night that all of these posts have indicated they will have members here to participate, and district and state officers say their headquarters will be represented.

Amendments On Ballots Of Little Interest In County

Authorities Explain Only One Has Any Bearing Upon Local Laws

When voters go to the polls Tuesday in the general election, their ballots will include four constitutional amendments on which each voter can vote "For" or "Against."

According to the Board of Election Supervisors, these amendments are entered by titling only, and only one of them is of particular interest to Allegany County, the other three applying to Baltimore City.

The first amendment on the ballot would make it possible, if adopted, for the state's attorney of each county to collect and give receipt in the name of the state for sums as may be received by him and pay the same over to the proper accounting officer. It also makes provisions for corporate surety bond as may hereafter be

Domestic Help Is Almost As Hard To Get Now As During The War

By JEAN GARTLAN

The housewife's dream — a full time maid or a day worker who will come merely for the calling—is still far from a reality for most Cumberland women.

It is almost as hard to get a good maid now as it was during the war, according to the Associated Charities office here. Moreover, if you do get her, she is likely to want more money and work shorter hours than she did previously.

A representative of Associated Charities, which is not a regular employment agency but merely places houseworkers as part of its welfare activities, said the greatest difficulty is not finding women to take the jobs but getting them to stick. One household which needed three workers had a succession of seven within a few weeks.

Of the 15 or so maids placed each month few are ex-war workers. Most of that group are no longer satisfied to do housework and those who do apply do so because they know that after their unemployment compensation runs out "they have to eat." However, they usually don't stay at the work steadily.

The accepted salary of day workers is 50 cents an hour but most are able to get more. The representative of Associated Charities citied an example of one worker who charged $2 for two and a half hours work plus dinner, car fare and 30 cents each for washing and roughdrying curtains.

The agency has no control over salaries and, of course, get no commission, the spokesman said. Full time maids here get approximately $9 to $12 a week plus room and board which is considerably less than in many sections of the country.

While the "maid power" situation is improving slowly Associated Charities can still only supply about half the demand. In September of this year they had 26 inquiries and placed 14 workers, a ratio of slightly better than half. In 1944 one in every three requests was filled and in 1943 one in every four.

Recently, the representatives said, requests for maids have dropped off sharply. Many housewives have decided to give up and are doing their own work.

Local News In Brief

Kenneth E. Jackson, LaVale, Potomac Council Boy Scout executive, is attending the annual regional meeting of the organization at Virginia Beach, Va., over the weekend.

Cumberland Council No. 179, United Commercial Travelers, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the IOOF building, South Mechanic street. Plans for an initiation and the December meeting will be discussed.

The monthly meeting of the Municipal Zoning Commission will be held Monday at 3 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Two Applicants File Occupancy Permit Appeals

Three Building Permits Granted; Construction To Cost $15,000

Two applications for occupancy permits were denied recently in the city engineer's office, and the applicants have filed appeals to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

John W. Fogle, 216 Piedmont avenue, filed an appeal to obtain a permit to use a building to be constructed at 222 Piedmont avenue as a three-car garage with a five-room apartment on the second floor.

Fogle's son, John R. Fogle, requested the Mayor and City Council on October 14 to waive certain provisions of the building code and zoning ordinance to permit construction of the two-story building with one side on the street line on Piedmont avenue, but Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, informed the council he had denied the building permit because both the code and the ordinance require that properties be placed 10 feet back from the building line. His ruling was later upheld by a unanimous vote at a council meeting October 28, following inspection of the location.

Another Appeal Filed

In his application for an occupancy permit, Fogle said that the building would measure 40 by 24 feet, with a concrete block foundation, concrete block walls in the first floor and brick walls in the second, and a composition roof.

The second appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals was filed yesterday by George H. Benson, 315 Springdale street, who seeks a permit to use a proposed two-story frame building on Lots No. 270-271 on Magnolia street, between Lafayette and Lexington avenues, with a store and restaurant on the first floor and an apartment on the second floor. The permit was denied because the store and restaurant would be located in a Residential B zoning district.

Three permits for construction of buildings estimated to cost a total of $15,000 were granted yesterday.

Roeder Secures Permits

Two were issued to George C. Roeder, Allegany Inn, who plans to build a 5-room house on Lot 80, Ashland avenue, measuring 30 by 28 feet with a concrete block foundation and walls an dan asphalt shingle roof; and another 5-room house on half of Lot 29 at 803 Piedmont avenue, measuring 28 by 22 feet, with a concrete block foundation and walls and an asphalt shingle roof. Both houses will be one and a half stories high and each is estimated to cost $4,500. Work will be done by George C. Roeder, Incorporated.

LaVale Group Seeks Action On Bridge Project

Wants Work Started Before Winter On Span Over Braddock Run

A delegation appeared before the county commissioners yesterday, requesting that work be started before cold weather on the construction of a new bridge across Braddock Run, in the Braddock Farms area near LaVale.

Members of the delegation included Mrs. C. H. Diehl, Mrs. L. M. Robertson, Mrs. Merle Mazer, Mrs. R. L. Shanholtz, Mrs. J. E. Judy, Mrs. Edward Chenowith and Mrs. C. R. Hershberger.

Commissioners Simeon W. Green and James Holmes declared that the residents should acquire a 30-foot approach to the proposed span near the old Clark Distillery building along the National Highway.

Residents of the area asserted that County Engineer John H. Carscaden advised them several weeks ago that he had the material available to start construction of the small bridge, but that Commissioners Green and Holmes insisted that a 30-foot approach to the span must be acquired, since the roadway would come out on the National Highway.

Property values at that point are high, it was asserted, and the group contended that the cost of obtaining a 30-foot approach would be prohibitive. They also claim that approaches to other small bridges in that section are far less than 30 feet in width.

"Last Sunday night, when a house caught fire, the LaVale fire department had to travel at least a mile to reach the scene because the truck could not be driven across the present small bridge over Braddock Run," one member of the group declared.

It was also asserted that school children in order to reach the LaVale School now have to walk about a mile farther and use the

Martin Chosen Temporary Adjutant; Nominating Group Selected

Sampson Sions, who was wounded while serving in France with the Army in the recent war, was named temporary commander of the new American Legion post being organized in LaVale, at an organization meeting held last night in the LaVale Volunteer Firemen's Hall.

The second temporary officer named was Ralph Martin, who will serve as adjutant until the selection of permanent officers. Martin served with the Marine Corps in World War II.

The 50 veterans attending the meeting were mostly World War II ex-servicemen. The organization selected the temporary name of LaVale Post.

After being named acting commander, Sions selected John Connelly, Edward Wintermyer and Ray Logsdon as a nominating committee to select nominees for permanent officers. Election will be held, and the permanent name of the post chosen, at the next meeting, to be held after November 10.

Samuel A. Graham, district vice commander and former head of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, this city, and Frank Powers, district post inspector, attended the meeting to outline the purposes of the American Legion. Graham stressed the fact that the Legion is gradually turning over the reins to younger men.

Alvin E. Yaste, a member of the organizing committee, said that the post already has 50 paid-up charter members, and that a drive will be held this month for additional charter members, with the total expected to exceed 100. He estimated that there are approximately 300 veterans of both wars who are eligible to join the new LaVale post.

Other members of the organizing committee are Sions and Alvin Youngblood.

State And County Candidates To Be Voted On In Election On November 5

The Cumberland News will, between now and election day, give brief sketches of the various candidates seeking offices in Allegany county and the State of Maryland.

This is another in a series of articles about candidates who are seeking election at the polls Tuesday. Today we will deal with candidates for Congress in the Sixth Maryland District, Attorney General and State Comptroller.

The Republican candidate for Congress, J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg and Cumberland, needs no introduction to the voters of the Sixth district. He has served two terms in Congress and in 1942 and 1944 carried all five counties in the district, Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery, being the only congressional candidate to ever carry all counties in two elections.

Has Important Committees

Beall was born in Frostburg and was educated in the public schools and at Gettysburg College. He served with the army in World War 1. His interest in veterans' affairs is reflected in the legislation he has sponsored and endorsed both as a State Senator and as a member of Congress. He is a member of the House Roads Committee and is a former chairman of the Maryland States Roads Commission where he made an excellent record. He is also a member of the District of Columbia Commttee and the Flood Control Committee of the House.

Arch McDonald, of Montgomery County is the Democratic nominee for Congress. McDonald went to Washington several years ago from Tennessee and moved to Montgomery County in 1942. For Several years McDonald broadcast the Washington Senators baseball games and in 1945 went to New York where he broadcasts the Giants and Yankee games. This year he returned to Washington and resumed his broadcasts of the Washington games. Last spring he entered the Democratic primary for Congress and won the nomination. He recently returned from broadcasting the World Series.

City Police Capture Escaped Convict Here

Rummer was captured yesterday at 9:45 a. m. by Sgt. Raymond R. Johnston and Officer R. C. Cassen.

Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney said a pick up has been on file at police headquarters since May 12 after authorities of the prison reported Rummer had escaped. He added the man did not resist arrest. Police said Rummer formerly lived in the Wiley Ford, W. Va., section.

Walter Johnston Resigns Post As County Auditor

Announces His Intentions Of Going Into Business At Hagerstown

County Auditor Walter A. Johnston, in a letter to the board of county commissioners, submitted his resignation yesterday, effective December 31, "or at any time in the interim the board may elect to accept."

Johnston, former secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce here for many years, has been county auditor since. He is well known in the community and county and has lived here most of his lifetime.

He had told his friends some time ago that he planned to leave Cumberland and move to Hagerstown, where he will engage in business. He said yesterday he will go to Hagerstown as soon as he is released by the county board.

While Johnston's resignation had little bearing on the situation, according to court house attaches, it was rumored in some quarters that he was on the "purge" list for removal from office by the new county board when it assumes its duties after January 1.

Johnston is known to have opposed Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., and William H. Lemmert who were nominated in the Republican primary last June. According to the political gossip in the Republican party, if Wilkinson and Lemmert are elected next Tuesday a number of present job holders are slated to be ousted.

These reports indicate that the tax collector, assistant tax collector, superintendent of county homes, attorney to the board and other employes are also on the "purge" list.

When asked by a reporter about this "purge", Johnston's comment was, "you will remember I told you last spring that this was my last year in the court house. I have made my plans accordingly and am moving to Hagerstown."

After Johnston's resignation was read at yesterday's board meeting, the members of the board voted to accept it as of December 31.

County Price Control Office Is Closed

Joseph E. Mackert, chairman of the Allegany County Rationing Board, announced last night that the board's price control office in the Union Street County building closed yesterday at 5 p. m.

Mackert said the office was closed following a telephone message from Baltimore and added official confirmation of the order would be received later.

Although the office will be officially closed, the five employes of the office will be retained but will receive notice November 12 that their employment with the OPA will cease as of December 12, Mackert said he was advised. Employes will continue to work until that time so that files may be cleared and records placed in shape.

Emmanuel Church Gets $1,000 In Jones Will

The will of Miss Cora L. Jones, of Cumberland, who died October 17, was admitted to probate at yesterday's session of Orphan's Court. Bequests included $1,000 to the vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

A property on South Allegany street was left to a nephew, Albert E. Jones, of Philadelphia, while all her clothing, furniture and personal effects were bequeathed to two nieces, Mildred J. Cannon and Mary Alma Crawford, of Washington, D. C.

The Liberty Trust Company was named executor of the estate, without bond, and instructed to sell a property on Rose Hill avenue and distribute the proceeds between the two nieces, who also receive the remainder of the estate.

Drawn August 29, 1944, the will was witnessed by Virginia M. Read, Thomas L. Keech and Thomas J. McNamee.

County Officials Give Notice Of Teachers' Bonus

Board Agrees To Appropriate $75,000 For $150 Each By January 31

Public notice was given yesterday at the Board of County Commissioners meeting, that $75,000 will be appropriated, beyond the regular 1946 levy, to pay each public school teacher the sum of $150 additional, up to January 31, 1947.

Several weeks ago, it was officially stated the board has authority to make the additional appropriation for increased pay for teachers, and that the funds will be available from unexpected increases in corporation and other taxes, above estimates made when the levy was drawn last April.

A resolution prepared by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., attorney to the board, was presented by Commissioner James Holmes. Commissioner Simeon W. Green, after the resolution was read, made a motion that it be approved. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, and unanimously approved and adopted.

The resolution follows:

"The Board of County Commissioners, having heretofore in accordance with the legal requirements given notice to the public and taxpayers of Allegany county that on Friday, November 1, 1946, at 10 a. m., they would consider the matter of making an additional appropriation of $75,000 beyond the regular levy for the current year for the use of The Allegany Board of Education in the matter of increasing the regular salaries of teachers by the payment of $150 to each teacher now employed by it up to January 31, 1947; AND WHEREAS, after giving an opportunity to all those interested or opposed to the making of such additional appropriation to be heard by the Board of County Commissioners, the said Commissioners now being of the opinion that the public good requires such appropriation, do hereby order that said sum of $75,000, be and the same is hereby appropriated from the funds belonging to Allegany county to the use of The Allegany County Board of Education for the specific purpose of paying additional compensation to the school teachers as set forth in this resolution, and that such sum be forthwith credited to and be subject to the order of said Board of Education."

Another Shelved

Another resolution was presented by Commissioner Wilkinson, calling for a $300 bonus to be paid before the end of the school term, but no action was taken, after a discussion, during which it was cited that the extra $150 would have to be levied next April and placed in the 1947 budget. It was pointed out that the membership of the board may be changed in the election next Tuesday, and present members should not take action which would obligate the new board.

Wilkinson's resolution:

"WHERAS, The Board of County Commissioners, having heretofore heard before it the accredited representatives of the public school teachers of this county, and discussed with them the matter of increasing the pay of each of the

Father Russell To Become Pastor Of Benedict Church

Rev. W. Joyce Russell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church here for the past 10 years, will become pastor of St. Francis deSales Catholic Church, Benedict, Charles county, Md., effective Friday, November 8.

Father Russell will also supervise the work of St. Dominic's mission which is conducted by the parish.

A native of Baltimore, Father Russell was ordained in 1930 and served as assistant pastor of a Washington, D. C., church before coming to this city as assistant pastor of the Oldtown road church.

He has also been spiritual adviser for the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary and of the Boy Scout troop of the parish.

Father Russell has also been in charge of the parish's recreational center, "The Haven", which was established a year ago and has been active in civic affairs here.

His brother, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John D. Russell, D. D., is pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Washington, D. C.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's said last night he has not yet been notified as to Father Russell's successor.

Dr. A. H. Hawkins Says New Birth Of Freedom Is Needed In America

Urges Election Of McKeldin, George C. Doub and J. Glenn Beall

Quoting from Lincoln's Gettysburg address "That this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth," Dr. A. H. Hawkins, prominent Cumberland surgeon, who terms himself a "free lance in matters of politics—an independent voter," in a radio address here, called for the rebirth of our government and urged the election of Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin as governor and his running mates and the re-election of Rep. J. Glenn Beall, to Congress.

"It is my firm conviction that every citizen should have an active interest in government, locally and otherwise—as a matter of fact, I have always been keenly interested in the affairs of my city, my state and my nation. I believe every citizen owes it to his country to vote and to vote only after careful consideration of the qualifications of the man he is helping to place into office," Dr. Hawkins asserted.

Confusion In Government

Dr. Hawkins said the New Deal came into being shortly after the start of the first F. D. Roosevelt administration. It swept across the country like a raging tornado, and having now exploded and disappeared, has left in its wake confusion and devastation among our people and our government.

The Congress, while Democratic, has quarrelled with the President, and the President has quarrelled with Congress. The President's Cabinet has quarrelled with him and he has had to perform the task of cleaning it up. We have the hopeless picture of an administration in power which cannot make up its mind whether to go forward or backward, and in the meantime is standing still. Our National Government is getting nowhere.

"My friends as I see it," Dr Hawkins declared, "unless we

Committee At Midland Gives Itemized Account Of Expenditures

Contributions continue to come in for the "Jones Family Fund" and W. A. Wilson, chairman of the "Jones Family Fund Committee" of Midland reports donations of $46.25 in the past week, bringing the total of the fund to $7,196.41.

The committee in its report to the NEWS on expenditures for the month of October shows that a total of $739.89 has been expended so far on behalf of the Jones family leaving a net balance in the fund as of Nov. 1 of $6,456.52.

Employes of the Celanese Corporation continue to support the fund in a fine way and a donation of $80 was received this week from the employes of Coning and Coning Examination of the plant. James P. Love Post No. 92, The American Legion, Lonaconing, contributed $50; two Cumberland bankers gave $10, a Cumberland friend sent in her weekly pledge of $1 and Alfred Schramm, Barton, gave $5.25.

Expenses Are Explained

In reporting expenses of $739.89 for October, the committee at Midland, composed of Wilson, Mrs. Gertrude Smith and Rev. Raymond Crowe said "your committee realizes that this sum is rather large for one month's expenses but the home was in such a run down condition that we felt the interests of children could best be served by improving living conditions as reasonably as possible. We have endeavored to eliminate all danger of either the children or housekeeper being exposed to the disease."

The large bulk of October's expenses, the committee said, will not be repeat items in the succeeding monthly expenses and "we will be better able to arrive at an accurate budget." The committee reported that it had been necessary to buy mattresses, blankets, sheets, pillow cases and other household furnishings as well as some clothing for Betty Fay, 13, who is a patient in the State Sanitorium at Sabillasville,
